3,000 PROPERTY OWNERS SUE TO BALK '29 TAXES

$400,000,000 Realty Involved.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Nearly 3,000 property owners appealed to the Circuit court yesterday to prevent collection of the 1929 taxes on their 15,000 parcels of real estate, rated at approximately $400,000,000.

They assert in their bill for an injunction against sale of the property to allege that the assessments are "not uniform, are illegal, confiscatory, discriminatory, unconstitutional, void and inordinately excessive."

The plea for the restraining order was prepared by Watkins, Ten Hoor & Elliott, attorneys for the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers, of which all of the complainants are members.

Many Properties Involved.

The lawyers assert that the tax bills of their clients vary from $43 to $320,000 per individual and not only involve properties of the loop and large apartment and vacant property in the outlying areas but also small and frame homes in the outskirts of the city and in the suburbs.

Approximately $121,000,000 of the total county tax levy, totaling $278,000,000, has not been paid. The 3,000 property owners protesting their taxes are among the delinquents.

See Need for Special Session.

Mayor Cermak indicated his belief yesterday that a special session of the legislature will be required to pull the local governments out of their financial difficulties. He does not have much hope of adequate relief from the special session now drawing to a close.

The city, county, schools, and other local governments are unable to borrow money on 1931 tax anticipation warrants. The result is that the city is unable to pay rolls of $1,450,655, accumulated since May 15.

City Controller M. S. Szymczak told the Northwest Side Kiwanis clubs at luncheon yesterday noon that three cuts are "essential to restoration of the city's credit."

Demands Efficient Collection.

"The first is the efficient, certain, and decisive operation of the systems of levying and collecting taxes," he said. "The second is the retirement of the 1928, 1929, and 1930 tax anticipation warrants as soon as possible. This, of course, is dependent upon the first step. The third is the economical operation of our municipal government."

John G. Rees, director of the joint committee on real estate valuations, in a formal statement attacked the action of the Democratic county central committee to indorse the plan for revising the tax assessing machinery, devised by Mayor Cermak and recommended by his advisory commission. He referred to the "political cheer leaders of the present taxing boards," and then continued:

"Political baiting of the banks, either by aldermen or legislators, will not alter the facts. If the school teachers, policemen, firemen, and other public employés are paid with money it will be borrowed from the banks on the 1931 tax warrants. If the schools are opened in September it will be on money borrowed from the banks. Some of the bank baiters are shedding tears over the fact that the 1931 tax warrants are not received as the last word in safe investments.

Tax Loans of $46,000,000.

"The 1929 taxes extended for the general fund of the schools amounted to approximately $54,000,000. At present approximately 15 per cent of this amount has been collected. There are tax loans of $46,000,000 made in anticipation of this tax collection. It will be nothing short of a miracle if $45,000,000 of this tax is collected. That amount will not repay the principal, to say nothing of the years of accumulated interest."

To avoid default in payment of tax warrants from taxes Corporation Counsel Bowler said yesterday that he had sent a bill to Springfield to validate the 1931 tax warrants from any future lowering of the city, as a special law provided with reference to the 1928 and the 1929 tax warrants. The introduction of this bill indicates that in view of the city administration of tax collections, as well as on the question of security for loans.

Favors Personality Tax Bill.

Mr. Rees also said that his first assistant, Leon Hornstein, is preparing a bill to strengthen the personal property tax law. His draft will require the filing of a schedule by the owner of personal property and provide a penalty for failure to file or error in the schedule.

PAIR TAKES OFF IN BALLOON ON NINE MILE CLIMB

Scientists Sealed in Airtight Ball.

BULLETIN.

KEMPTEN, Germany, May 27. (Wednesday.)—(AP)—The balloon in which Dr. August Piccard and Charles Kipper were seeking to penetrate the Stratosphere was sighted on the northwest horizon at 8 a. m. (2 a. m. Chicago daylight time) today, moving southward in the direction of Lake Constance.

BULLETIN.

ISNY, Germany, May 27.—(AP)—Dr. August Piccard's balloon was sighted over this Bavarian frontier town at 9 a. m. (3 a. m. Chicago daylight time). It disappeared soon within the clouds.

AUGSBURG, Germany, May 27 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Bound for the Stratosphere, 50,000 feet above the earth, in spaces never before reached by man, Prof. Auguste Piccard took off at 3:55 a. m. today in an airtight aluminum ball attached to a huge hydrogen balloon. With Prof. Piccard was Charles Kipfer, physicist. The balloon reached an altitude of 9,000 feet within a few minutes.

A previous attempt last September failed because of unfavorable weather conditions, it was said. The balloon did not rise on that occasion.

Weather Is Excellent.

The two scientists appeared at the field this morning after a crew had been filling the balloon's gas bag for several hours. Police trucks rumbled onto the field carrying reserves to hold back the crowd which was expected, but which failed to appear until shortly before the bag was filled. Only a few dozen spectators watched the inflation of the huge balloon.

Prolonged calm weather, of the kind said by Prof. Piccard to be essential for the success of his experiment, prompted the decision to start this morning.

The aluminum ball, which is the vehicle for this voyage of discovery, is seven feet in diameter. The balloon is 100 feet in diameter, with a gas capacity of 500,000 cubic feet, more than six times that of Gordon Bennett's balloon race contender.

Artificial Supply of Oxygen.

Hermetically sealed in this spherical aluminum case, with an artificial supply of oxygen, Prof. Piccard and Kipfer expect to be reasonably comfortable at an altitude which would mean certain death to the ordinary balloonist.

Their primary purpose is not an altitude record, however, but exploration of the stratosphere and particularly to obtain new date on the origin of cosmic rays.

Their venture is also looked upon as interesting because of the possibility that it might demonstrate that human beings can travel at an altitude of 50,000 feet without harm, which would be necessary for the success of the proposed rocket plane.

'BLOND PLUNGER' OF TURF FAME IS OVERCOME BY GAS

Charles R. Ellison, 65 years old, the "blond plunger" of two decades ago, who became a millionaire through horse racing, was reported dying last night, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Larson, 80 years old, was dead as the result of an open gas burner in the Ellison home near Antioch, in Lake county.

Ellison, whose string of race horses were mostly named after Chicago politicians, was best known as the owner of Judge Himes, winner of the Kentucky Derby of 1903. In 1906 racing followers were telling how the "blond plunger" became a millionaire after starting as valet to a jockey. As a youth Ellison was a broker's clerk, but he became valet to Tommy Burns and so learned much about the speed of racing horses.

In recent years he was said to have lost most of his fortune.

His wife, Mrs. Grace Ellison, spent Monday night in Chicago and returned to her home late yesterday afternoon. She found a burner of the gas stove open. Her mother was dead in a bed adjoining the kitchen and her husband was unconscious in a bed upstairs. Ellison was playing solitaire when overcome by the gas fumes.

YACHT MISSING, BODY OF WOMAN FOUND AFLOAT

New York, May 26.—[Special.]—Fears for a yachting party of seven New Yorkers who left City island in the thick weather last Saturday night were increased tonight when James Mendenhall identified the body of his sister, Mrs. Marcia Snedden, 24 years old, in the morgue in Norwalk, Conn.

The body, kept afloat by a life preserver, was found by a fisherman as it drifted toward the beach off Darien, Conn.

Mrs. Snedden was the wife of David Snedden, owner of the yacht Sea Fox and an associate professor of psychology and statistics at the School of Education, New York university. He is among the missing.

The others who are missing are either members of the faculty of various educational institutions in and around the city, or the wives of instructors, with one exception.

It is thought their craft was either blown to sea in the near gale that swept the coast Saturday night, or that the sloop foundered somewhere in the sound.

The missing, all named in a general alarm sent yesterday by the missing persons bureau of the police department, are as follows:

Mrs. Florence Mendenhall, 26, of 308 West 11th street.

Donald Snedden, 23, husband of Marcia, whose body has been identified.

Miss Doris Dewey, 29, psychiatrist, attached to the Girls' Service league.

Robert Johnston, 30, also was reported on board.

DROWNS AS BOAT UPSETS IN PARK YACHT HARBOR

Albert Hultquist, 31 years old, 69 East 79th street, a boat construction expert, was drowned early this morning in the inner yacht harbor at Jackson park. Coast guardsmen dragged the lagoon for several hours without being able to find the body. Hultquist had been at work on the "Rajah," a power launch belonging to Dr. H. A. Hooper, a dentist, 7644 Kingston avenue, and had just rowed Dr. Hooper to the shore. As he returned his boat capsized and he was plunged into the water. Efforts to save him by other workmen were in vain and he sank.

Hawks Does Fast Hops for Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

LONDON, May 27.—(AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks arrived from Le Bourget at Croydon airdrome at 9:27 a. m. [3:27 Chicago daylight time] for breakfast, intending to lunch in Berlin, then return to Paris. He hopped off for Berlin at 10:15 a. m. Hawks said he hoped to be back in Paris by 5 p. m. for dinner.

Women Take Tests as Back Seat Drivers

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

The city of Evanston made progress yesterday in its program of instructing the women folk of the suburb in the theory of driving an automobile.

Little blue quiz books were passed around in the Nichols school to 300 women, who have attended five lectures on theoretical driving. Director Frank Kreml of the bureau of accident prevention, one of the Evanston police department's activities, then made a little talk about how none of them of course would think of talking over the answers to the questions with each other and the more or less mature pupils started in to write their exams.

Director Gets a Surprise.

There were 11 questions, some with a, b, c, d, and e sub items, reminiscent of college days. Director Kreml, when he retired from the examination room, leaving the women chewing their pencils in silence, smiled wickedly, pushed back a lock of hair from his high forehead, and said, "They'll not have an easy time of it."

Later in the day a puzzled look crossed his face as he perused what the women had written.

"Why," he exclaimed, "here's a woman who actually knows that she should report an accident to the police. And here's another who knows a United States mail truck is an emergency vehicle and has the right of way. Splendid! Simply splendid!"

But as he read another paper Mr. Kreml was unable to keep a shadowy expression of pain from his face.

"It isn't the answer—that's perfectly good—it's the spelling. Of course, it won't count against her," he said sadly. "I know the lady and I certainly am surprised."

Plenty of Ignition.

Among a few of the best spelled papers, however, a few unorthodox answers were found. Thus a pretty girl dressed in white sports clothes, who looked to be less than legal driver's age, submitted a long and carefully written paper. Answering the question, "What are the major parts of the ignition system?" she wrote: "Choke, speedometer, heat, oil guage, gas gauge, lights, starter, accelerator, clutch, and brake."

To the question, "Tell what you feel you have gained by attendance in this school," one woman, who apparently does not drive herself, but is helpful with advice, wrote:

"Since I've been going to this school and go out riding it seems that I always feel that I want to drive. I always pass some remark about our laws. Don't do this and you must not do that."

Another woman, in reply to a question as to what were the most important lubrication points in an automobile, wrote, "The piston should be well oiled."

She Has a Chauffeur.

Another turned in a blank quiz book with the written explanation that she had a chauffeur.

To the question as to what she would do if involved in an accident in Evanston, apart from calling aid for the injured, one woman answered: "Would be agreeable to other party."

Another woman summed up her sentiments on the course as a whole as follows: "I really feel that some men might attend a school of this description and at least learn courtesy."

In fact, so many women said in asides to Director Kreml that they wished their husbands could and would take such a course that he may offer one for the husbands of the women, who now know all about theoretical driving.

Those who passed yesterday's finals will get a certificate and will be eligible to actual driving lessons.

Six Robbers Seize a Home; Get $15,000

Six armed men with masks over their faces swept into the home of John Landis, investment broker, at 5533 Hyde Park boulevard, late last night and, after lining up all the members of the family and the servants, escaped with jewelry valued at more than $15,000.

The robbers met Mrs. Landis and her chauffeur, George Jackson, as they were putting the Landis car in the garage adjoining the house. They were admitted by Mr. Landis, who had arrived home a little earlier, when they knocked on the door leading from the garage to the house.

Maids Herded Upstairs.

Next Mr. and Mrs. Landis, Jackson, and two maids were forced to go upstairs. The two children of the Landises, 6 year old Hope and 2 year old Jean, were asleep but were awakened. They were told by Mrs. Landis: "Go back to sleep. Mother's here." Three of the robbers guarded them and the maids while the others searched for loot.

As they left one of the robbers said to Mrs. Landis: "If you ever cause us any trouble we will come back and get the kids."

Robbers Are Courteous.

"They treated us as courteously as possible under the circumstances," said Mr. Landis. "One of the men said they were only acting as robbers because they were hungry."

The home was purchased by Landis two years ago from Charles C. Fitzmorris, former chief of police. When the transfer was made Mr. Landis issued an appeal to bombers not to attack the place again. The house had been bombed while Mr. Fitzmorris occupied it.

WIFE BEATEN; ROBBED.

Three robbers who knew Frank Chraplewicz, a laborer, kept his money in his home at 2844 West 38th street forced their way into the house last night and obtained $800 after beating Mrs. Bernice Chraplewicz on the head with revolvers. She had refused to tell them where the money was hidden, but after she was struck unconscious the husband showed them the hiding place. A daughter, Viola, 20 years old, was present and recognized the leader as "Tod" Garvey, a youth with whom she had been friendly. Police are seeking him. Mrs. Chraplewicz suffered a fractured skull.

FRANK McERLANE MACHINE GUNS' TARGET, REPORT

Frank McErlane, gang chief and head of a booze and beer organization on the south side was the target of rival gangsters armed with machine guns who riddled the home of his brother-in-law, Robert Marvis, 7754 Crandon avenue, early yesterday, according to reports in the neighborhood early this morning. It was said McErlane escaped through a back door as the gangsters' volley struck the house. No report of the shooting was made to the police.

Marvis denied that there had been any such a shooting and declared that McErlane had not been in his house for a week. His version of the affair, which he said occurred four days ago, was that some guests at his home had become hilarious and that when they left they fired several shots, some of the bullets striking the walls of the bungalow. Police who went to the home this morning failed to find any indications of shattered windows, but there were bullet marks on the walls.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OSLO, Norway, May 26. — Capt. Ingebrigtsen landed a $240,000 whale today. When the whale's stomach was cut open, a piece of ambergris weighing 151 pounds was found in it. Today's price for ambergris is about $100 an ounce. Without the ambergris the catch would not be worth more than $2,000.

WINS A LIGHT PENALTY; TRIAL ENDS IN UPROAR

2 of Defense Staff Jailed; 1 Slugged.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Valparaiso, Ind., May 26.—[Special.]—Amid a scene approaching pandemonium a jury brought in a verdict tonight convicting Virgil Kirkland of assault and battery with intent to rape Arlene Draves, the Gary girl for whose death he had previously been found guilty of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. Tonight's verdict carried a penalty of one to ten years in the penitentiary. He will be formally sentenced tomorrow morning.

While the day brought what was regarded as a victory for Kirkland himself, it was a day of misfortunes for his legal and medical staff.

First, his chief counsel, Ronald C. Oldham of Chicago, was arrested in court on a bad check charge the instant the jury had retired to deliberate.

Another Lawyer Punched.

Then, just after the verdict had been announced, another of his lawyers, Oscar B. Thiel of Gary, was slugged in the jaw in the presence of Judge Grant Crumpacker by the father of a state witness, Mrs. Bernice Elser, whose character had been repeatedly attacked by the defense counsel.

And finally, hours after the trial had ended, Dr. Orlando F. Scott of Chicago, who had charge of the medical side of the Kirkland defense, was arrested on the street on a charge of intoxication and thrown into jail for the night.

The new verdict was in sharp contrast with the result of the first trial last February, when a jury sentenced Kirkland to life in the penitentiary. Under tonight's verdict it was thought possible that Kirkland could seek parole within a year.

The verdict was no sooner given than the possibility of a mistrial arose when Bailiff John Hardisty, in charge of the jury room, came to Judge Crumpacker and breathlessly told him that three jurors had repudiated the finding.

Gives the Details.

He said that two, Hugh Morrow of Boone township and Claude Walters of Boone Grove, had told him they had voted in the belief they were sending Kirkland to the death chair. The third juror, Norman Ashton of Libertyville, had informed him that, while he voted for the verdict announced, he thought it carried a much heavier penalty.

Prosecutor Robert C. Estill and his deputy, Edmund Freund, instantly raised the question of a mistrial. Defense Attorney Thiel agreed that if a poll of the jury in open court revealed a difference among them, a mistrial was inevitable. The judge did not commit himself. But the mistrial bugaboo vanished when Mr. Estill, after a search of the Indiana code, discovered a statute specifically stating that a jury cannot impeach its own verdict.

No Chance of Mistrial.

"Apparently that ends it," said Mr. Estill. "The law is specific on the point. The statute was designed to prevent the possibility of a jury returning a verdict, then going forth to be inflamed by the crowd, and returning with changed minds to formulate a new verdict. While I do not believe such a situation occurred in this case, we cannot go against the law."

Moreover, Mr. Estill said, he will probably move to dismiss the indictments against Kirkland's four co-defendants, Paul Barton, Henry Shirk, Leon Stanford, and David Thompson. Barton and Shirk had taken the stand against Kirkland at the second trial.

"I maintained in my argument and I maintain now that any verdict less than death in Kirkland's case constitutes a travesty on justice," the prosecutor declared. "In view of the ridiculous penalty given Kirkland, we might consistently go out now and pin medals on the other four. I mean it—I intend to dismiss them. If Kirkland was guilty only of assault, the other four are absolutely innocent."

Attorney John Crumpacker of the defense staff later said that he had talked with Jurors Marron and Walters, who had informed him that they had been misunderstood by Hardesty, and that they were in agreement with the findings.

How Thiel Got Slugged.

The slugging of Attorney Thiel occurred a moment after the jury had been dismissed. As the judge read the verdict the crowd, which was packed in the courtroom to the window sills, surged forward around the bench.

No one thought of asking a jury poll and the judge discharged them with a word of thanks. At that instant Guy Weaver, father of Mrs. Elser, a state witness whom Mr. Thiel had bitterly assailed in the course of the trial, elbowed his way close to the Gary lawyer.

The lawyer staggered under the blow, Weaver swung again and Thiel sagged to his knees. Women screamed and Thiel shouted for the bailiff. Weaver, now under restraint of his friends, continued his verbal assault, calling Thiel "a yellow dog" and challenging him to come outside and fight.

Lawyer Goes to Law.

Paying no heed to the challenge, the lawyer rushed over to Judge Crumpacker, who was off the bench and standing, a little bewildered, in the doorway leading to an anteroom.

"I won't stand for it," Thiel told the judge. "He socked me right here in the presence of the court. I want him cited for contempt."

By this time Mrs. Elser had calmed her father and led him outside. The judge decided that since he had adjourned court before the assault occurred, there could be no contempt. Thiel, far from mollified, rushed down stairs and wrote out an affidavit charging Weaver with assault and battery.

The lawyer spent the next fifteen minutes rushing about the courtroom, seeking Sheriff Burney Maxwell to have him arrest the belligerent Weaver. The sheriff, at the moment, was having troubles of his own.

Crowd Menaces Kirkland.

With five of his bailiffs he was leading Kirkland into the jail across the courthouse square when an angry crowd of men and women gathered menacingly.

"You rat, you snake," came the cries. "You ought to be going to the chair. You ought to be strung up to a tree."

Meanwhile the youth's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Kirkland, was sobbing her relief and assuring reporters she was happy.

"O, it's nice—it's nice," she beamed amid her tears. "Still, I don't see why they should send him up for a year. That's what the jury gave him, wasn't it?"

For three hours before the verdict came in, Kirkland and his Chicago lawyer, Mr. Oldham, were fellow prisoners in the jail. Sheriff Maxwell had arrested the attorney the moment the jury retired to deliberate. Mr. Oldham was chatting with his wife and Mr. Thiel when the sheriff threaded through the crowd and tapped him on the shoulder.

Oldham Is Prepared.

"I'd like to see you downstairs in my office," said the sheriff. Oldham, apparently aware of the impending arrest, smiled blandly and followed the sheriff.

In the office below, in the presence of Mr. Thiel, the sheriff then served on Mr. Oldham a warrant sworn out a year ago, after a grand jury at Hamilton, O., had returned an indictment charging him with uttering a worthless check for $175. At that time, according to reports about the courtroom, Oldham was operating a roadhouse called the Old Kentuckian at Hamilton.

"I wish you'd waited a bit on this thing, so I could have arranged for bail," Oldham said. "Do me a favor and don't tell the press."

The sheriff agreed, but the word soon spread. Meanwhile, Oldham was being marched across the street to the jail while Thiel went before Circuit Judge B. M. Rockwell, in a courtroom adjoining Judge Crumpacker's, seeking a writ of habeas corpus.

Arrest Delayed Three Weeks.

At the hearing it was brought out that Sheriff George Schumacher of Hamilton had appeared here three weeks ago, seeking to serve the warrant, but had been requested by Judge Crumpacker to withhold it lest the lawyer's arrest bring about a mistrial of the Kirkland case. The Ohio sheriff agreed, but in the interval secured extradition papers from Gov. Harry G. Leslie.

Upon identification of Oldham by Mr. Thiel and another lawyer, Judge Rockwell agreed to issuance of a writ for Oldham's release, fixing bail at $1,500. Oldham was returned to jail while Thiel set out for Gary to procure the required bond.

He returned to Valparaiso with the bond about the time the jury, having deliberated about two hours, were ready to return their verdict.

Dr. Scott's Arrest.

A large crowd saw Dr. Scott taken into custody about 9:30 p. m. in front of a restaurant on the courthouse square, booked for drunkenness and thrown into a cell adjoining Kirkland's in the county jail. He will be arraigned tomorrow morning before City Judge Harold Schenck.

"He was drooping over an automobile, so dizzy he couldn't stand alone," asserted Policeman Edward Crain, who made the arrest. "We had received several complaints about his

TRIAL OF PANTAGES DRAWS CROWD; SEEK TO COMPLETE JURY

San Diego, Cal., May 26.—(AP)—Tedious questioning of prospective jurors occupied the second day of the trial of Alexander Pantages, millionaire showman, and three others on conspiracy and moral charges in the Hollywood "girl market" case.

Seven men and five women were passed by the defense for cause and the prosecution began questioning, with many queries meeting with successful objections.

Deputy District Attorney Gran Muir began with a technical question which defense attorneys said indicated the state assumed that Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine would instruct the jury to disregard evidence that might be presented to discredit Lydia Nitto, 17 year old complaining witness.

The question indicated the prosecution expected the defense to attempt to introduce evidence detrimental to Miss Nitto, one of the two girls Pantages is accused of conspiring with Jesse H. Shreve, San Diego business man, and William Jobelmann and Olive Clark Day, alleged operators of the "girl market," to bring to a hotel party here from Hollywood.

condition. We didn't know who he was and didn't care. We treat everybody alike down here."

Arlene's Father Bitter.

The bitterest expression on the outcome of the trial came from Charles Draves, elderly father of the dead Arlene, who was in court with his three sons, Kenneth, Edward, and Carl. As the jury was dismissed the father approached Kirkland and laid a hand upon his arm.

"You haven't heard the last of us, you dirty cur," the old man muttered.

Kirkland blinked and, at a tug on the manacle which linked him to a deputy's wrist, he stumbled away.

The son, Kenneth, had begun to cry. Mumbling to him, the father led him out of court.

On a tip from the Gary police that Kenneth had purchased a pistol yesterday and brought it to court for use in the event of an acquittal, Sheriff Maxwell quietly searched the young man during the final arguments. He was unarmed.

How the Jurors Voted.

Questioning of the jury foreman, John Bell, revealed that on the first ballot two of the jury stood for death, one for involuntary manslaughter and nine for the verdict later agreed upon, on the second vote, which was put verbally, the jurors reached an agreement.

The verdict was the lightest, save one, of the seven that might have been returned by the jurymen unless Kirkland were acquitted. The only conviction that would have carried a smaller punishment would have been plain assault and battery.

The case was given to the jury at 4:25 p. m. After deliberating briefly the jurymen stopped at 5 o'clock for dinner and spent the next hour and ten minutes at their meal. They reached an agreement at about 7:40 p. m.

Judge Charges Jury.

When the twelve farmers and rural tradesmen retired to their chamber the last words coming to their ears were an admonishment from Judge Grant Crumpacker to consider the case "unmoved by any undue demand for a conviction and unswayed by any appeal to sympathy."

The judicial instruction followed a final appeal of Prosecutor Estill, who unequivocally demanded the electric chair for Kirkland, as provided by the Indiana statute covering the crime of murder by rape.

"Send him to the chair or turn him loose," the prosecutor thundered. "The state of Indiana wants no compromise in this case. Any verdict less than death will be considered a travesty on justice."

Jury Carefully Guarded.

Unlike the first trial, when observers had access to rooms adjoining the jury chamber and thus overheard the progress of deliberations, the jury in the present case was in a room in a wing of the courthouse, secured against eavesdroppers by three locked doors.

The court consumed an hour reading his instructions. Kirkland, who had spent a fifteen minute recess munching a peanut bar in the cloakrooms and watching the pigeons wheeling outside in the May sunshine, appeared bored.

Among the 57 legal principles laid down by Judge Crumpacker was the one that this second jury should give no consideration to the verdict of life imprisonment returned by the jury at the first trial last February.

The court devoted considerable time to explaining the nature of the evidence in a rape case.

"To make out a case of rape," he pointed out, "it is necessary to show beyond a reasonable doubt that there was active opposition or resistance on the part of the woman. She must not merely have expressed verbal opposition, but should have interposed that degree of physical resistance which was consistent with her age and physical strength."

Prosecutor Estill opened the state's last plea with an appeal to the patriotism of the jurymen.

He Lashes Kirkland.

The prosecutor alluded sarcastically to Kirkland as "this fine, moral, upstanding young man who comes into this court clothed in the garments of innocence and whose lawyers would have you regard as crooks and perjurers every witness but himself."

Kirkland took the tongue lashing calmly. Except for a nervous jiggling of his right foot, cocked over his left knee, he gave no sign of nervousness. His face was impassive.

In his final argument for the defense, Attorney Oldham blended flattery of the jury, abuse of state witnesses and sympathy for Kirkland, whom he referred to as "the kid."

Mrs. Bernice Elser he referred to as "that good little girl—who told you she saw Arlene lying naked in the car and brazenly admits that she didn't even close the door."

"Either she is inhuman," the lawyer wound up, "or—as Shirk said—she was dead drunk. Didn't Shirk tell you she had been to two parties before coming to the one Arlene attended?"

NO DRY LAW ON SEADROMES FOR OCEAN AIR ROUTE

Washington, D. C., May 26.—(AP)—A wave-washed resort free from prohibition is scheduled for opening within a year on the decks of the Atlantic, two hours' flying time from the Atlantic coast.

Edward R. Armstrong, president of the Armstrong Development company, announced tonight that "a wet policy" had been determined upon by the backers of eight seadromes proposed as way points on a trans-Atlantic air route proposed eventually to provide a 24 hour passage to Europe for $150. He said the first seadrome would be in operation by May or June, 1932. It will cost $4,000,000.

BARBER JAKE'S 'PROFIT' RAISED TO $6,000,000

British Depositions Read at Hearing Here.

Depositions read before United States Commissioner Walker yesterday by Attorney Franklin Overmyer, representing the British crown, tended to show that John [Jake the Barber] Factor had transferred $6,000,000 from the accounts of his so-called investment companies to his own London bank account during the year 1930.

JAKE FACTOR. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

This sum is alleged by the British government to represent the takings of Factor in a gigantic swindle of English investors. Factor, represented by United States Senator Otis F. Glenn and three other members of the Glenn law firm, is fighting to avoid extradition to England.

Hitherto the sums mentioned as Factor's profits have not exceeded $5,000,000.

Tells Specific Deposits.

Robert Henderson Hamilton, an official of the North of Scotland bank of London, deposed that Factor, using the alias Harry Wise, made specific deposits of Broad Street Press checks for $60,000, $350,000, $1,655,000, and $1,113,500 at various times between January and October last year. It was Hamilton, also, who gave the increased figure on Factor's total takings. He asserted that he had viewed a photograph of Factor and that Wise was the same man who is now under indictment for fraud.

A stenographer, a valet, and a London journalist were among the others whose testimony was read.

According to Jane Crawford Cunningham, the typist, an employée of the Broad Street Press, alleged to have been Factor's publishing house, which issued fake financial newspapers to lure investors, all the sound securities in the treasury of the company were transferred in October last year to the ownership of Samuel Frazier.

Tells of Investigation.

Frazier was just another name of Factor, according to the deposition of Robert James Trivett, the valet. He stated that he had been employed by Arthur J. Klein, one of Factor's alleged associates, who is under arrest in New York, and that while in Klein's sumptuous apartment he met Frazier, his wife, and a child. The guest, he said, chided him for using the name Frazier in addressing him.

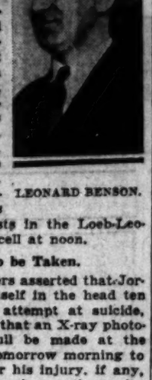
The warrant on which the British crown seeks to extradite the ex-barber charges him with withdrawing large sums from the Broad Street Press, knowing that these funds were fraudulently obtained.

In forwarding the depositions Ambassador Charles G. Dawes validated them by writing that they would support a charge of conspiracy to defraud in Great Britain. Defense counsel declared in behalf of Factor that this discrepancy between the ambassador's message and the actual charges made the requisition for his client's person illegal. The hearings will be continued today.

Jordan to Plead Insanity in Killing of Policeman

Indications were given yesterday that Frank Jordan, bank robber who is on trial for the murder of Policeman Anthony Ruthy, will offer insanity as a defense.



LEONARD BENSON.

His attorney at the morning session in the Criminal court building requested Judge John Prystalski to permit an examination of his sanity, which was granted. Jordan was examined by Dr. Francis Gerty, representing the state, and Dr. Harold S. Hulbert, who was one of the alienists in the Loeb-Leopold trial, in his cell at noon.

X-Ray to be Taken.

When his lawyers asserted that Jordan had shot himself in the head ten years ago in an attempt at suicide, the judge ordered that an X-ray photograph of his skull be made at the county hospital tomorrow morning to determine whether his injury, if any, would have any bearing on the sanity of the killer.

Most of the afternoon was taken up with the direct and cross examination of Leonard Benson, a Burns agency detective who had requested assistance of Patrolman Patrick Durkin in arresting Jordan as a bank robber. Durkin was fatally wounded when Ruthy was slain while they were arresting Jordan in the midst of crowds at Michigan avenue and Randolph street on April 30.

Benson declared that he had in his possession a warrant for the arrest of Jordan when the shooting occurred and that the policemen were well within their legal rights in calling on the bank robber to surrender.

Others Tell of Death.

Other witnesses of the day merely testified to the fact of Ruthy's death and that it was caused by pistol wounds.

Judge Prystalski, maintaining his attitude that the trial must be finished this week, informed the attorneys that night sessions would be held, beginning tonight.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Investigators worked yesterday afternoon and last night trying to arrive at the cause of the fatal crash of the huge Bellanca plane which fell into a field near Wheaton yesterday morning. They were seeking to learn whether structural defects—and just what defects—were responsible for the tragedy which brought death to Shirley J. Short, nationally known pilot, and his three companions.

The crew of the huge twin-motored experimental plane, owned by the Chicago Daily News, were attempting to break a world's record for flying speed with a heavy load.

Vibration May Be Cause.

One theory advanced was that the two propellers, turning in opposite directions, and the unusual arrangement of the two motors made an amount of vibration that may have been sufficient to shake portions of the plane structure apart.

Pilot Short and the designer of the great sesquiplant, Giuseppe Bellanca, had striven for a long time to reduce this vibration. The ill effect of the defect was seen once before when the source of the gasoline tank parted.

The victims, in addition to Short, chief pilot for the Daily News, who was 36 years old and lived at 600 North Ashland avenue, River Forest, were:

Licensed for Long Flights.

The big Bellanca had been licensed by the department of commerce for experimental purposes. The first authorization was for experiment, but nine months ago its rating was changed and the federal experts issued permission for its owners to use it on long flights and for virtually any purposes other than to carry mail or passengers for hire.

Charles H. Dennis, editor of the Daily News, said that Pilot Short and his companions had been regarded in the News organization as the most important men in the United States to undertake the difficult feats involved in the flying of so large and new a craft.

"We still think they were the most important," Mr. Dennis added. "I can only say that we are very sorry for them. We have had many expressions of sympathy and affection for Shirley Short and his aids. He could not have been more highly regarded. We are grateful for all the messages that have reached us."

Plunges Into the Ground.

In diving the plane buried its two motors six feet into the earth in the farm of A. T. Cole, near Gary and North avenues, two miles north of Wheaton. Indications were that it dive began at a height of about 20 feet.

Bits of wreckage were found over a wide area. A wing section, which seemed to offer a definite clew to the cause of the accident, was found a half mile from the spot where the main wreckage finally came to rest. Investigators found it to be a tip of the left top wing.

Fragments of the ship's great, broad wings also were found more than a quarter of a mile away, which led to the belief that the tail had first disintegrated, due to a structural weakness in the intervals braces which supported it.

Other bits found in the debris bore out testimony of a last minute struggle in the plane's cabin before its crash. A piece of the cabin door, which had apparently been kicked out, was found several yards away and witnesses who carried Gormley from the cabin said he had pulled the rip cord on his parachute, indicating he planned to jump.

Take Off on 10 Hour Flight.

Pilot Short and his crew took off from Curtiss airport, west of Glenview, at 9:14 o'clock yesterday morning on a projected ten hour flight over a 100 mile course lying between two points announced by the National Aeronautic association, one near Chicago and the other at Serena, which is in La Salle county and about 80 miles southwest of Chicago.

The built of the heavy load carried for the attempt at the record comprised 5,000 pounds of gasoline, 4,400 pounds of lead and the weight of the five passengers. The plane was originally built to carry a load of 14,000 pounds. Subsequently the horsepower of the motors was increased, and with this greater power the ship recently lifted 18,000 pounds into the air.

A section of the fence around Curtiss airport had been taken down to permit an extra long run for the heavy ship.

The crash occurred at 11 o'clock on the second trip over the course. Farmers had heard the roar of the plane flying low over the countryside, either to avoid adverse winds or to get under a morning haze which hung over the western suburbs.

Witnesses Describe Crash.

Witnesses reported that the big ship appeared suddenly to fall off into a side slip or into a spin at an altitude of 300 feet.

"It looped over two or three times and then went into a spin and crashed," said Sherman Leseth, a Chicago insurance man, who was driving near-by. "When it hit the ground it bounded several times and parts of it flew into the air."

A. W. Fieley, 7600 Greenview avenue, Chicago, and E. P. Bellick, 857 Hillside avenue, Glen Ellyn, other motorists, declared that they heard a cracking sound before the ship descended and immediately afterward a wing appeared to tear away.

This was borne out in the story of another witness, William Kuhns, a musician, living at 1239 North Austin boulevard, who said that the wing cracked, the plane made several wide circles and fell nose downward.

Three of the crew were killed outright. Gormley was taken to the Elmhurst hospital where he died.

Later in the afternoon, after George W. Vest, supervising inspector for the department of commerce, had inspected the wreckage, Coroner P. A. Isherwood of Du Page county ordered the plane to be burned. An attempt to move the wreckage had failed. Hundreds of curious persons milled about the scene throughout the day, carrying away much of the wreckage for souvenirs.

Workers last night extricated the dash board and found that the switch was turned full on. It was pointed out that although the pilot may have cut his motors to prevent an explosion, the switch may have been wrenched into its present position by the force of the crash.

Inquest to Be Held Today.

Coroner Isherwood will hold an inquest into the four deaths at Wheaton at 10 o'clock this morning when a further effort will be made to determine the cause of the accident. Inspector West yesterday refused to disclose what he found in his inspection.

The plane was a Bellanca sesquiplane of unique design and the only one of its type ever built. Bellanca sought in his construction of this ship to develop a plane with great speed capable of a wide cruising radius. Another aim was to build a multi motored plane with the same efficiency as a single motored ship.

To accomplish this the plane's motors were arranged in tandem, one behind the other in the nose of the fuselage. The first motor drove the nose propeller and the second, by means of a long connecting rod through the cabin to the rear, drove the second propeller. The wing span was 87 feet and the large tail surfaces were supported far to the rear by a series of long spars.

In reality the plane was a flying gasoline tank. It had a cruising speed of approximately 120 miles an hour and a reputed radius of 6,000 miles.

From its first test flight, the plane had been dogged by misfortune. The greatest difficulty encountered was the heating of the second motor and in an effort to solve this problem the whole power plant was changed from air cooled engines to two Curtiss Conqueror water cooled motors. Forced landings and minor difficulties, however, were regularly encountered.

It is reported that more than $120,000 was expended in an effort to perfect the plane, so that a long non-stop flight might be attempted. At one time the plane was prepared for a hop from Chicago to Tokio. At another a flight around the circumference of the United States was projected.

Short Noted for Safe Flying.

During the experimental period Pilot Short worked with unceasing enthusiasm to eliminate the "bugs" which seemed to reappear when perfection had been reached.

Short held a high record for efficiency and caution among American pilots. Early in his career he served as an air mail pilot between Chicago and Cleveland during the pioneering stages of mail flying.

For his record on that line he was awarded the Harmon International trophy for safe flying, receiving that honor from the hands of President Coolidge in 1926. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and the late Ben Eielsen were other recipients of the Harmon trophy.

Peck, the co-pilot, took his first flying lessons from Short at the old Checkerboard field in the early days of Chicago aviation. In 1925 he served as pilot for an expedition sponsored by the Smithsonian institute into New Guinea where Peck flew his plane to regions never before visited by white men.

FRIEDA HEMPEL, NOTED OPERA STAR, FIGHTS $50,000 LAWSUIT

New York, May 26.—(AP)—Frieda Hempel, operatic soprano, was in Supreme court today to defend herself in a $50,000 suit brought by Johannes Adler, Berlin voice teacher. He charges she failed to make good on a contract she made with him in March, 1928, after her voice had "broken" in the fall of 1927.

Adler charges Miss Hempel contracted to bring him to New York, promising him from one-quarter to one-half more income than he earned in Berlin. She also promised, he said, to send him pupils, but didn't. Miss Hempel denies that any contract ever existed.

The suit, which was to have gone on trial today, was adjourned until tomorrow morning.

WOMAN HELD IN 4 POISON DEATHS; QUIZ PHYSICIANS

Questioned on Symptoms of the Victims.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

At an inquest in the county building yesterday morning a coroner's chemist presented evidence on which Mrs. Margaret Summers, 45 year old housewife of 632 West North avenue, last night was locked in a cell in the county jail on charges of having murdered four men with arsenic for their life insurance.

After the coroner's jury returned its verdict holding Mrs. Summers to the grand jury assistant prosecutors questioned three physicians on the illness of the four victims alleged to have been killed by poison. One of the physicians, Dr. A. A. Hecht of 458 West North avenue, admitted that he had written a prescription for one of the victims which by mistake had included arsenic in the formula. But, owing to the vigilance of a pharmacist, he added, the prescription never was filled.

List of Alleged Victims.

The four men whose deaths are charged to Mrs. Summers were:

Thomas Meyers, 17 year old nephew of Mrs. Summers, whose death on May 14 started the investigation.

Thomas Lanagan, 46 years old, a peddler, who roomed in the Summers home, died July 13, 1930.

William Reenan, 49 years old, also a peddler and a Summers roomer, known as "Wild Bill," died May 23, 1928.

Dr. Clarence Muehlberger, coroner's chemist, testified that analyses showed arsenic in the viscera of each.

All of the four had stayed at the Summers home and had carried life insurance policies payable to the widow, on which she had made most of the payments. Somewhat balancing this evidence was the discovery last night that she had also carried insurance for a number of years on an adopted daughter, Mrs. Victor Ritti, and the latter's three children.

The results of a chemical analysis of a fifth body which has been exhumed—that of Mrs. Summers' brother, Louis Meyers, father of Thomas—will be disclosed today, it was indicated yesterday.

Dr. Hecht cared for Thomas Meyers, who died at the county hospital. Other physicians questioned yesterday were Dr. Robert Lands, 443 West Division street, who was called to attend to Summers before his death, and Dr. James Nelson of 309 West Division street, who made one call on Lanagan three days before he died.

Dr. Nelson stated that he had hesitated to sign the death certificate, but did so because he was certain the man had been dangerously ill with myocarditis when he had observed him three days previously.

Coroner Conducts Inquest.

Coroner Herman N. Bundesen conducted the inquest in room 707 of the county building. Mrs. Summers, stout, short, and garbed in black with the exception of white hose, was advised by him of her constitutional rights, but asserted she wished to testify, regardless of the fact that whatever she said might be later used against her. Most of the time she appeared to be weeping, holding a handkerchief before her face, but when she removed it no traces of tears were apparent.

Steadfastly she declared her innocence, denying the blame for the deaths. Neither would she admit that she had any knowledge of the arsenic, or how it chanced to be in the bodies of the four who had died at her home or after having lived there.

Q.—Did you make an analysis of the organs of Thomas Meyers? A.—I did.

Q.—What was disclosed? A.—In the chemical analysis, arsenic.

Q.—What was the cause of death, in your opinion? A.—The chemical analysis indicated death by chronic arsenic poisoning.

Q.—Did you examine the hair and fingernails? A.—I did, I found arsenic.

Q.—What did that indicate? A.—It indicated that the poisoning was chronic rather than acute.

Widow Takes Stand.

This testimony was repeated in the case of Summers and Reenan. In that of Lanagan acute poisoning was designated as the cause of death. Mrs. Summers was then called to the stand.

"I've told everything I know," she protested in a shaking voice.

Asked in turn about the deaths, she informed the officials that she understood that the Meyers boy died of a septic sore throat and spinal meningitis; that her husband's death was caused by heart trouble, aggravated by moonshine he consumed; that Reenan had "just said he had a cold," and that Lanagan had stomach ulcers.

Before the jury retired Dr. Bundesen inquired whether she had anything further to add.

"That's all I can say," was her answer. "I don't know how they got it in their heads."

Prosecutor Is Puzzled.

Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks, who participated in the examination of the witnesses, declared himself baffled by the behavior of the accused woman.

"If I knew more of psychology," he said, "I might come to the conclusion that she is a killer type who likes to see people die."

Another version of the fatal illness of Thomas Summers was given by Mrs. Mathilda Kuhn, 45 years old, of 1643 Sedgwick street. She told of having encountered Mrs. Summers recently at West North avenue and Sedgwick, and testified that Mrs. Summers had informed her she had poisoned her husband because she had found him guilty of misconduct with Anna Kuhn, the witness' 22 year old daughter.

$1,000,000 LIQUOR RING ROUNDUP; 20 ARE ARRESTED

Kansas City, Mo., May 26.—(AP)—Prohibition agents arrested twenty men tonight and said they expected to take at least that many more tomorrow in what they described as a roundup of a million dollar wholesale liquor ring having retail outlets in seven or more states.

The roundup followed 18 months of investigation by special agents working under direction of H. L. Duncan.

AMERICAN ENGINEER NAMED CONSTRUCTION ADVISOR BY RUSSIA

(Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.)

MOSCOW, May 6.—John Calder, American construction engineer, who supervised the building of the Stalingrad tractor plant, which was finished several months before schedule, and who was recently employed on the construction of the Chaliabinsk tractor plant, has been appointed adviser to "Soyousstroy," the soviet central department handling all new construction work. Its Russian chief is Ivanoff, who directed the Stalingrad construction with Calder.

Calder's appointment is important because hitherto Soyousstroy has been in the habit of changing its mind about once every week because the Russian engineers are jealous of one another or trying actively or passively to retard development. Backed by Ivanoff, Calder is now in a position to break down the barriers of jealousy and sabotage.

WAGE REDUCTION PROPOSED TO AID BUILDING IN CITY

Employers and Union Men Will Confer Today.

A conference between employers and labor leaders of the construction industry in Chicago, for consideration of proposals to reduce wages temporarily as a means of increasing local building construction, has been called for 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Hotel La Salle.

E. M. Craig, executive secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association, aided by Oscar W. Rosenthal, president of the Builders' association, will present the proposals to representatives of the Chicago Building Trades council, a labor organization embracing practically all of the allied building trades. Patrick Sheridan, president of the trades group, will attend the meeting.

Leaders Decline Comment.

Tentative plans for a temporary wage reduction have been under discussion for several weeks and both labor leaders and contractors have been sounded by employers on their attitudes. Representatives of both groups yesterday refused to discuss the negotiations until after today's meeting.

It is the belief of the construction employers that a temporary reduction in labor costs, together with the present low prices in building materials, would do much to assist a resumption of Chicago building. Representative contractors pointed out that for some months local construction has almost ceased.

One of the results of decreased costs, they asserted, would be the construction of small buildings and homes. Many prospective home owners now consider it preferable to pay rent than to incur the cost of building, according to contractors.

More Work in Prospect.

The employers' association pointed out that a reduction in wages, leading to increased employment, should be preferable from the labor standpoint than the retention of present high wages with little or no employment.

It is expected that at today's meeting proposals will be made concerning a reduction percentage, the duration of the "adjustment," and the lines it will effect.

"There is nothing definite accomplished yet," Mr. Craig said. "The entire plan is in the formative stages. We expect helpful suggestions from the labor men as well as the employers."

Labor leaders were noncommittal regarding the proposal.

"We have nothing as yet on which to form an opinion," said James Conroy, secretary of the building trades council. "We are trying to find some way in which the construction industry, both from the employer's and the employe's standpoint, may be improved. It is possible that this meeting will result in a helpful program."

Election to Fill Supreme Court Vacancy on Aug. 31

Springfield, Ill., May 26.—[Special.]—Gov. Emmerson today set Aug. 31 as the date of the special supreme court election to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Justice Farmer of the 2d district. The retiring jurist, who lives at Vandalia, has announced that he will leave the bench on July 1.

Lewis Proposes U.S. Loans to Tide Cities Over Crises

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A radical change in the fiscal policy of the United States government in order to provide vast loans to states, counties, and cities when they are caught in an financial predicament such as Chicago is in at present was proposed by Senator James Hamilton Lewis at the annual convention of the Illinois Bankers' a Bankers' association, which opened at the Edgewater Beach hotel yesterday.

Senator Lewis went back to the action of the Hebrews in lending money to the various tribes and to the policy of Rome and Egypt for precedents in such a procedure.

In prefacing his remarks, Senator Lewis called attention to the recent impeachment of big financiers by Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago, to whom the senator referred as "a coming secretary of the treasury."

The Chicago Situation.

"I have one specific program to tender," said Senator Lewis. "I call upon you to note that the city of Chicago confesses through the treasurer and its mayor that the united debts of the city and county exceed three hundred million dollars.

"To this is added the statement that there are no securities of the city which can be taken by the bankers as collateral for further loans, and, as to the county, there is no security which it can issue in its present state that affords background to justify loans by bankers.

"I advise you that there are eleven cities in the state that are in similar embarrassment, and thousands of others throughout the nation.

"Can you not see that such a situation, repeated, will force the citizen to conclude that either the power in finance, with its multiplied millions in the vaults, will do nothing to help the communities or that we are without power or wisdom to protect the community and save the citizen? This means revenge in the mind, or anarchy in the heart, of the citizen.

Cites Other U. S. Services.

"Today, our government provides for the states, internal improvements on rivers, harbors, roads, farms, schools, science, medicine and bureaus of employment.

"We ask, why should there not be equally the interchange in finance and banking of the federal government and the local governments?

"I therefore recommend that we should now devise a system, issuing from the national banking federal reserve act of our government, to provide that where the credit in actual and potential assets exists for taxing purposes, or where the community possesses real estate as sufficient, the United States shall extend credit and loans of money to towns, cities, and states, upon such conditions as the government of the United States and the lesser governments in these states shall provide.

Proposes Federal Advances.

"I propose that we now face our situation and provide that the federal government be authorized to advance from its national treasury for the use of local communities such funds to be transmitted to the state financial institutions on such conditions as would be accepted by any commercial enterprise.

"Let the compensation, in the nature of interest, premium, or discount rate, be paid to local institutions for management and for acting as agent in the premises as government and the institutions agree.

"This method, I urge, is now justified by the conditions of the changing times. It in no wise intrudes the federal government upon the local institutions in the form of governmental dominion or control, but establishes the credit needs of the lesser communities. Thus their citizens can feel that the refuge is always before them in the event of an emergency."

Places Some Blame on Bankers.

W. R. McGaughey of Decatur, president of the association, in his annual address discussed the business outlook. He said that bankers must assume some of the blame for present conditions and should now help to remedy the situation.

"I believe that the time has come for us to face the facts and become reconciled to the new values and the new levels which are with us today," he said.

"Commodity prices have declined roughly 20 to 25 per cent in the last year. Real estate values have dropped materially. We have heard much talk about the question of wage levels. Some people argue that there should be no reduction in salaries and wages; that the way to restore prosperity is to keep wages up so that the consumers will have money for the purchase of goods.

"I question seriously whether we can expect the declining prices in commodities, rents and real estate without the concurrent reduction in wage levels.

Hits at Tax "Hysteria."

"The concern about taxes in some sections has almost reached the stage of hysteria, but if we stop to analyze our tax bills, we will find that most of the taxes imposed have been created to provide some conveniences which we thought were absolutely necessary. It is simply a case of having danced and we must pay the fiddler.

"We as citizens have been responsible for much of the so-called burden of taxation, and we cannot now blame our governmental bodies if the tax requirements are in excess of their former totals.

"If we are seeking an immediate cure for our troubles, I believe that we are chasing the will o' the wisp. Following any serious illness it takes a long time to regain strength.

"We should therefore make up our minds that certain things are here to stay for some time, and the sooner we put ourselves squarely in front of the situation with our eyes open, and reconcile ourselves to the new basis of values, the sooner will we be on the road to normal business again.

"We must return to the fundamental conclusion that there is no easy way to make money. There is no Santa Claus. There is no pot of gold at the end of the rainbow."

3,000 PROPERTY OWNERS SUE TO BALK 1929 TAXES

$400,000,000 in Realty Is Represented.

ers, in their pleas for an injunction to prevent collection of their 1929 taxes, charge that personal property in Cook county totals thirty billion dollars, while real estate represents only ten billions. Yet, they assert, real estate pays 33⅓ per cent of the taxes.

It is charged that the board of assessors, the board of review, and the state tax commission have for years ignored the requirements of the state constitution on taxation. In effect the bill for an injunction charges a conspiracy by the taxing bodies to produce a fraudulent assessment by permitting personal property to escape taxation and then heaping the burden of taxes on real estate.

Property owners charge that the assessors' assessment of $751,659,835 on personal property for 1929, and its subsequent reduction to $675,907,085 by the board of review, gave a "wholly unfair, illegal and inadequate assessment of personal property."

Unfair Assessment Charged.

It is charged that the assessing bodies "knowingly omitted personal property from assessment or placed it on the books at far below its true value."

The bill for an injunction alleges that "the said taxing bodies acted in collusion and intentionally placed upon real estate of complainants and other owners an assessment and tax burden for 1929 greatly in excess of the uniform and legal assessment and tax burden guaranteed by the constitution and the aforesaid statutes."

James E. Bistor	Hotel Brevoort
Jacob Kesner	Chicago Pottery Co.
Wm. Nelson Pelouse	City Hall Square Corp.
Peter C. Clemensen	Edgewater Coal Co.
Ferguson Coal Co.	Fischer Furniture Co.

Harris Bros. Co.	Holland Coal Co.
George F. Keseley	Independent Order of Foresters

Fred M. Robinson Coal Co.	Public Life Insurance Co. of Chicago
Simplex Steel Products Co.	Schmidt Bros. Construction Co.

	Ed J. Birk and Wm. J. Birk Realty Trust

The lawyers for the property owners expect to obtain a temporary injunction tomorrow restraining County Treasurer McDonough from selling any of the property of the 3,000 owners in a tax sale.

The bill charges violation of the constitution of the United States by the local assessing boards.

"We are obligated to take this case to the United States Supreme court, if necessary," explained Attorney Perry J. Ten Hoor. "We have been studying the law for months and are confident that our legal contentions are correct.

"We believe we can show that with a fair assessment of the taxable property of Cook county the tax rate would be reduced to seven-tenths of one per cent of the value of the property, which means that real estate, generally speaking, is now assessed at three times as much as it should be."

The complaint contains the legal description of the property of all protestors, the valuation placed upon it by the assessing boards, and the 1929 taxes assessed against each property.

House Committee Indorses Women's Eight Hour Bill

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 26.—[Special.]—Two important labor measures went forward in the house of representatives today. The women's eight hour bill came out of the industrial affairs committee with a favorable recommendation and amendments attached to the prevailing rate of wage bill in the senate were approved in the house. The latter legislation now goes to Gov. Emmerson.

REPRESENTATIVE TRUMAN A. SNELL.

All of the measures is an important plank in the labor program up for passage this session. The woman's bill was the object of two hours of ardent speechmaking before the committee, representatives of different branches of industry making please against it. Its only proponent to be heard was Miss Mary V. Halas of the Illinois Women's Trade Union league, who, with Mis Agnes Nestor of Chicago, has taken a principal part in pushing it. The committee vote was 22 to 9.

Representative Truman A. Snell, [Dem., Carlinville] is the sponsor of the wage bill. It provides that in every contract executed on behalf of the state or any of its political subdivisions, laborers and mechanics must be paid a wage not less than prevailing in the vicinity for the same type of work.

Amend City Street Bills.

Other action in the house included concurrence in the senate amendments to the much criticized house bills 269 and 270 which gave the state the right to construct, maintain and control state roads in cities.

Chicagoans, led by Representative M. L. Igoe, the Democratic minority leader, have opposed them from the beginning, holding that such arbitrary control constituted an invasion of municipal rights.

Today the house was notified that the senate had amended the bills to prevent the usage of roads under which Chicago might wish to build subways and to prohibit the state from controlling traffic on boulevards in parks.

Today Mr. Igoe informed the Chicago bloc, that even in their new form the bills "are still as objectionable as ever." The vote, however, was 88-18 and the bills go to Governor Emmerson's desk. Inasmuch as this was the administration program, there is little doubt that he will sign them, despite Chicago's objections.

Legion Gets World's Fair Fund.

Late in the afternoon, the house also passed Representative Joseph L. Rategan's bill to appropriate $50,000 from the state, county fair and agricultural extension club premium fund to the American Legion 1933 corporation of Chicago to aid in paying the expenses of holding the national Legion convention there in 1933 during the World's Fair.

STIMSON SPLITS SOCIAL DUTIES AND DIPLOMACY

Special Aid to Entertain Foreign Visitors.

Washington, D. C., May 26.—[Special.]—The official social mentor and official dictator of the American government is to be reorganized. The bureau of the state department which is a combination of Harry Lehr and Ward McAllister, which tells its social man to escort the visiting foreigners and native notables, which decides who should precede whom at dinners and receptions, and which rules on frock coats or dinner jackets or full evening clothes for those at functions, is to divide its labors.

Bears Alarming Title.

The organization bears the somewhat astounding title of "The division of international conferences and protocol of the department of state," and its duties are exacting and onerous. The congressional directory says of its duties:

"Supervision of and action on all matters involving questions of ceremonials. Preparation for presentation of ambassadors and ministers to the President. Matters pertaining to international conferences. Preparation of lists for the diplomatic list. Custody of medals and decorations conferred by foreign governments upon military, naval, or civilian officers of the United States. Arrangements for visits of royalty and distinguished foreigners and of foreign naval vessels and aircraft to the United States. Preparation for functions at the White House in so far as questions of ceremonial and precedence are involved. Arrangements for customs courtesies and free entry for foreign diplomats."

Never Stumped but Once.

Never but once has the division been stumped. That was when the state department was called on to decide if Dolly Gann should precede or follow Mrs. Nicholas Longworth at state affairs. It gave no decision.

Now the division wants to be guided. It wants one set of young men to decide on strictly state department affairs, to meet and direct diplomats and potentates, and another set of young men who will wait with their coats and canes and their stovepipe hats all ready to be grabbed up at the first hints of a social emergency.

One shall devote itself to the serious duties of life with an eye to eventual diplomatic posts abroad; the other shall devote itself to social chit chat, to garden parties and debutants, to parties and houttonnaires. The latter must be able to balance a cup of tea, two lettuce sandwiches, and a glass of sake on one knee and keep up a witty conversation at the same time.

Secretary Stimson has approved the separation. The sentiment in favor of such a divorcement reached, perhaps, its peak during the recent visit of the king and queen of Siam. It was not the fact that the state department had to pay for special trains, or for food and flowers for the royal visitors' nurture and delectation that irritated more than one American and made him grumblingly vocal.

Cause of Annoyance.

What annoyed was to see good looking state department attachés, who may some day be called to go abroad and hold up the American end in an international deal, required to doll themselves up in morning coats and hold wraps, dash about with misplaced traveling kits, decide just where the cars of visiting dignitaries should be parked, like so many footmen.

The sturdier members of the state department want to shed these duties completely.

There is one threatened hitch in the program. Because the founding fathers wrote that way in the constitution it is the sometimes distasteful job of the gentlemen of the state department to trek up to the capitol and ask the boys on the house appropriations committee for the money to keep going.

There is in the back of the state department boys' heads a lurking fear of what reply their requests may bring. They suspect some rough and ready tobacco eating member of the house may hike up his suspenders, adjust his sox and congress gaiters and begin to talk for the benefit of the people back home.

STATES AT "WAR"; DRIVERS OF 60 TRUCKS SEIZED

South Beloit, Ill., May 26.—(AP)—Sixty Wisconsin truck drivers tonight were "hostages" of an informal "war" between Illinois and Wisconsin.

They were arrested here, just across the Wisconsin-Illinois border, by two inspectors from the office of the Illinois secretary of state. They are charged with having no Illinois commercial licenses for their trucks.

All day the inspectors stopped Wisconsin trucks crossing into Illinois, while two Beloit policemen over the Wisconsin side of the line warned the drivers to stay on the "home" side. Some did. Others didn't. They were told they would either have to buy Illinois commercial licenses or post $25 bonds.

No announcement was made as to the reason for the "war," but Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin has under consideration a bill, passed by the state house and senate, which would force trucks from other states to buy Wisconsin commercial licenses when visiting that state.

For many years trucks merely visiting Illinois or Wisconsin have not been required to obtain licenses.

POLICE TAKE CENSUS OF 150,000 VEHICLES IN AND OUT OF LOOP

Leslie J. Sorenson, chief traffic engineer for the city, announced that the final count of the number of vehicles entering the central business section between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. yesterday would approach 150,000. All day the twenty-seven entrances and exits to the heart of the city were watched by 160 policemen, who handed tickets to incoming motorists and gathered up tickets from those going out. The time of entering and leaving the loop district was recorded in the tickets in every case.

The official count for 1929 showed that 133,629 vehicles entered this territory, which is south of the main branch of the river, east of the south branch, and north of Harrison street.

According to Mr. Sorenson, the largest number of policemen stationed at any one point were assigned to the Michigan Link bridge near the the Boulevard Link bridge near the duty.

How social leaders keep silks and linens looking fresh as new

—by laundering them only in the suds of these pure white flakes

Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks —daughter-in-law of the late Vice-President Fairbanks, member of a prominent Chicago family, wife of the publisher of the Minneapolis News, and social leader of two continents. With several British homes and a costly Parisian wardrobe to care for, she says "American Family Flakes is the greatest work and worry saver we have ever found, for every cleaning purpose. And a marvelous economy in the longer life it gives to clothes."

BRIGHTLY colored silks, delicate lace tablecloths of priceless value, gorgeous damask draperies and filmy négligés that one harsh laundering might ruin—even Parisian frocks that other women would not dream of laundering—these women of wealth do not fear to launder repeatedly in the pure double-suds of American Family Flakes.

For they know, from years of experience in caring for costly and irreplaceable fabrics, that only this pure soap releases all the dingy dust and dirt—then rinses out like a flash, without ever weakening a gossamer fibre or dimming a delicate tint.

This double-suds purity not only gives you months and years of longer wear from silks and woolens, shirts, children's clothes, sheets, silk stockings, everything—but it also gives you double cleansing power. It saves hard rubbing, lightens dishwashing, makes glassware sparkle and gleam, because it's as pure as pure can be!

Frankly, it does not pay to risk your expensive laundry, the beauty of your hands and clothes in any but this purest and most economical of soaps. Choose it for safety's sake—as do four out of five of Chicago's Gold Coast women. Then use it for economy's sake and save time, work and worry, all through your household!

Mrs. Mitchell Young —daughter of ex-Senator John L. Mitchell of Wisconsin . . . distinguished society and sports woman. Her home is in Milwaukee, but she is always on the wing. How, then, can she keep her smart French frocks and dainty silken things looking always so fresh and new? "By tucking American Family Flakes into every trunk; by permitting no other soap to touch them," explains Mrs. Young.

Mrs. William M. Wurzburg whose husband is head of Grand Rapids' leading department store . . . who, between travels, helped the local Needlework Guild of America to its trump year and furnished her new Cape Cod Colonial home, one of the city's beauty spots. "American Family Flakes is one soap I can depend on to cleanse my finest linens with absolute safety," says this expert in the care of fine fabrics.

Bar soap efficiency

When it's bar soap you need—for rubbing right on the extra soiled spots, then nothing takes the place of American Family Soap. Gives double-suds safety for your hands and washable things . . . double-suds speed, and relief from hard rubbing, scrubbing. Remember—it's cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes!

Free: for a limited time only, a coupon entitling you to one 10-cent package of American Family Flakes with the purchase of three cakes of American Family Soap. Address The Procter & Gamble Co., Dept. B, P.O. Box 1801, Cincinnati, Ohio

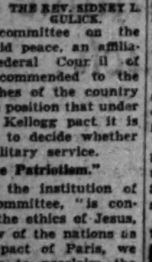
SUPREME COURT DASHES PULPIT PACIFIST HOPES

Macintosh Decision Is a Body Blow.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 26.—[Special.] — The Supreme court decision yesterday upholding the denial of naturalization to aliens refusing to pledge themselves to take up arms in defense of the United States constitutes a solar plexus blow to the church pacifists who are promoting a movement to encourage widespread resistance to military service in time of war on the ground of conscientious objection.



THE REV. SIDNEY L. GULICK.

The national committee on the churches and world peace, an affiliation of the Federal Council of Churches, has recommended to the Evangelical churches of the country the adoption of the position that under the terms of the Kellogg pact it is for the individual to decide whether he will render military service.

Defines "True Patriotism."

"Believing that the institution of war," says the committee, "is contrary not only to the ethics of Jesus, but also to the law of the nations as expressed in the pact of Paris, we urge the churches to proclaim the conviction that good citizenship and true patriotism must henceforth be manifested in individual conduct that shall be in harmony with this pledged word of the nations."

Asked if this paragraph means that the individual would be justified in resisting conscription on the ground that his country had violated the Kellogg pact renouncing war, the Rev. Sidney L. Gulick of the Federal Council of Churches, who is secretary of the national committee on the churches and world peace, said:

"The paragraph seems to me to mean that the churches should proclaim the conviction that, if the government has violated the pact and has embarked on a war for the achievement of some national policy other than self-defense, the individual is to determine his conduct in the light of this fact.

Conscience True Guide.

"This, no doubt, suggests resistance to conscription, but the paragraph does not say so explicitly. In any case the citizen's conduct under the circumstances is to be guided by his conscience, informed by knowledge and enlightened and guided by the ethics of Jesus. The paragraph implies that a man should obey God rather than man."

The Supreme court decision leaves the authors of this theory no leg to stand on.

"Whether any citizen shall be exempt from serving in the armed forces of the nation in time of war is dependent upon the will of congress and not upon the scruples of the individual, except as congress provides," says the decision.

Dr. Gulick's theory of the latitude of individual determination of duty is that of the respondent in the case, Dr. D. C. Macintosh, who, the court said, "is unwilling to leave the question of his future military service to the wisdom of congress, where it belongs and where every native born or admitted citizen is obliged to leave it.

Will Use Own Judgment.

"In effect, he offers to take the oath of allegiance only with the qualification that the question whether the war is necessary or morally justified must, so far as his support is concerned, be conclusively determined by reference to his opinion.

"When he speaks of putting his allegiance to the will of God above his allegiance to the government, it is evident, in the light of his entire statement, that he means to make his own interpretation of the will of God the decisive test which shall conclude the government and stay its hand.

"We are a Christian people, according to one another the equal right of religious freedom, and acknowledging with reverence the duty of obedience to the will of God.

"But also we are a nation with a duty to survive; a nation whose constitution contemplates war as well as peace; whose government must go forward upon the assumption, and safely can proceed upon no other, that unqualified allegiance to the nation and submission and obedience to the laws of the land, those made for war as well as those made for peace, are not inconsistent with the will of God."

Dr. Gulick Dissents.

Asked how resistance to conscription would square with the duty of the citizen under the constitution to bear arms in defense of his country Dr. Gulick replied:

"Will you please point out the particular article of the constitution to which you refer? Declaration of war by the United States in violation of the peace pact would be a violation of the 'supreme law of the land' [article V. of the constitution]. It is difficult for me to believe that refusal to respond to a call to arms in support of a war which is morally wrong, a violation of the supreme law of the land, an act of international perfidy and subversive of international law, could be properly construed as a refusal of duty under the constitution."

Dr. Gulick's question is answered by the Supreme court decision of yesterday, quoting the decision in the Schwimmer case, in which the court said:

"That it is the duty of citizens by force of arms to defend our government against all enemies whenever necessity arises is a fundamental principal of the constitution."

As to Objectors.

The decision also contains some pregnant comments upon the encouragement of conscientious objection to military service.

"Whatever tends to lessen the willingness of citizens to discharge their duty to bear arms in the country's defense detracts from the strength and safety of the government," says the decision quoting the Schwimmer case opinion. "And their opinions and beliefs, as well as their behavior, indicating a disposition to hinder in the performance of that duty, are subjects of inquiry under the statutory provisions governing naturalization and are of vital importance, for if all or a large number of citizens oppose such defense the 'good order and happiness' of the United States cannot long endure."

The church committee also called on the churches "to support with moral approval individuals who hold conscientious convictions against participation in military training or military service," and urged an amendment of the law to permit naturalization of aliens who refuse to bear arms.

The court holds that exemption of conscientious objectors on religious or other scruples is not a constitutional right, but is within the power of congress to grant or withhold.

Professor Gives Up.

New Haven, Conn., May 26.—[Special.] — Prof. Douglas Macintosh of Yale university, a Canadian subject, said today that he would make no further effort to become a citizen of the United States following a decision, 5 to 4, by the United States Supreme court yesterday that he cannot become naturalized until he will admit the right of the government to compel him to bear arms. He declined to make any statement about the legal points involved. He served in the British army during the world war.

The body of an unidentified man about 60 years old was taken from the lake at the foot of Wayeland avenue yesterday by Lincoln park police. The body was removed to Linn's undertaking rooms, 3419 North Clark street.

CONSTRUCTION BEGUN ON NEW HOME FOR HISTORICAL SOCIETY

At their regular meeting yesterday the commissioners of Lincoln park announced the beginning of construction on the projected new building to house the Chicago Historical society at North avenue in Lincoln park. The structure will cost slightly more than $1,000,000. The society, which now occupies a building at 632 North Dearborn street, two years ago obtained permission in the state legislature to build on park property.

COLLEAGUES TO FIGHT FIRING OF OHIO PROFESSOR

Protest Action by Board of Trustees.

Columbus, O., May 26.—[Special.]—Five Ohio State university professors protested to the American Association of University Professors today the dismissal of Prof. Herman A. Miller, internationally known sociologist, and an opponent of military training, from the faculty of the university Monday as the fight between the faculty members and the board of trustees continued to rage.

They include four past presidents of the local branch of the organization, Prof. George R. Havens, Prof. H. Gordon Hayes, Prof. Cecil C. North, and Prof. Boyd Bode, a member of the national council of the group.

Conference Called Failure.

The conference was called by the president in order to suppress opposition to the dismissal of Prof. Miller among the faculty members. It appeared to be a failure in that only one dean, George Arps, of the college of education, guaranteed that members of his college would desist from protesting the decision of the board of trustees.

Prof. Charles R. Morrey, president of the local chapter of the professors association, said, that as far as he knew, no protest against Miller's dismissal would be made by the local branch. He added that individuals could appeal without the consent of the local branch. There is a movement among the faculty members now to force the resignation of Prof. Morrey, who, they say, refused to sign the protesting petition.

At the same time graduate students in the department of sociology are circulating a petition to the board of trustees, asking that Prof. Miller be reinstated.

Says Charge Disproved.

Prof. Miller broke his silence and issued a statement outlining his version of the case. He asserted charges against him had been investigated and disproved.

The fight between the faculty and the board of trustees came to a head Monday when Prof. Miller was dismissed. He had been accused of leading the student opposition to the compulsory military training at the school.

FIND FIVE BILLION SPENT BY AMERICANS A YEAR ON RECREATION

New York, May 26.—(AP)—The per man recreational expenditure of Americans, the New York Automobile club estimated today, was $40 last year, a total of $4,915,000,000 spent by 122,000,000 persons.

"Nearly two-thirds of this great sum," the club said, "was spent for vacation motor tours within the United States."

SOMEBODY PLAYS TRICK ON CORNELL'S NEW WAR MEMORIAL

Ithaca, N. Y., May 26.—(AP)—A red flag and a placard bearing the name of Hans Wagner, Cornell student killed in action with the German forces, was hoisted on the flagstaff at Cornell university's new world war memorial today, resulting in the arrest of three students on charges of disorderly conduct.

The students denied at the time of arrest that they had run up the flag and placard, explaining that, instead, they were trying to haul these down. The university considered the incident merely a prank.

The incident brought to a climax agitation originally begun to effect the placing of Wagner's name on the roll of honor with Cornell's 284 other war dead in the memorial.

BOTH PARTIES IN JERSEY DEMAND DRY LAW REPEAL

Platform Planks Drawn for Adoption.

Trenton, N. J., May 26.—[Special.]—Repeal of the eighteenth amendment was demanded by the tentative platforms drafted by the resolution committees of both the Republican and Democratic state conventions in session here today. The Democratic plank proposed further that "during the long process" of repealing the prohibition amendment the Volstead law be modified so that light wines and beer may be available at once. Both reports went over for approval until next week.

DWIGHT MORROW.

The Republican Plank.

The Republican repeal plank reads: "The Republican party defined its position on prohibition in its 1930 platform. We reaffirm that position. We believe that the eighteenth amendment should be repealed and that there should be substituted therefor an amendment restoring to the states the power to determine their policy for the liquor traffic and reserving to the federal government the power to protect dry states from the invasion of liquor traffic from the wet states. We favor proper procedure to accomplish this purpose. So long as the eighteenth amendment is the law of the land we favor law enforcement. We oppose the return of the saloon."

The party thus, under the leadership of Senator Dwight W. Morrow and David Baird, nominee for governor, proposed to disregard the advice and warning of the dry element and to reaffirm the stand which won so decisively last year.

Senator Morrow devoted most of his brief "keynote" address opening the convention to a eulogy of Mr. Baird, whom he praised as the merciless foe of all dishonesty in government. It was the senator's first appearance before a political meeting since his election last November.

Five Chief Issues.

A. Harry Moore, Democratic nominee for governor, in his acceptance speech at his party's convention announced five chief issues—governmental extravagance, home rule, prohibition, unemployment and political honors for women. He advocated constitutional reorganization of the state government, repeal of the Hotel prohibition enforcement act and a petition to congress for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and modification of the Volstead act.

The initiative platform called attention to the fact that, although Senator Dwight W. Morrow ran on a wet platform, members of the Republican party defeated every move in the legislature, even when sponsored by their own colleagues, to pass legislation affecting prohibition.

DEFEAT PARTY CIRCLE BALLOT, PRIMARY BILLS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 26.—[Special.]—Shadows of the presidential and state election of 1932 fell athwart the assembly late today. The senate defeated the Huebsch bill to abolish party circles from the ballot after speakers had dwelt upon the havoc a repetition of the Democratic landslide of last November might wreak upon the Republican ticket.

HAROLD KESSINGER

Across the rotunda a house committee at the same minute was killing the bill to wipe out presidential primaries and to abolish direct election of delegates to the national convention next year, a measure which raised much uproar when passed by the senate April 15. It also shelved a senate bill to change the primaries next year from April to August, a measure originally favored by the administration.

The senate battle over party circles found party lines split wide open. Senator Thomas Courtney, Democratic leader, and Senator Harold Kessinger [Rep., Aurora] helped lead the fight for the group form of ballot as used in New York and Massachusetts. The vote stood 24 to 22. It lost by two, as 26 are necessary.

Lose Significance.

"There are now no big issues on which the major parties are divided as parties," said Kessinger, "we have dry Republicans and Democrats and wet Republicans and Democrats; high tariff Republicans and Democrats and low tariff Republicans and Democrats; Muscle Shoals Republicans and Democrats and anti-Muscle Shoals Republicans and Democrats. We're run by groups and blocs. Party circles don't mean what they used to."

"This would be getting away from party government," said Senator Henry M. Dunlap [Rep., Savoy]. "It would make government less responsible even than now."

"Big independent men like Al Smith and Gov. Franklin Roosevelt are recognised without trouble in New York," said Courtney. "And they have no party circles."

Kill Primary Bill.

The funeral of the bill to kill presidential primaries was held in the house election committee. The pall bearers were Sol P. Roderick [Reb., Chicago], Carl J. Jobst [Rep., Peoria], William E. Gilmore [Dem., Champaign], Mason S. Sullivan [Dem., Chicago] and Robert Whitely [Rep., Carlinville]. They were members of a subcommittee which recommended that the primary next year stay where it is in April. It reported that the bills to wipe out a direct vote on presidential candidates and on national delegates were "untimely and out of harmony with the times."

FRIENDS TINKER LANTZ BILL INTO CHINESE PUZZLE

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 26.—[Special.] The Lantz income tax bill, already passed by the senate, emerged from second reading in the house today so cluttered up with amendments that it was with difficulty recognised by some of its downstate friends.

HOMER TICE.

A possibility that a taxpayer may have to pay an income tax on the property taxes he pays lurks in the measure as it now stands.

Some of its friends tonight appeared bewildered by the discovery that instead of providing a tax in lieu of other taxes the bill, if enacted as is, might prove to be not only a new tax but a double one. They expressed apprehension as to how the farmers may take this.

The struggle developed into the usual contest between rural legislators, led by Homer J. Tice [Rep., Greenview] and urban members from Cook county and some downstate cities. At the end a motion to strike out the enacting clause was beaten, 52 to 70.

Realty Men Plan Protest.

Real estate organizations, led by the Chicago Real Estate board, who have been for an income tax with a property tax offset, are preparing for a demonstration against the bill when it is put on passage later. Two amendments prepared by H. H. Haylett of the Chicago board, for an offset without strings and for use of income tax for the schools, were put in by Thomas P. Sinnett [Dem., Rock Island], but were voted down.

The "income tax on property taxes" phase of the bill came about through an effort to provide a property tax offset and the question whether this would be constitutional. Mr. Trice had an amendment which, as altered by a substitute from D. Logan Giffin [Rep., Springfield], would allow a taxpayer to deduct his property tax from his income tax. Due to the prevailing idea that this might be held invalid, the amendment provided that if the offset is knocked out by the Supreme court the rest of the income tax should stand.

After this had been put through, 69-56, Mr. Tice put through another change, stipulating that property taxes shall not be deducted from gross income in computing taxable net income.

Here Is the Result.

Thus, if the court should knock out the offset, and the rest of the income tax bill should stand, income tax would then be paid upon property taxes.

"This would be one sweet mess," remarked Michael L. Igoe [Dem., Chicago]. "If the bill passes and the courts hold the offset invalid, then where are the people to get the right to deduct the property taxes they pay in figuring out net income on which to pay income tax?"

"O," replied Mr. Giffin, "the legislature would have to meet again and put back what it is now striking out."

"I've got a picture of that," said Mr. Igoe. "The history of this legislature would indicate that once you pass this law we'd never get a deduction of real estate taxes from income on which income tax would be collected."

Relief Amendments Beaten.

A series of amendments from A. O. Galvin [Rep., Chicago] increasing the exemptions for single and married men, and a series from Charles J. Jenkins [Rep., Chicago] making the exemptions the same of those of the federal income tax, were voted down.

Opinion among the legislators tonight is that the support of the bill among down state members has been materially weakened by the amendments tacked on through instrumentality of Mr. Tice. By the time the farmers and business men in the smaller towns digest the new tendencies of the measure, the week-end is expected to result in a lot of talk back home, and at present many of the legislators themselves declare they have not yet fully fathomed what the bill means.

Chicago revenue bills, the outgrowth of the conference with Mayor Cermak's advisory committee, were introduced in the house by Minority Leader Igoe. One of them seeks to abolish the elective board of assessors, the board of review, and the 30 town assessors, and to substitute a board of assessment and revision of three members, one the assessor, to be appointed by the county board.

Another aims to strengthen the personal property tax law and to "put teeth into it" by requiring every owner to file a schedule under oath, with severe penalty for perjury.

Abatement in double taxation, such as cases where there is property with mortgage, are provided in another, and a fourth bill fixes the 1929 valuation as a basis for taxation.

WIFE FREED IN SHOOTING.

Charges of assault to kill against Mrs. Della Carter, 44 years old, 755 North Dearborn street, were dismissed by Judge Hartigan yesterday after she and her husband, Lemuel Carter, whom she had shot in the arm, told the judge they had become reconciled.

CHARGES FLY AS FASCISTS CLASH WITH CATHOLICS

Each Side Lays Blame on the Other.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, May 26.—Charges and counter charges were being hurled back and forth tonight between the Vatican and Fascist spokesmen, and it appeared that relations between the Catholics and the civil authorities of Italy were becoming more and more strained. The Fascists charged that the Catholics are plotting against the Fascist régime. The Catholics accused the Fascists of intimidation and violence.

The Fascist charge of a Catholic plot was made in the newspaper Lavora Fascista, which printed what it described as secret documents which purport to show that the Catholic organization, Azione Cattolica [Catholic Action], is acting secretly to overthrow the Fascist régime and that Pope Pius himself is supporting the anti-Fascist activities.

Quotes Head of Organization.

The documents in question are alleged to be secret reports of recent meetings of the upper hierarchy of Azione Cattolica and show, Lavora Fascista says, that things have gone so far that extreme remedies are required. The paper implies that either the Azione Cattolica must be disbanded or the Lateran pact denounced.

Dr. Rossi, vice president of the Azione Cattolica, is quoted by the paper as having said at one of the meetings of the organization:

"Our activities must not appear to be what they are really directed at. We must intensify them in such a way as to make them appear strictly religious, so as not to offer the enemy any angle to strike at; and, if we are attacked, we must appear as acting only in a religious scope and thus acquire a position from which to denounce Fascism before Italian opinion and before the whole world."

Refers to Spanish Incidents.

The paper also quoted Msgr. Pizzardo, assistant general of Azione Cattolica, as saying:

"If in Spain Azione Cattolica had been strong, the outrages against the religious orders would have been impossible. We must be strong here so as to be in a position to get hold of power should occasion offer."

The newspaper quoted several other officials of Azione Cattolica, including Prof. Savatori, secretary general of the organization; Dr. Calvelli, president of the Tuscan section, and President Servolino as proposing that Catholics be prohibited from belonging to the Fascist party.

Vatican Organ Makes Charges.

VATICAN CITY, May 26.—(AP)—Osservatore Romano, organ of the Vatican, today printed two-thirds of a column devoted to alleged cases of intimidation and violence by Fascists against members of Catholic organizations. The list included:

At Rome, women students were insulted within the university courtyards by Fascists, who demanded that they remove their Azione Cattolica buttons, and Fascists attacked a Vatican mail van, injuring its two drivers.

At Premilcore, Fascist Inspector Ricci forbade the formation of Catholic societies and made parents sign a declaration that they would not permit their sons and daughters to join Azione Cattolica.

Afterward they marched through downtown streets, singing the Fascist hymn, "Giovanezza," and adding improvised stanzas directed against the church.

They have been ordered to convene at 11 a. m. tomorrow, a member of the group said, but the purpose of the meeting is not known.

Spain Blames Alfonso for Executions of Rebel Chiefs

MADRID, May 26.— (AP) —Charges against former King Alfonso XIII. of Spain and several former monarchist leaders, accusing them of criminal responsibility for the executions of Capts. Garcia Fernandez and Ferman Galan, following the revolt at Jaca last December, were filed before the Supreme court today.

The charges were sponsored by Francisco Galan, brother of Capt. Ferman Galan.

Charges were also filed against all members of the former cabinet of Marquis Alhucemas, except Santiago Alba, accusing them of failing to try to prevent the coup d'etat of Gen. Primo de Rivera in 1923. These charges also referred to the former king, declaring that he should have tried to suppress the coup and execute Gen. de Rivera as a rebel.

Berenguer Cabinet Accused.

That complaint also declares that the king permitted the constitution of 1876 to be suspended and that therefore he is personally to blame for subsequent events, including the Jaca executions. Members of the cabinet of Gen. Damaso Berenguer also were accused in the charges on the ground that they permitted the executions.

The ministry of justice tonight ordered the public registry office to begin an inventory of the property holdings of Catholic religious orders in Spain. No official reason was given for the order, but its announcement gave rise to unconfirmed reports in some Catholic circles that it was possible the government might be contemplating a measure which would declare that the property of religious houses belongs to the state.

A delegation of Catholic women called on President Alcala Zamora today and presented to him a document, bearing the signatures of 35,000 women, which protested against recent burnings of churches and convents. The petition also asked for obligatory teaching of Catholicism in schools; guarantees for other Catholic organizations and institutions, and the return of Cardinal Primate Segura, Bishop Mugica of Vitoria and Bishop Garcia of Malaga, who left Spain in connection with recent events.

Disperse Mob at Prison.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, May 26.—(AP)—Fifteen hundred striking fishermen and unemployed, who had announced their intention of liberating prisoners in the city jail because they were dissatisfied with working conditions, were dispersed today by army units and civil guards. The strikers plan a general stoppage of work and a demonstration tomorrow.

START PROBE AS SOVIET AIRPLANES FLY OVER FINLAND

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 26. —(AP)—A Russian flotilla, which was first observed off the coast here Sunday, was still lying near Aransgrund lightship tonight.

The Finnish military staffs are investigating reports of alleged activity of soviet aviators over Finnish territory near Helsingfors and over the islands in the eastern part of the Gulf of Finland. Military investigators expect to hand a report to the foreign minister by tomorrow.

Finnish authorities today were considering a soviet note received yesterday protesting what it termed the "interference" of the Finnish government in Russian internal affairs. The note "formally rejected" a Finnish government note of May 16 complaining against alleged ill-treatment of Finnish minorities in Russian territory.

MOPS VOLPE BEGS CRUMB; GETS IT AT TABLE OF JUSTICE

Tony [Mops] Volpe, Capone gangster and one of the public enemies, who is fighting efforts of the government to deport him as an undesirable alien, pleaded yesterday in the South Clark street court to be allowed to keep at least the shreds of a good reputation—and won.

He had been arrested on a charge of vagrancy. When the case was called before Judge Borrelli, a motion to nol pros was made by Assistant State's Attorney Russell Root. Such a disposal would leave the charge technically standing against Volpe, Miles J. Devine, Volpe's lawyer, objected, and Volpe himself spoke up:

So Judge Borrelli, with the consent of the prosecutor, entered a verdict of acquittal, thus clearing Volpe of the charge.

80 Groups Urge Tracks Along Lake Shore Drive

Representatives of eighty civic organizations appeared yesterday before the Illinois commerce commission to protest removal of the street car tracks in Lake Shore drive. Five delegates, representing the 35 member organizations of the Austin Federation of Clubs, testified that removal of the tracks would cause inconvenience to their members in traveling to and from Navy pier. The forty-five delegations will be heard from during the week. The removal of the car tracks is being sought by the Lincoln park commissioners.

Judge Refuses to Direct Jury to Acquit Broker

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday overruled a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty on behalf of Arthur J. Fournier, former La Salle street broker, on trial charged with using the mails to defraud. The government concluded with the testimony of John Minnec, president of the Bildwell Construction company, as to sales of his unlisted stocks to Fournier, who is alleged to have resold the shares and closed out his customers for margin. Final arguments will be heard this morning.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Police Disclaim Use of Insignia.

BY HAL FOUST.

"Stars were originally designed for automobiles," said Sheriff Meyering Tuesday afternoon, "to designate cars in emergency police service requiring special privileges in traffic and in parking. But today, every Tom, Dick and Harry wanting to show off or wanting immunity from arrest for minor infractions of the law has a five pointed emblem attached to his license plate."

SHERIFF MEYERING. [Burke & Koretke Photo.]

The reporter climbed a flight of stairs and crossed to the City Hall-County building to the office of Police Commissioner Alcock. The chief was busy, but a lieutenant gave the police view of the "I gotta drag" stars.

"Commissioner Alcock doesn't have a star on his car," said the lieutenant. "None of the police cars bear these stars. The motorists who use them are those who have a 'drag' with some public official or want to pretend they have a 'drag' to get special privileges on the streets and boulevards."

Surveys Parked Autos.

The reporter took the elevator to the first floor and walked out of La Salle street exit of the City Hall where signs advise that no parking is permitted between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Parked near the building entrance was a large new sport phaeton with a shiny new star on the front and another on the rear with the inscription: "Mayor of Chicago." The license number was 460-939 which, the records show, was issued to Mayor Cermak.

Near the mayor's car was another machine in the "no parking" area, which was being patrolled by a mounted policeman. It bore stars reading "Cook county official" and bore the license number 462,906, issued to Frank J. Flaska, 4925 West 24th place, Cicero. Still another parked car, with a drag insignia "City of Chicago law department."

No Star on Police Car.

At the Clark street entrance to the county side of the building, there was a large sedan with a star "Sheriff of Cook county" and a license number 320-662, which was issued to Cook county. A detective bureau squad car was also parked there, but it bore no star.

The license number of a north bound automobile in Clark street, with an illegible "drag" emblem was identified as 92-690, issued to Frank J. Link, 430 Orleans street.

On Washington street, in a no parking area next to the city hall, was a small machine with a star "Police department of Park Ridge," and license number 524-155, which was issued to Sergt. R. A. Whitsey of the suburb's police department. Parked across the street was a sedan with license number 1-097-584 and with a star advertising the World's Fair of 1933. The World's Fair committee has disclaimed these imitation "I gotta drag" emblems.

Walking back toward The Tribune tower, an expensive automobile was noticed parked in a prohibited zone on the south side of Wacker drive just east of Dearborn street. Fore and aft were large silver plated stars reading "Deputy sheriff of Cook county." The license number, 33-532, was issued to Milton D. Goldstine, 14 West Lake street. The city directory shows Milton D. Goldstine as an officer of the Goldie Linen company, 14 West Lake street.

LICENSE NEEDED IN MICHIGAN TO CARRY MALT HOME IN AUTO

Lansing, Mich., May 26.—[Special.]—Transportation of malt was placed almost in the category of transportation of liquor, from the standpoint of the average Michigan citizen today, when Paul W. Voorhies, attorney general, handed down a ruling to the effect that the licensing clause in the new malt tax law applies to all cars used to transport malt products.

The law, which was reenacted in the closing day of the legislative session over the veto of Gov. Wilber M. Brucker, provides that malt shall not be transported except in specially licensed motor vehicles. The certificate legalizing such transportation costs $25.

Since the act has no qualifying clause that such transportation be for commercial purposes, it applies generally, the opinion holds, and all malt found in conveyances for which certificates have not been issued is subject to seizure and the owner lays himself liable to prosecution.

ARMY ADDS HALF MILLION PLANE MILES TO RECORD

Flyers Continue Fast and Safe War Test.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 26.—[Special.]—The first air division returned to its eastern base today with the good will of New England, but without a single enemy scalp. The anticipated attack upon New England coast by the mythical invaders did not materialize. It is well enough that it did not for the weather was bad for a battle.

F. TRUBEE DAVISON.
[(C) Harris & Ewing]

Forecasts are more favorable tonight, and tomorrow the air fleet may engage the "coalition of foreign powers" along the New Jersey coast. The trip back to Long Island was accomplished without serious mishap adding another corps' great record of traveling fast and safely under adverse weather conditions.

Enemies Swallowed in Fog.

In New York last Saturday the only enemy in sight was lowering clouds. Sunday and Monday, with Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the commanding general of the army, on the scene in Boston, the invading fleet remained fogbound at sea. F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war in charge of aeronautics, found a new enemy—the Reds—but their forces also appeared to be lost in the fog.

After having flown with the air fleet over Boston and encountered no greater enemy than cruising photograph planes, Gen. MacArthur got into his speed wagon and went home. Last midnight the "war" correspondents were handed the following dispatch:

"Enemy force continues course due south. Move to Long Island area morning of May 26. I am proceeding to Washington. Report to me at war department after 1 a. m., May 26.

"DOUGLAS MACARTHUR,
"General, Chief of Staff."

Army' Bivouacs in Gotham.

Nobody was so undiplomatic as to report to the general at 1 a. m., but if he wants to know where his army is it is right here in town tonight.

Having no enemy to drive back to sea and having heard that a lot of New Yorkers were not overly enthusiastic about the air show staged last Saturday, the fleet gave a repeat performance down the Hudson this afternoon. It was a success.

Much better weather and a longer course in which to concentrate its squadrons brought the armada over Manhattan in one great buzzing group. If there had been an enemy it would have been just too bad for the invaders.

Give West Point a Show.

Taking off from Hartford and Springfield, the planes got together over Troy and swept past Albany on down the Hudson. At West Point the fleet put on a special show for the cadets.

The head of the flying division reached the Battery at 1:30 p. m., New York daylight time, and from the air it appeared that New York was just as interested in the second show as it was in the first. Every housetop held its quota of humanity and the sidewalks were black streams.

Flying at the head of his armada today was Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, known as "Benny" to his fighting men, and the most experienced flying officer in the army.

AIRPLANE CRASHES INTO BUILDING, BUT FLYERS ARE UNHURT

Grand Haven, Mich., May 26.—[Special.]—George Seeres, 43, Muskegon, Mich., business man, and Claude Jelderloos, 23, escaped injury late today when the plane piloted by Seeres dropped 50 feet, crashing through the roof of a house.

The men had flown here from Muskegon. When the engine failed Seeres attempted a landing in the street, but the plane struck the home of Abel Abenga, knocked over a chimney, tore through the roof, crashing to the kitchen. The plane remains there tonight, its nose on the kitchen floor and its tail sticking through the roof two stories above.

Jelderloos crawled from the wreckage through the hole in the roof while Seeres appeared through the back door. A few minor bruises were their only injuries. Abenga and his mother, who is 90 years old, were entering their home when the crash occurred.

ENVOY WHOSE KIN HELD POST 99 YRS. IS 60 YEARS OLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, May 26.—Richard Louis Sprague, American consul here, celebrated his 60th birthday today. He received hundreds of letters, telegrams and presents from all over the world.

The Gibraltar consulate has been held by the Sprague family for 99 years, a unique record in the annals of the consular service. Mr. Sprague's grandfather, Horatio Sprague of Boston, was first appointed to the post in 1832. He has been succeeded by members of his own family. The present Mr. Sprague was born in Gibraltar. He joined the consular service in 1893. He is a bachelor and the last Sprague in the family.

"I am as fit as ever," he declared today. "My only ambition is to celebrate the centennial anniversary of the consulate being in possession of my family. I propose to have a grand fete in 1932, when my consular colleagues from Morocco and most European countries, who are all my friends, will be invited in honor of the event."

CERMAK TO NAME ED J. DENEMARK FOR CITY POST

The appointment of Edward J. Denemark as commissioner of compensation, a $6,000 a year position, is expected to be announced by Mayor Cermak today. Denemark was a member of the board of local improvements under Mayor Dever and was the Democratic member of the civil service commission under Mayor Thompson. Other appointments expected to be submitted to the city council by Mayor Cermak today are:

Jefferson O'Conner, executive of a manufacturing firm, to be commissioner of public service.

Mrs. Elizabeth Conkey, commissioner of public welfare.

U. J. Herrmann, to be reappointed library board member.

It was reported William L. O'Connell, campaign manager for United States Senator Lewis and formerly county treasurer, and Harry Hollingshead, executive of an automobile company, have both refused the post of fire commissioner.

POLISH CABINET QUITS; DICTATOR BACK AT HELM

WARSAW, May 26.—(AP)—Premier Walery Slawek tonight presented the resignation of the Polish cabinet to President Moscicki. The resignation was reported to have been accepted. The action is considered to be the result of the recent return of Marshal Joseph Pilsudski to Poland after spending the winter in Madeira.

The resignation caused no surprise in Warsaw, which has grown accustomed to frequent changes of government. The cabinet was formed Dec. 4, 1930, under Col. Slawek, with the tacit understanding that it was to function during the absence of Marshal Pilsudski, the dictator, in Madeira. Marshal Pilsudski nominally held the post of the minister of war in the Slawek cabinet.

Gasoline Station, Garage Are Bombers' Targets

Two dynamite bombs were set off last night on the roofs of buildings on the southwest side. One was at the gasoline station of Emanuel Mendelsohn at 1342 South Racine avenue and the other damaged the six car private garage of Meyer Greenblott at 3536 Douglas boulevard. The only theory advanced by the police was that both men had gained the enmity of garage interests. Mendelsohn and Greenblott were not associated in business. The total damage in both bombings was less than $300.

4 ARE KILLED, 7 INJURED AS 2 AUTOS CRASH

Philadelphia, Pa., May 26.—[Special.]—Four men were killed and at least seven others injured tonight when a small roadster carrying three men in the driver's seat and three in the rumble seat crashed head on with another automobile near the Philadelphia end of the Delaware river bridge.

Several other cars, traveling to and from this city, piled into the wrecked machines. Traffic on both sides of the bridge was tied up for 15 minutes while the dead and injured were removed from the wreckage.

The accident occurred, police said, when the smaller car swerved from its westbound lane into an eastbound lane in which the other machine was traveling toward Camden, N. J. The roadster was demolished and the larger car was seriously damaged.

Girl's Mysterious Death Due to Natural Causes

The death on May 10 of Miss Freda Edwards, 21 years old, near whose body a note was found which later was proved to have been copied from the novel "East Lynne," was attributed to natural causes at a coroner's inquest yesterday. Dr. Clarence Muehlberger, coroner's chemist, testified that no trace of poison was found.

SHOT FIVE TIMES BATTLING POLICE AT DIXON, ILL.

Dixon, Ill., May 26.—[Special.]—After gun play a man giving the name of Pete Stone was wounded five times here this evening in a duel with Police Chief John Van Bibber and Officer John Bohnfield.

Harold Ryan was an innocent victim, being shot in the leg by Stone, who forced him out of the car and was about to drive it away when the policemen stopped him. Earlier Stone had disarmed Officer Harry Fisher, who came upon him and Frank Tracy at a hotel. Fisher had been told about two men who had eaten in Dixon restaurants during the day and refused to pay for their meals and Stone and Tracy answered the description. When he attempted to question them Stone produced two guns and took Fisher's. It was then the chief took up the pursuit and he overtook Stone.

Stone and Tracy, who was caught later, said they had come from Minneapolis to obtain work on the gas pipe line.

WOMAN'S DEATH LAID TO ROBBER.

Find the Words With the Daggers (†)

The Chicago Tribune Will Pay

A Week in Cash Prizes

IN A GRAND TREASURE HUNT

FOR THE BEST SOLUTIONS TO

"GOOD TIME CHARLIEGRAMS"

HOW many words with daggers (†) after them can you find in the advertisements in today's Chicago Tribune?

Certain words in advertisements in today's Chicago Tribune have been identified with this mark (†). When all the words so marked are placed in their proper order they will form a "Good Time Charliegram"—a message of good cheer or sound advice, named after Good Time Charlie Dawson, the mythical person who sent $2,000.00 to Mayor Cermak to help bring back good times.

The Tribune is matching Good Time Charlie's offer! This newspaper will pay $1,000.00 a week for five weeks for the best solutions to "Good Time Charliegrams" submitted in accordance with a few simple rules.

THE SIMPLE RULES:

1. Each day for seven consecutive days, daily and Sunday, various words in display advertisements which appear in the Chicago Tribune will be identified by a dagger (†) after the word. When these words are arranged in the proper manner they will form a "Good Time Charliegram"—a message of good cheer or sound advice of interest during the present period of reconstruction. You are invited to look for these words and find the Good Time Charliegram. No words will be hidden in the Want Ads.

2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $1000.00 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the most nearly correctly arranged and the neatest complete sets of Good Time Charliegrams in accordance with these rules.

3. The prizes for each week are as follows:

1st Prize		$250.00
2nd Prize		100.00
Next 2 Prizes	$50.00 each	100.00
Next 4 Prizes	$25.00 each	100.00
Next 25 Prizes	$10.00 each	250.00
Next 40 Prizes	$ 5.00 each	200.00
74 weekly prizes totaling $1,000.00

4. This offer is open to every one—men and women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

5. Good Time Charliegrams are to be submitted in complete sets only. DO NOT send in each day's solution separately. Hold all Good Time Charliegrams until you have the complete set of seven (7). Then send them to "GOOD TIME CHARLIEGRAMS," the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be received in the Tribune office before 6 P. M. on Wednesday, June 3, 1931.

6. Contestants may submit as many sets of Good Time Charliegrams as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.

7. You need NOT buy the Chicago Tribune. You may use the handy blank or you may copy your entry on a separate sheet of paper. The Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at public libraries free of charge.

8. The Judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties, a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

GIRL KILLS SELF AT GRAVE OF DEAD LOVER'S FATHER

Barred from Funeral of Fiance, a Suicide.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, May 26.—Natalia Ilarionovna, 23 year old Russian girl, who was engaged to marry Michael Wladimirovich, son of Suchomlinov, Russian minister of war during the world war, was found dead on a neglected grave in a small Russian cemetery on the outskirts of Berlin. She had taken poison. The grave was found to be Suchomlinov's.

The girl's death marked the end of a romance which began before the war in St. Petersburg. A Russian physician and other members of the Russian colony where the cemetery is located refused to reveal the last name of the girl, but said she was the daughter of a Russian statesman.

Couple Fled from Russia.

The young couple fled from Russia during the revolution and made their way to Paris, where they lived in a small room on the Monmartre. She studied medicine and he became an engineer. They eked out a living as waiter, stenographer and interpreter. Later they could not find employment and tried suicide together.

They were found by friends and recovered. The friends procured him a job in Prague while she went to her mother in London, not knowing his whereabouts.

Barred from Funeral.

About two weeks ago Natalia happened to read in an English paper that Michael hanged himself in Prague because he could not stand the separation. She obtained, somehow, $100 and hurried to the continent in order to attend the funeral of her lover, but having no passport, was not admitted to Czecho-Slovakia.

Subsequently she came to Berlin and ended her life on the almost forgotten grave of the once powerful father of her lover—another victim of the curse which is said to have destroyed many who associated with Suchomlinov.

Japanese Rail Strike Begins; 210,000 Fight Cut in Wages

TOKIO, May 27 (Wednesday).—(AP)—Between 2,000 and 3,000 railway workers ceased work today as a protest against proposed salary reductions which would affect 9,000 employés of the government's transportation system. Railway officials said, however, all lines throughout the country were functioning regularly.

About 210,000 railway workers have threatened a sympathetic walkout.

A regiment of railway troops was notified to be prepared for emergency orders, but officials reassured the public a strike was not likely. Authorities expected the nonworking employés would soon return to their jobs in view of the fact negotiations were proceeding toward a settlement of the wage question.

Would Cut Pay of 60,000.

The department of communications issued a statement today agreeing to the government thrift program, while similar action, officials said, was expected of the ministry of agriculture and forestry.

The thrift program would reduce the pay of 60,000 government employés, including the railway workers, and effect a saving of $4,000,000 annually.

A draft of the program as approved by the cabinet yesterday was to be presented to Emperor Hirohito today by Premier Wakatsuki with the request that it be proclaimed as an imperial ordinance. If the emperor approves, the plan will become effective June 1.

May Adopt Five Year Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, May 26.—Japan may soon be placed under a 5 year plan modeled somewhat after the Russian industrial program, in the opinion of Jotaro Yamomoto, chairman of the political affairs investigation committee of the Seiyukai, chief opposition party.

Inspired by the Russian plan and impressed with its success to date, Mr. Yamamoto believes his party will adopt as one of its principal planks an extravagant scheme which he has formulated and which he says will succeed in stabilizing and enriching the national economic life of the country by increasing industrial production $500,000,000 a year after the five year period.

State Would Invest $300,000,000.

"Japan's annual production is at present estimated at six billion and figuring that it will continue to increase spontaneously at the rate of 3 per cent annually, as it has done during the last 10 years, production will increase by $900,000,000 in five years," the Seiyukai leader pointed out.

"However, if the proposed 5 year plan is adopted, this will add another increase of $500,000,000, bringing the total to seven billion four hundred million a year after 5 years."

The state is required in the plan to invest $360,000,000 in order to realize the proposed increase in the nation's industrial production.

Details of Scheme.

The scheme calls for the following expenditures:

1. $87,500,000 to improve agricultural methods and to assist the cultivation of wheat, beans and other farm products.

2. $25,000,000 to improve equipment for the silk industry, from which it is expected an additional revenue of $75,000,000 a year will thus be obtained.

3. $7,500,000 to increase stock farm products.

4. $90,000,000 to increase steel, copper, engineering, motor, chemical and other basic industries from which it is expected an additional revenue of $200,000,000 a year will be obtained.

Besides these outlays, appropriations for the improvement of forestry products, cotton, and woolen textiles and other minor matters are made.

By virtue of this five year plan Mr. Yamamoto believes Japan's annual imports, which now amount to $600,000,000, will drop by about $400,000,000 as a result of the expected increase in the ouutput of home products.

MRS. CHANNELL WINS DIVORCE AND $290,000

Mrs. Amelia P. Channell, 180 East Delaware place, was granted a divorce yesterday from Charles A. Channell, former president of the O'Cedar company, by Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort. At the hearing, Channell retracted charges of adultery he had made against his wife in his suit for divorce, saying he had been misinformed.

Gets $290,000 Securities.

Mrs. Channell was awarded $90,000 in bonds and $200,000 in stock in the Etab O'Cedar company, the French branch of the concern. Channell retains a large home at Grand Beach, Mich., and $30,000 in bonds.

Mrs. Channell, in her cross bill, charged her husband with habitual drunkenness and adultery, naming an Edna Reed, a "Mary" and a "Dorothy." According to her bill, Channell had ordered his wife out of their Grand Beach home, saying: "I am through with you. You have never been anything but an annoyance to me."

Recalls Damage Suit.

Mrs. Channell added that, in 1919, a Miss Ruth Tromley brought suit against Channell for breach of promise and withdrew the suit when he paid a substantial sum in settlement out of court.

The Channells were married on Nov. 2, 1903, and separated last January. They have two grown children, Miss Emily Channell and Edward C. Channell. Channell, who is 57 years old, is a member of the Lake Shore Athletic club, where he now lives; the Hamilton, South Shore Country and Riding clubs in Chicago, and the Stoke Poges club of England and several clubs in France.

FORMER PRINT FIRM MANAGER ACCUSES WIFE

James P. Connell, former vice president and general manager of the Reuben H. Donnelley company, printers, filed a cross bill to the divorce suit of his wife, Lucille, in Superior court yesterday, charging her with unfaithfulness and naming Leonard W. Riley, a salesman, as co-respondent.

Mr. Connell, who resides at the Lake Shore Athletic club, charged that in a raid on his wife's apartment at 4278 Hazel avenue May 17, private detectives found Riley there with Mrs. Connell. She since has gone to California, taking their daughter, Elinor, 14 years old, in violation of a previous agreement, the cross bill charged.

Benjamin Ehrlich, counsel for Mrs. Connell, appeared in her behalf and assailed Connell for "spending money like a drunken sailor to hire detectives to trail his wife while she had to go without any funds."

Mr. Ehrlich, answering Connell's charges of adultery, said Mrs. Connell, Riley, an acquaintance, and a deputy sheriff had been out looking for Connell to serve a writ of attachment on his property and had just returned to her apartment at the time the raid was made.

The Connells were married in 1915.

ROCHE'S RAIDERS PUT QUICK STOP TO DOG RACES

But Track Owners Say They Will Fight.

Dog racing was resumed last night at the Thornton and Hawthorne tracks and the dogs raced right merrily until Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office and his policemen arrived. Nine arrests were made at Hawthorne and one at Thornton. At the direction of the law enforcers the announcement was made that no more races would be run during the rest of the evening.

"But there'll be racing tomorrow night as usual," said the announcer at Hawthorne, thereby serving notice of the fight that is to be made again in the courts.

Races Declared Illegal.

State's Attorney Swanson stopped dog racing last year after litigation had dragged for months in several courts. Finally there was a ruling by the Appellate court that dog racing was specifically prohibited by an Illinois statute, although the law permits horseracing with the "contribution" system of betting.

A new test of the legality of horse racing is to be made, according to Attorney Harry Olson, who for twenty-four years was chief justice of the Municipal court. Former Judge Olson, attorney for the dog tracks, said the races were attempted last night after due notice had been given the state's attorney.

Attorney Olson said the old crowd of hoodlums and public enemies, headed by Al Capone, which controlled the three dog racing tracks in the Chicago area until Swanson stopped them, is out and a new group of respectable business men are back of the efforts to revive dog racing in which the dogs are lured into a contest by a mechanical rabbit. As in horse racing, the bettors purchase what is called a share in the earnings of the dog.

Expect to Appeal.

Attorney Olson expects, he declared, to get the problem before the State Supreme court and the United States Supreme court if necessary. What action is to be taken today to permit the greyhounds to run pending this appeal was not revealed.

Roche likewise was determined last night on his course of procedure. He brought his prisoners, William Fineran and C. A. Schumway, manager and assistant manager at Hawthorne, and seven of their clerks, and Charles Huey of the Thornton track, to the Criminal court building. It is probable they will be taken before a justice of the peace today.

U. S. COURT HEARS MANN ACT CASE AGAINST M'GURN

Wife Who Gave Him Alibi Is Accused.

The government's campaign to harass gangsters in the Federal courts was centered yesterday on a hearing on Mann act charges involving Jack McGurn, Capone machine gunner, and the former Louise Rolfe, whom he recently married before Judge Walter C. Lindley.

MRS. JACK McGURN

McGurn, whose real name is Vincent Gebardi, was accused of participation in the massacre on St. Valentine's day in 1929. Charges against him were dropped when Miss Rolfe testified that she had been with McGurn in the Stevens hotel on the night preceding and the day of the massacre.

Witnesses Are Heard.

The hearing began yesterday with the filing of a stipulation to the effect that the defendants are now married. Then witnesses were called in an attempt to prove allegations that the couple had traveled from Chicago to Florida and back again before their marriage. According to Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel Anderson, the hearing will be concluded late today.

Peter Zackery, a clerk in the Stevens hotel, testified that the couple registered there on Feb. 13, 1929, as Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Gebardi.

Ledger Stolen, He Says.

W. M. Chilton, clerk of the Palos Park hotel in Miami, Fla., caused surprise in the courtroom when he said that the original ledger bearing the names of the defendants had been stolen from his room in the Allerton house here on Monday night. He identified a photostatic copy of the record, however, which showed that later in 1929 the defendants registered there as Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGurn.

G. T. Miller, an employé of the Lexington hotel, said that the then Miss Rolfe had a room there in May, 1929, and was visited frequently by McGurn. Frank E. Dundon, a mail carrier of Miami, Fla., identified the pair as occupants of a ten room house where he delivered mail. B. B. White, a Florida policeman, identified Mrs. McGurn as the woman he arrested for speeding and McGurn as the man who bailed her out.

Maj. W. O. Woods, treasurer of the United States and for 33 years connected with the treasury department, passed through Chicago last night en route to his farm south of Springfield. 2 WHO BURNED PRISON KILLING 322 GIVEN LIFE

Ohio Judge Accepts Second Degree Murder Plea.

Columbus, O., May 26.—[Special.]—The trial of Clinton Grate, Ohio state penitentiary inmate, for first degree murder, charged with starting the prison fire Easter Monday in 1930, which took the toll of 322 lives, came to an abrupt end today when a plea of guilty to second degree murder was accepted by the court.

CLINTON GRATE.
[A. P. Photo.]

Immediately thereafter Hugh Gibson, alias Gibbons, jointly indicted with Grate, was allowed to enter the same plea. The sentence is mandatory and carries life imprisonment.

The action came after a week and a day had elapsed in the trial of Grate, the first of the pair to be brought into court to face first degree murder charges.

Didn't Mean to Kill.

As Grate faced the judge he said but a score of words, including "Guilty to second degree murder" and "We didn't mean to kill anybody." Previously Grate had pleaded not guilty. Judge Cecil J. Randall inquired of Grate if the plea was of his won volition, and he said yes. This answer was received with considerable relief, as counsel, after reaching an agreement, was fearful Grate would insist upon a completed trial. He repeatedly had said he wanted to be electrocuted.

Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins said after the plea was accepted by Judge Randall, "There was no hope of proving the first degree murder charge. We accepted the plea because we find no direct evidence of intent to kill, except that intent which as a matter of law can be presumed to account for the actual cause of their act. There is no direct positive evidence to establish that the burning of any human being was within the contemplation of either of the defendants.

Plan to Burn Woodwork.

"Their entire plan was to burn the wooden forms to prevent the erection of other cell blocks so far as the state has been able to ascertain."

Both prisoners, it was recounted in the confessions, admitted to the court, told of lighting a candle in a pan of coal oil starting the blaze.

Immediately thereafter a general evacuation of the Franklin county jail started with the removal of 33 prisoners held there.

In nearly every case they mean that your system is not functioning properly . . . that an unclean condition inside your body is showing itself in your skin!

You have probably been neglecting this condition—taking now a cathartic, now a pill, as the need arose.

But you can't go on like that! Your body won't stand such abuse. You must adopt a gentler, more natural method . . . a method designed to give you permanent relief.

Fortunately, such a method is at hand. Prominent physicians throughout the world have discovered and endorsed it. And the best part is that it is not a medicine at all, but a simple fresh food that you eat like any other food, three times a day!

Made a regular part of your diet, this food—fresh yeast—softens the waste masses that clog your system in Intestinal Fatigue. It stimulates natural secretions. And at the same time it actually strengthens and "tones" the weakened muscles of your sluggish intestinal tract.

Thus your body is helped in throwing off its daily accumulation of wastes. No longer do poisons circulate throughout your system. Your appetite picks up . . . digestion responds . . . you are less susceptible to headaches and colds. You feel worlds better in every way!

And when your system has been cleansed and purified, your blood clears up and telltale complexion blemishes fade away!

So why go on trying to hide pimples? Why keep covering them up with powder, cream and rouge? Why all the fuss and bother—when it's so simple to correct their chief underlying cause?

But you must start! Just get a supply of Fleischmann's Yeast at any grocery store, restaurant or soda fountain today, and eat it regularly, three cakes a day—a cake before each meal, or between meals and at bedtime.

Just eat it plain or dissolved in a third of a glass of water (hot or cold), in milk or fruit juices, or any other way you like. Every cake of Fleischmann's fresh Yeast, you know, is rich in three indispensable health-giving vitamins—vitamins B, G, and D.

Fleischmann's Yeast is fresh yeast... the only kind that benefits you fully.

Eat 3 cakes a day!

Remember, it's important to ask your grocer for Fleischmann's fresh Yeast (with the yellow label)... the only yeast that contains the Sunshine Vitamin D! Every cake is "irradiated" to give it this added element so important for sun-starved indoor workers. It is rich in Vitamins B and G, too.

NEW POSTOFFICE CONTRACT DATE IS NOW JULY 12

Tentative Promise Again Is Changed.

Washington, D. C., May 26.—[Special.]—July 12 is the latest tentative date set by treasury officials for letting the contract for the $21,000,000 Chicago postoffice. And even this date, which comes five years after congress approved 150 million dollars for new federal buildings, including the structure at Chicago, is conditional.

One of these conditions is that Graham, Anderson, Probst & White, Chicago architects, transmit the plans and specifications to Washington not later than this week. The second condition is that the department of justice conclude investigation of the legality of the site at an early date and permit the treasury to actually issue a check and take over the air rights property adjacent to the Van Buren street parcel post station.

"July 12 at Latest."

"If the plans and specifications reach Washington this week, I believe we will have the contract let by July 12 at the latest," Maj. Ferry K. Heath, of the treasury department said.

In January, 1927, one year after the 150 million dollar building act was approved, the treasury let it be known that consideration was being given to the Chicago postal project and that a site would be acquired within six months. In December that year a deficiency act carrying $450,000 to complete acquisition of the old Marshall Field site was approved.

Expectations Not Realized.

In April, 1928, President Coolidge asked congress for $300,000 to commence actual construction of the postoffice and it was appropriated. In October, that year, Graham, Anderson, Probst & White were awarded the architectural job. In September, 1929, the treasury said designs would be completed in from thirty to sixty days.

At the beginning of 1930 the President ordered speed in public building construction as a means of combatting the industrial slump.

In April, 1930, Postmaster General Brown refused to accept designs and rejected the Marshall Field site. New negotiations were begun and, while arrangements have been concluded to purchase the Van Buren street site, the actual transfer has not been made. The treasury last winter stated that, despite the delay caused by change of site, they hoped to let the contract for the new postoffice early this spring. In January the architects said they would have the plans and specifications ready by April 15. Later this date was changed to May 1. Treasury officials expressed confidence the contract would be let early in June. Later this date was changed to the latter part of June. Now it is July.

SPANKS DAUGHTER, 18, FOR "MOVIE NECKING" ON PORCH; ARRESTED

Springfield, Mo., May 26.—[Special.]—Charles Barker's daughters may live to be 96, but whenever he catches them on the front porch "mimicking some of those nit-witted movie women" he'll spank 'em, and do it right in the presence of their embarrassed boy friends.

That was what Barker, past 60, told Municipal Judge M. A. Dodd this afternoon when haled into court upon a warrant charging that he had beaten his daughter, Freida, 18.

"I'll not let a daughter of mine sit on the front porch with their arms around a boy's neck," he said, admitting the charges. Barker was freed without bond pending a court decision.

FIFTEEN AIRPLANES STUNT OVER LAKE IN WAUKEGAN JUBILEE

Fifteen airplanes from the Great Lake Naval Training station, Curtiss airport and Sky Harbor engaged in aerial maneuvers and stunt flying over the lake front in Waukegan yesterday as the principal event of the second day of Waukegan's Jubilee celebration. A band concert was given at the Waukegan city hall last night.

This afternoon's program will feature a tug of war between the various fire departments of Lake county at Water street and Sheridan road. The Waukegan and North Chicago Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the Jubilee.

Sent to Jail for Refusing to Get Rabbinical Divorce

Larry Press, 1905 South Springfield avenue, was sentenced to six months in the county jail yesterday by Judge Rudolph F. Desort for contempt of court because he refused to secure a Jewish divorce to supplement a civil divorce from his wife Goldie, who is 27 years old. Her decree contained a stipulation that Press get a rabbinical separation.

Mrs. Press said that her former husband's failure to obey the decree made it impossible for her to be recognized to remarry or to be recognized among her friends as a divorced woman.

AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP.

The United States Supreme court was divided five to four on the decision which prevents an applicant for citizenship from stating the conditions on which he will accept it. The case was that of Dr. Douglas C. Macintosh, a Yale divinity professor and a Canadian. Another petition also refused was that of Miss Marie Averil Bland, a Canadian. Although the point was the assertion of right by the applicants to decide the cause in which they would bear arms both had civilian service in France in the war and there was virtually no conceivable event in which they would have been asked to give military service to the United States. The issue was purely doctrinal. The dissent came from the four justices usually described as liberal, Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone. Justice Sutherland wrote the majority opinion.

Dr. Macintosh wanted citizenship with reserved privileges which are not granted the American-born by the constitution. Justice Sutherland explained that congress has granted immunities to conscience, but without even implied authority in the constitution. American theory is full of respect for the conscience of the individual, as befits a land which has harbored so many refugees from dogma and autocracy. Nonconformity peopled the country. The government was created with a true regard for the rights of dissenters to free them from dictates of authority as to how they were to hold or practice their beliefs.

In dealing with a theory of government when that government is not one of classes the case made for one individual is the case made for all of them. If Dr. Macintosh were admitted to citizenship with the proviso that his own judgment should prevail in the event of war that doctrine would be applicable to every individual in the country. It does not add anything to call the judgment conscience. Opinion is just as sound a word and desire is just as effective. If a citizen is to escape duty at his own choice the basis for that choice can be one thing as well as another. The fact that he does not want to perform the duty becomes the supreme law of the land.

Dr. Macintosh's conscience would work much more precisely if it kept him from applying for a privilege when he was unwilling to assume its inherent obligations. In that position he and all others who would reserve their opinions would be more strongly placed both morally and materially. Whatever sacrifice were then involved would be their own. It is an oddity of the professor's conscience that he wishes the sacrifices to be those of others.

A philosopher while smoking a mild cigar may contemplate Canopus and be indulgent of the egocentric individual, be willing that he should have his little strut in the sun and be unwilling that he should be crucified for peculiarities which the masses do not like or for opinions which displease them. When America turns upon individuals or minorities for such reasons it is heretical to its own code, but the human institution known as the United States is not an incident of chance resulting from the aimless migration of dissatisfied peoples. It is a design worthy of loyalties and self-suppression, the ideal of men of independent thought and courage who nevertheless recognized where and when the individual had to meet his fellows on common ground for the common cause.

There is a point at which the individual judgment may be vanity, an arrogance assuming revelations which have not been given, inspiration which is not true and an understanding which is more pretentious than dependable. Patriotism is derided by people who accept its benefits. Nationality is in disrepute with persons who have all the advantages of its moral driving force and sustaining spirituality. A nation is made by the devotion of its people. It will, if it is healthy, contain critics and dissidents. Much of the time majorities must be considerate of minorities, of the right of the individual to hold and express opinions, but there may come a time when it must ask for unity and then rely upon it.

Dr. Macintosh asked that the constitution of the United States be modified in order that he might accept it, a strange request from a stranger. The answer is a reasonable one. He may remain a resident but not a citizen.

CLEAR THE DECK.

The effort of the present school board to get out of its real estate entanglements and any other attempts to escape from the costly muddle of mismanagement in which its business affairs are involved are not likely to be very effectual. Too many of the present membership of the board are too deeply involved in the unscrupulous politics, the crooked contracts, and obligations which were the result of the recent years of demoralization of city administration to be able to straighten themselves out and clear the situation for a new start. They should resign in a body and make way for a new board without any commitments whatever.

WISE-CRACKER STATESMEN.

The refusal, amid wise-cracks, of the Democratic county central committee to indorse the mayor's program for a restoration of solvency in the local governments furnished a striking evidence of the state of political degradation in this vicinity.

These are the facts: The elected officials of the local governments, with some exceptions, spent more money than they received or had any reasonable expectation of receiving from the taxpayers. They did this over a period of years. That would have been bad enough but they went farther: they not only spent beyond income but they wasted the money they did spend. United States District Attorney Johnson says that more than half of the money paid out on contracts by local governments was in excess of honest prices for the goods and services obtained. He ought to know. He has been studying the financial accounts of the contractors with whom the local governments dealt. Only the other day it was disclosed that the city has been paying from $27.50 to $37.50 a day for trucks for which a fair price is $20 a day, more or less.

This kind of thing is the work of the elected officials who have been running the governments of Chicago. Naturally, one fiscal crisis has succeeded another. The politicians who created the crisis through dishonesty and incompetence have contributed next to nothing by way of remedy. They have not reduced expenditures and they have not evolved a program of correction. Time and again they have appealed to private citizens to get them out of the hole. A year ago a citizens' committee passed the hat to avert the complete collapse of local government. It did more: it went down to Springfield and finally obtained approval of part of a legislative program which offered a basis for ultimate recovery. The office holders thereupon continued to pay $37.50 for a $20 truck, and the effort of the citizens' committees, accordingly, was completely negatived.

All this time the more important banks of Chicago have been keeping the local governments of Chicago alive and functioning. They have done so by lending to the governments the deposits of the men and women of Chicago.

High taxes, hard times, and general lack of confidence in the governments have combined to prevent the collection of the taxes assessed. Accordingly, the local governments have been unable to repay their borrowings in full, and no one, in or out of office, can predict with any certainty when the payments will be made. Therefore the credit of the governments is restricted. The banks have about all the tax anticipation warrants they can carry, particularly at a time when liquid assets are more important than ever, without jeopardizing their own solvency.

The solvency of the great banks is a matter of far more concern to the citizens of Chicago than the solvency of their governments. We could get along without the schools for a couple of years with far less loss, far less suffering, and far less vital injury than would follow the failure of a single one of half a dozen of our stronger financial institutions. The members of the county central committee know that as well as they know anything, but they had the frozen gall to blame the crisis upon bankers who did nothing to create it and exerted all their influence toward averting and minimizing it. The bankers, unlike the politicians, have had some regard for the solvency of the local governments; and if the bankers are now showing caution in safeguarding the deposits of the people of Chicago, what sane man can take them to task for it? The bankers may have their frailties, but in the matter of the tax warrants they could take no other position than the one they have announced.

The attack on the banks is a pitiful evasion. The bankers are in the banking business. They are not charged with responsibility for running the governments of Chicago. That is the job of the elected officials who caused the insolvency and now are unable to end it, and unwilling, even, to accept the suggestions of the mayor and his advisory committee.

The mayor knows the consequences which lie directly ahead. He knows that unless House Bill 28 is enacted the probability is that the schools will close, the county hospital will close, the police and firemen will go unpaid. The Democratic central committee and the Republican brethren as well, with characteristic shortsightedness, are unwilling to sacrifice a few political jobs of consequence even though the alternative is the complete collapse of government functions, a collapse which may well sweep every professional job holder in Chicago into permanent retirement.

The Other Side

SENATOR DAVIS SAYS.

[Detroit News.]

Speaking the other day at the dedication of a new veterans' hospital at Coatsville, Pa., Senator James J. Davis characterized the demands for reduction of war debts and lowering of United States tariffs as "the boldest economic affront ever offered to our nation or any other nation not in the vassal class."

We imagine that a good many Americans will find it a little difficult to understand how the earnest plea [not demand] of the European spokesmen at the recent International Chamber of Commerce meeting in Washington for a revision of the war debts and of American tariff rates constituted "the boldest economic affront ever offered to our nation"; particularly when so many of our own countrymen, including some of the most eminent representatives of our great manufacturing and business interests, contrary to the judgment of most of us, have gone on record as favoring a concession of this kind "to meet the changed economic conditions in the world which spell so much for the weal or woe of all the great industrial nations."

At any rate, we are sure that, however much of an "affront" may be implied in such a plea, it pales into insignificance compared to that which this country meekly endured when it permitted its own omnipotent and enormously enriched profiteering citizens in 1917 to put us into the most senseless and terrible of all wars and thus commit us to an orgy of national waste and profligacy the like of which had never been seen in the world before and which shook the structure of our national life to an extent that very few have even yet fully realized.

In our opinion that was the "boldest economic affront ever offered to our nation," and while the entente spokesmen actively abetted it, the fact remains that their efforts would have been utterly unavailing had good sense and good faith guided those whom the people had intrusted with power at Washington.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

IT'S HEARING ABOUT IT THAT HURTS.

It is very painful to read the doings of the party of American mayors who are touring in France the guests of the French government. All the news we get is that here they drank quarts and quarts of champagne and there they drank sauterne, and in one town they had Burgundy and in another Bordeaux. And at dinner that night they had all together and a lot of liquors as well. And yesterday afternoon the tidings flashed under the ocean that they were drinking cold foaming lager beer. And the day was warm and we looked out of the window and we thought of our mayors far away sitting at a long table filled with steins of beer.

Ah, do you remember when Doogan, the bartender, used lovingly to fill a big mug with beer and push the excess foam off with a stick and then sail the schooner to you across the bar? And how you raised the glass gently and blew off some more foam, puff, like that? And you drank the nice cold beer and paid Doogan a nickel (five cents, a half a dime). None of your speakeasy, seventy-five cent a glass, needled beer in those days. How we envy the mayors of our bone dry country as they steadily drink their way through Sunny France. Nor can we chide them. They will probably vote dry again when they get back home, but in each case they are right. In France it is the custom of the country to drink. In America it is the custom of the country to vote dry. And it is also a custom among so many of us to vote dry and drink wet.

Ah, well, every country has its own peculiar ways.

INARTICULATE.

I've sung little songs all my life,
And I've told little fairy tales, too;
But somehow or other, I cannot sing songs
Or tell fairy stories for you.

I bathe you and dress you each day,
And feed you, and put you to bed;
But when I try to write for my own little boy
There isn't a word to be said.

I try both in story and rhyme
To tell you that I love you so;
But my heart is so full that I fail every time.
Do you know, little boy? Do you know?

MARJORIE F. W.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY ADAMS has ordered the navy not to holystone the decks any more; it wears the darned things out and the administration down at Washington is trying to save money. That looks like a step towards real economy. But why not go further and make a little money? Put the battleships and cruisers to dredging for oysters in Chesapeake bay. They ought to build up a nice tidy little business in time.

THE POLICE in Bucharest were ordered yesterday not to stop traffic or pay any attention when Queen Helene's royal car came along. And the queen's picture was taken down from all public buildings. Maybe King Carol is hinting to the queen that he thinks a long sea voyage or a tour around the world might do her a lot of good. As a hinter the king is really first class.

There Are Times In a Republic When the Majority Has Something to Say About Things.

Prof. Douglas Clyde Macintosh of Yale university has been declared ineligible for U. S. citizenship because he said in his application he would fight for the United States only if he believed the war were just. Well, with that sort of attitude perhaps it's just as well. Even if the prof. went to war for us he might decide he couldn't fight before breakfast, or that he wouldn't go over the top unless he had a letter from the secretary of war asking him if he weren't too busy would he be so good as to accompany the rest of the regiment in an advance on the enemy. And he might decide he couldn't march unless the government furnished silk socks and that he wouldn't go to bed unless the general came and tucked him in and kissed him good-night. It will be hard in the next war for the country to worry along without the prof., but it must make the best of it.

VALLEYS.

The valleys, sheltered from
The storm and wind,
Where sight is limited
And sounds are thinned,

Where grass lies smooth and little Houses squat
On every neatly tended
Acre lot—

The valleys, smug and resting
Languidly,
Serene and satisfied,
Are not for me

Who must know forces I Cannot control
To test my strength before
I reach my goal.

AND NOW the air is full of talk about more income taxes and a cut in wages. And if both things happen at once—and on top of that comes a tax on cigars and cigarettes—and our favorite stock keeps on nose-diving—and the Cubs don't get higher than fourth place—well, we're going right out into the garden and eat worms.

AMERICANS spent five billion dollars for recreation last year. And two-thirds of that went for vacation motor tours. In which case we would say that at least one-third of that two-thirds went for hot dogs with mustard on 'em. R. H. L.

SPRING DISORDERS.

THIS story was given me by a physician now living in the peninsular part of Michigan, though it is based principally on things that he learned when he was a young man in Saginaw and Detroit. Those were the early lumbering days. Certain men living in Saginaw and Detroit owned large tracts of uncut timberland. They were hard working men of great endurance and during these early days they were accumulating the millions which they enjoyed, or otherwise, after they had grown old and then passed on to others to enjoy or otherwise. These men would go into the woods in the fall and stay there, living on lumber camp grub until the snow had disappeared in the spring. They would then return to their homes and families in the cities.

They always came out with skin eruptions. They were spoken of as scratchers. They attributed their trouble to minerals in the water, but the young men of the doctor's group discounted the explanation. They felt certain that what these men had was catching, and the safe plan was to keep away from them. It may have been bugs, the itch or something else, but whatever it was all the wise boys kept on the other side of the street until the scratchers got cleaned up.

Now, the doctor knew what the trouble was and how unnecessary were the precautions he and his friends had taken. These men lived on meat, bread and coffee in the lumber camps. There was plenty of it, and the food was heartening. It "stuck to the ribs," but it was short on vitamins.

After living on it for several months the men developed mild scurvy, mild beriberi, and other vitamin-deficiency diseases, and these caused the skin trouble. When they got back home their appetites craved a different diet and they switched to greens of all kinds—salads, fruits, vegetables. Before long they could go to a reception without scratching while being greeted by the hostess.

This informant was fifty or maybe seventy-five per cent right. At that, a goodly part of the skin trouble was due to parasites, large or small. Much of the reputation of the sulphur bath springs was earned in the early day when much of the skin troubles was due to parasites against which sulphur baths work satisfactorily. The embryo millionaire lumberman who ate greens at meals and then took sulphur baths met about all the indications.

NOT DEFICIENCY DISEASE.

R. A. S. writes: I was interested in reading your recent answer to a letter about a case of infantile eczema under the heading "Why Bother?" This woman's baby was bottle fed, and it would seem therefore that in many such cases the skin disorder is an evidence of a deficiency in the mineral and vitamin content of the blood, because the milk given is not supplying these elements.

What are we to do, then? The answer, I believe, is simple. First, try breast feeding, or, if that is not possible, give the baby as a portion of its daily diet seaweed [kelp], which contains many minerals that the blood needs. In fact, it has produced remarkable results in cases of this kind, even when, because of the intense itching and burning, it was necessary to put mittens upon the children's hands to prevent scratching, with consequent bleeding and aggravation of the disease. If it were a breast fed baby it would get from its mother's milk in small quantity the necessary vitamins, minerals, thyroid extract, etc., and the likelihood is that eczema would not be in evidence.

REPLY.

Cradle cap latter, or eczema, of the head in babies is not regarded as a deficiency disease. It is an allergy phenomenon, and that is a horse of another color.

SEEING "BLACK WAVES."

Mrs. E. E. writes: What would be the cause of "black waves" before the eyes? When looking off in the distance, or even at objects close I experience or, more accurately, I see "waves."

REPLY.

Nine times out of ten they are of no consequence. The more they are noticed the more troublesome they are. Neurasthenics enjoy worrying over them. Fatigue is sometimes a cause. So is eyestrain. Some cases are due to glaucoma and other important eye diseases.

WILL DO NO HARM.

G. R. writes: My niece wants to have a permanent wave. She has a tumor on the brain and I am anxious to know whether the extreme heat will have a tendency to develop it more.

REPLY.

Having a permanent wave will not make the tumor grow more rapidly, nor cause any other harm.

PROPOSED ISLAND.

Chicago, May 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I was very much interested in reading several editorials in your paper concerning the building of an island several miles off of the Chicago shore. 1. In such an event what government controls the permit? 2. Who would have title to such an island? 3. What precautions would be required by law in order to prevent shifting of the dumped material? 4. How close to the shore line could this island come and still not come within the riparian rights of shore property owners and city control?

LEASE PROBLEM.

Chicago, May 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We signed a lease on our present apartment which will expire Oct. 1. As we have purchased our own home and would like to move in, we have asked the landlord to sublease our apartment, which he has made no effort to do, although we have paid for the advertising. 1. If we should move on Aug. 1 and pay the rent due to Oct. 1, have we the right to hold the keys to the apartment until Oct. 1? 2. If the landlord or agent enters with a pass key before the expiration of the lease for any purpose whatever, what can we do about it? 3. He entered the apartment several weeks ago without my knowledge, during my absence, when the refrigerator was out of order. A. J. S.

1. Yes, unless the lease provides to the contrary.
2. You should notify them that you are unwilling for them to enter for any purpose and that if they violate such instructions you will regard it as an eviction, releasing you from your lease.
3. If the apartment contains equipment which needs continuing supervision then it is probable that your lease gives authority to enter or that there is implied authority to enter for such supervision.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 27, 1915.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Wilson and his advisers were astounded by the report that another American vessel, the Nebraskan, had been torpedoed in the British waters which Germany proclaimed a submarine war zone. If the investigation already ordered by the President discloses German responsibility for the attack the administration will confess total inability to understand the attitude of the Berlin government to the United States. It will be confronted by a situation more serious than that which resulted from the sinking of the Lusitania, for then there will be involved evidences that German assurances of immunity for American ships are not to be relied upon.

LONDON.—The British battleship Triumph has been sunk in the Dardanelles. A brief admiralty statement says that while operating in support of the Australian and New Zealand forces on the shore of the Gallipoli peninsula on May 25 the Triumph was torpedoed by a submarine. The majority of the officers and men are reported to have been saved.

LEON, Mex.—Two parallel lines of steel 15 miles long, 80 cannon, and 50,000 men charging and countercharging across a plain strewn with dead and wounded. That is the present meeting of Gens. Villa and Obregon here in the once peaceful valley of the Rio de Leon. The battle, for the supremacy of Mexico, started at dawn on May 22. Both sides have lost heavily in dead and wounded, but there is no decision.

RATES FOR ELECTRICITY.

Chicago, May 19.—Your correspondent, "E. P." inquired in THE TRIBUNE today, May 19, 1931, "Why not tell us why monthly items such as gas, electricity, telephone, etc., have not come down in proportion to wages?"

Speaking only for the electricity supply of Chicago, permit me to inform your correspondent that the reason electricity rates have not come down since the beginning of this year is the fact that they were already down. As a matter of fact, electricity rates have never gone up in Chicago since the Commonwealth Edison company was established. Using the price levels of 1914 as a basis, upon the assumption that this was a normal year, official figures of the United States bureau of labor statistics show that the average prices of essentials in the cost of living were 62 per cent higher at the end of 1930 than in 1914. Of course, the prices of certain essentials have been reduced somewhat since the beginning of the year, but no official figures are available to show how much.

On the other hand, the price of electricity for domestic use in Chicago is 39 per cent lower than it was in 1914.

The tendency of rates for electricity has been downward ever since the Commonwealth Edison company has been in business. This company has made fifteen reductions in the rates charged for domestic service. Even in 1919, when the cost of living shot upward more than 100 per cent above the 1914 level, no increase in the rates charged for electric service was made by this company.

As to E. P.'s second statement that "These concerns have reduced their working force to the extent that we are inconvenienced in receiving adequate service," the only answer is that it simply isn't so in regard to the Commonwealth Edison company.

WILLIAM L. CULVER,

UTILITY CHARGES.

Chicago, May 19.—I have just read E. P.'s letter stating that while living costs have declined, the gas, electric and telephone bills have not. We have never received a gas or electric light bill that seemed unfair. We have a four room apartment, a radio, vacuum cleaner and an iron. We have all the light we require, but are careful not to leave a light burning any longer than necessary. The bills run around $1.40 per month.

We are careful of the gas, too, but use all we need and on chilly mornings we light the oven to heat the kitchen. The bill runs around $1 per month. The cheapest and best things I buy are gas and electricity.

But we cannot economize on the phone. I pay $2.75 a month whether we use it or not, and when I want to use it I often get the busy signal or wrong number, or some one is on the circuit. The cost of this service should come down, for it does not compare with that of the gas and electric light companies who give a small bill for a small amount used and never ring in a wrong number or a busy signal. A. G. D.

NO OPPORTUNITY?

Chicago, May 22.—From your eminent correspondent, Mr. Henry Wales, we learn that the young men of Russia are given opportunities to learn trades, and at the same time earn their salaries while learning. Now, according to our "political experts," Russia is centuries behind us in development, and yet in Russia there is opportunity; here there is none!

We, the undersigned, typical American youths, have had four years of high school, where we were told that we are supposed to become "useful citizens." Where is our opportunity to learn a trade and start toward that end? Get a job, you say. Don't make us laugh! We've combed this town from top to bottom trying to get a job, willing to accept even the most menial employment. But there is no opportunity!

We are wondering if this country is not about a million centuries behind Russia?

A QUICK TONGUE.

Chicago, May 12.—During the parade the other evening a lady on the curb where it was jammed called to the officer and asked him to push the crowd back. Then a second request. Officer then came over to the lady and said, "There was a man in Europe who tried to push the Americans back and he is now sawing wood." That corner gave an applause we won't soon forget.

C. M. NELSON.

SAVING LIVES IN SPRINGFIELD.

Chicago, May 22.—Your editorial today on "Saving Lives in Springfield" seems to rest on some rather serious misinformation. First you refer to the "support of the downstate machine in the senate" for the drivers' license bill. Of the 29 affirmative votes on this bill, 18 came from Cook county, the other 11 local senators not voting. Fifteen senators outside of Cook county voted against the bill and only 12 for it.

You then refer unfavorably to the fact that "virtually all present drivers will be licensed without examination," apparently overlooking the fact that the chief opposition to the bill, from the Chicago Motor club and from downstate districts, has been based on the belief that examinations are of no importance or value, anyway. It would have been quite impossible to pass a bill providing for examination of all the two million people now driving, because it would be quite impracticable to give a worth while examination to that number of drivers. All the present license law states started, as we are starting here, by examining new drivers only. With reasonably good administration this should lead to some improvement at once and a growing improvement year after year through exercise of the power to suspend or revoke a license as well as through the examination procedure.

We have, of course, no quarrel at all with your main argument as to the justice of appropriating in Cook county a fair proportion of the state highway expenditures. But while an elevated highway on the west side would undoubtedly be a great convenience to many drivers, it could have but a small effect, if any, on the total number of highway deaths and injuries in the state. All our statistics and engineering studies show that accidents result not from congestion or from the lack of elevated highways, but from ignorance or carelessness of the drivers.

W. H. CAMERON,
Managing Director, National Safety Council.

A COMPARISON OF MUSEUMS.

Chicago, May 23.—Mr. Eckhart has certainly conveyed to us the ordinary stress considerable concerning our Art institute which makes one blink. I am not in the slightest familiar with the processes which enter into the operation of an art institute, but during these days of depression and continual solicitation for funds to relieve actual distress one cannot but stagger to learn that in excess of $1,500 per day is spent in cultural development by our institute. The "largest art school in the world" and quite a number of other outstanding features should indeed be ours. I would not be brash enough to suggest a reduction of salaries, which must be considerable of an item, or curtailment otherwise, since art must endure though stomachs be convex. Seated on the outside and looking in, from an ordinary business standpoint one cannot help comparing the vastly greater benefit the rank and file receive from the Field museum, more universally patronized and practically appreciated, infinitely wider in scope and purport, which is operated for $400,000 per year, while $360,000 is expended by the Art institute, which could be set in toto, faculty and all, in the spacious museum as a department without overcrowding it. And yet one feature of the institute which from general comment could correctly be judged a popular one—the Goodman theater—has gone by the board.

A VOTER FOR THE BOND ISSUE.

MORE OR LESS RIDICULOUS.

Winona, Minn., May 22.—Noticed your article in Thursday's TRIBUNE in reference to the extra fare exacted by the railway lines between Chicago and New York. Doesn't it seem more or less ridiculous and in the nature of a holdup to be compelled to pay a penalty of $1.20 an hour if you want to ride any faster on a railroad train than about 37 miles an hour? It seems to me that in this day with the automobiles traveling along the highways at from fifty to sixty miles an hour, with the airplane going a hundred miles an hour, that railroads should not charge any excess fare for any average speed less than fifty miles an hour. The time has gone by when the public should be compelled to spend twenty-eight hours between Chicago and New York or be subject to a fine.

EMIL LINDEN.

SAVING PUBLIC MONEY.

Chicago, May 22.—For goodness sake, if the city is in such desperate straits, why are not some of the salaries cut at the city hall, including the mayor's, for a year at least? The mayor could start by lowering his. X. Y. Z.

77 PER CENT OF STATE INDUSTRY IN CHICAGO AREA

Warns of Handicaps from New Legislation.

Chicago and the metropolitan area overwhelmingly dominate the Illinois industrial field with 77 per cent of the state's total. This fact was brought out emphatically yesterday in a statement issued by Theodore R. Gerlach, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, based upon information obtained from the federal census bureau.

T. R. GERLACH.

Two other main points were made in Mr. Gerlach's analysis of the official figures for 1929. One was that Illinois ranks first among the states of the middle west in manufacturing and similar lines.

The other was that Illinois has retained its third place rank among the forty-eight states of the nation, New York and Pennsylvania, continuing to hold first and second place.

"But New York is slipping," continued the Illinois association's president. "The percentage for 1929 over 1927 in the value of the products, the wages paid and the number of wage earners exceeds New York's with respect to those important items.

"I attribute this largely to the unfavorable legislation passed by New York, including the women's eight hour law, and I am fearful that Illinois will fall behind as New York has if it passes the eight hour bill now under consideration at Springfield."

Comparative Figures.

A tabulation of the comparative figures for 1927 and 1929 showed that in Illinois the number of wage earners increased from 623,468 to 687,917 or 10.3 per cent. Wages went up from $914,102,612 to $1,028,832,796. And the value of products turned out was raised from $5,386,003,235 to $6,232,428,498.

In the state of New York the number of wage earners increased only 3.2 per cent—rising from 1,072,283 to 1,106,976. The total wages went up even a smaller percentage—from $1,605,378,026 to $1,651,133,696. The total production went up from $9,400,061,376 to $9,972,958,988 or 6.1 per cent.

In discussing the states of the middle west Mr. Gerlach said that both Ohio and Indiana showed a larger increase than Illinois in the number of workers for the two year period, and he attributed this to the friendly attitude toward industries in those states.

The increase in wage earners in Indiana from 1927 to 1929 amounted to 11.7 per cent, in Ohio to 12.1 per cent, and in Illinois to 10.3 per cent. The figures for Michigan showed the biggest increase in industrial establishments. But the growth in workers, in wages and products was less than Illinois'.

Ten Most Important Counties.

"The ten most important counties in Illinois arranged in accordance with the number of wage earners employed in industry are Cook, Madison, Winnebago, St. Clair, Kane, Rock Island, Will, La Salle, Lake and Peoria. In those counties 82 per cent of the total number of establishments in the state are located. They employ 86 per cent of the total number of wage earners.

"In the Chicago area, comprising Cook, Winnebago, Kane, Will, Lake, McHenry, Boone and DuPage counties, 77 per cent of the total manufacturing establishments of the state are located. They employ 76 per cent of the wage earners of Illinois' industries.

"Of the total number of manufacturing establishments in the state 70 per cent are located in Cook county. These plants employ 67 per cent of the industrial workers of the state, pay 71½ per cent of the wages and 71 per cent of the cost of materials, fuel and purchased electrical energy. They produce 71 per cent of the total value of manufactured products."

CITY WILL PRESS TELEPHONE CO. FOR $4,273,505 DEBT

A demand that the Illinois Bell Telephone company pay the city the $4,273,505 compensation which has been accumulating since early in 1929 for the use of city property will be made at the meeting of the city council today by Ald. Thomas J. O'Grady [14th].

In a resolution drafted by the alderman last night City Controller Szymczak and Corporation Counsel Busch are directed to press the city's claim. If the company fails to pay within fifteen days Mr. Busch is authorized to sue.

The pay rolls of city employes, including those of the police and firemen, have not been met since May 14. The compensation due from the company plus the collections of miscellaneous revenue, Ald. O'Grady said, would enable the city to pay its workers until July 1.

"The telephone company is a large user of the police and fire protection furnished by the city," said Ald. O'Grady. "Yet the company has persistently refused to pay compensation as provided in the extensions of its old franchise which expired in February, 1929."

The proposed new telephone franchise was criticized by O'Grady because, he said, it fails to obligate the company clearly to pay the cost of removing its equipment in subway construction, although the old franchise did so.

CABINET SAYS BUSINESS DIAL POINTS UPWARD

Factors in Improvement Reported to Hoover.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 26.—[Special.]—Facts and figures indicating improvement in the business and unemployment situation were reported to President Hoover today by members of his cabinet. The more favorable symptoms of better economic conditions included a continued slight increase in employment throughout the country, better crop prospects in the agricultural areas, a pick-up in postal business and a general disposition on the part of industry to a little better than hold its own.

All of today's cabinet meeting was devoted to discussion of the business situation and governmental economy. Cabinet members not only reported on developments in their own departments but turned over to the President information on business conditions that had come to them through other than government channels. All in all, the cabinet meeting was reported to have been more cheerful than those of recent months.

Following an extended cabinet session, the White House authorized the announcement that "President Hoover and his associates have been going over the economic situation and have found many factors that are favorable."

Impressed by Chart.

No amplification of this statement was made at the White House, but it was learned that a statistical chart disclosing that business had a little better than held its own during the last three months greatly impressed President Hoover.

In this connection it was remarked in administration circles that in previous depressions a pronounced improvement usually had been preceded by a period when business appeared to be bumping along on the bottom without either losing or gaining to any considerable extent.

According to unofficial labor department information, the slight increase in employment registered in April continued during May. The combined totals in fifteen major industrial groups in April showed an increase of 0.2 per cent in employment. Ten of the fifteen groups showed increases.

The President also was informed of improved crop prospects indicating that if industry shows continued improvement better times are ahead for the farmers.

President Hoover evinced keen interest in a report from the postal department disclosing that postal receipts had shown an improvement during May. The postal revenues up to May 25 were reported as 3 per cent better than April and 5 per cent better than the low point of the depression.

All cabinet members assured the President that some cuts in expenditures could be made in the interests of economy. All department heads have called for surveys by subordinate officials and in each instance orders to retrench have been issued. Cuts of between 5 and 10 per cent are being aimed at.

TENNESSEE HOUSE ACTS TO IMPEACH GOV. HENRY HORTON

Nashville, Tenn., May 26.—(AP)—Appointment of a committee to decide whether impeachment charges are to be instituted against Gov. Henry H. Horton was ordered today by the Tennessee house of representatives.

GOV. H. H. HORTON [A. P. Photo.]

This action followed reports of a legislative investigating committee, a majority of which charged that the governor had been dominated largely by Col. Luke Lea, newspaper publisher and politician, and Rogers Caldwell, former financier.

The investigation was the outcome of the failure last fall of four banks which had about $7,000,000 of state funds on deposit. Lea and Caldwell were interested in these banks.

A resolution providing for a committee of five members to decide the impeachment issue was introduced in the house yesterday, and was adopted today by a vote of 71 to 25. Speaker Walter M. Haynes said he will make the appointments tomorrow.

SCHOOL BOARD DEBATES OVER VICE PRESIDENT

While the reelection of Lewis E. Myers to the presidency of the board of education this afternoon is virtually assured, a possible contest for the position of vice president appeared to have arisen yesterday. The names of Walter H. Brandenburg, who has been vice president for the last three years, and Robert F. Carr, head of the Dearborn Chemical company and recent appointee of Mayor Cermak, are mentioned with equal frequency for the vice presidency.

A poll of the trustees yesterday indicated that some are against making any change. Several trustees were hearty in their praise of Mr. Carr, however. One prominent school official who did not wish his name to be used declared himself convinced that "Carr is going to be the next vice president."

Mr. Brandenburg, who was appointed by the old administration in 1927, said yesterday that he would accept the vice presidency again if it were offered him.

Seek Counsel

Do not attempt unsound fire prevention measures, but seek the counsel of the accredited experts of rating bureaus who desire to tell you the proper way to make improvements.

Insurance companies generally prefer risks eligible to a low rate to those which carry higher ones. A low rate indicates better conditions, better maintenance and less chance of fire.

SURVIVOR WON'T DESCRIBE DEATH DUEL BY COUSINS

Wonders Two Days with Untended Wound.

New York, May 26.—[Special.]—Howard Bridgetts, charged with the murder of his second cousin, Dr. Joseph T. Loughlin, convalesced today in Kings County hospital, after fifty-four hours of wandering, wounded and hunted, while detectives to whom he surrendered sought to learn precisely how and why the physician was slain.

They had thought when Dr. Loughlin's body was found early Sunday in the flatlands of Brooklyn on the site of Marine park that he had been killed in a duel because of a domestic love rift. But there was no duel, Bridgetts insisted today at police headquarters, where he gave himself up with George B. Leisure, an attorney.

Bridgetts failed to tell the police much about the affair. While he disclosed unimportant details voluably, he refused to answer all leading questions "on advice of counsel."

He admitted going to the park with the doctor but wouldn't say why or what happened except that he had wounded himself in the arm and had "shot in self-defense."

He did not respond when he was asked if he had shot Dr. Loughlin and if they had quarreled over Mrs. Loughlin.

When Bridgetts, a bullet in his elbow, "ran away" from the field, where the dead surgeon lay, he went, said detectives, to a house under construction on Filmore avenue, Brooklyn. He staunched the flow of blood from his wound with a tourniquet. He thought it must have been around Saturday midnight then.

All of Sunday, all of Monday, Bridgetts, who is 29 and a clerk, his arm numb from the festering, untended wound, rode for hours in subways, sat for hours in small, dim motion picture theaters, and brooded in all night restaurants.

At 1:45 o'clock this morning his roving ended. He and Mr. Leisure entered police headquarters and asked for the detective bureau. Leisure offered a .32 caliber pistol to a detective.

"This is the gun that was used."

"I understand there were four guns used," the detective interjected.

"That was the only gun used," corrected Bridgetts, "and I used it in self-defense."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., May 26.—Sweeping upward revision of Canadian tariffs against the United States is forecast for the new Canadian budget which Premier R. B. Bennett, as minister of finance, is about to present to the Canadian house of commons. It will be the first of what Mr. Bennett himself has termed his "Canada first" budgets and its objective is said to be to bar another $100,000,000 worth of foreign imports from Canadian markets.

PREMIER BENNETT. [Associated Press Photo.]

Pending the outcome of this summer's Ottawa sitting of the British empire trade conference, there will be no major revisions of the tariff items affecting British imports, but if Canada's empire tariff preferepce proposals are turned down the next session will see the bars lifted against British as well as American goods.

American fresh fruits, of which Canada imported about $17,000,000 worth last year from the United States, it is said, will feel the pinch of Canada's proposed new tariffs. And American corn, of which Canada brought in nearly $3,000,000 worth last year, and American meats, of which Canada purchased $5,000,000 worth last year, are other items which are to be affected. The paper industry, textile industry, and washing machines and kindred industries are due for additional tariff protection. Ontarians are awaiting with trepidation a possible announcement of increased duties on American coal, which would levy a heavy toll on Ontario industry. Nova Scotia seeks to force Ontario to buy her coal in preference to American, but Ontario business men say costs of hauling from Nova Scotia are too great, and even under higher duties they would still have to buy from American mines.

The principal tax increase to meet Canada's anticipated $100,000,000 deficit is a jump from one to five per cent in the present tales tax. It will be announced that Canada's export trade fell from $1,120,000,000 to about $800,000,000 last year and that there was a $50,000,000 decline in customs revenue.

While Canada enjoyed a favorable trade balance with the United Kingdom last year to the extent of about $70,000,000, there was an unfavorable balance with the United States of $220,000,000.

250,000 CITIZENS SLAIN BY CHINESE REDS IN 4 YEARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, May 26.—Gen. Ho Ying-chin, minister of war, today disclosed the results of a survey of the communist situation south of the Yangtse river and announced that 250,000 civilians had been massacred during the last four years in Hunan and Kiangsi provinces.

The damage to property exceeds $100,000,000, according to the figures. 250,000 buildings had been burned and that more than 2,000,000 people, chiefly property owners, had been driven from their homes by the Red outlaws.

Gen. Ho Ying-chin charged that the soviet Third Internationale is directly responsible for organising and directing the Red movement.

Defy Peace Proposals.

Although the central government emissary and veteran member of the Kuomintang, Chang Ki, arrived in Hongkong this morning bearing peace proposals from Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, president of China, reports from Canton tonight indicate that the southern leaders have decided to defy Nanking. They will proceed immediately with the organization of a rival administration known as the "Canton nationalist government."

The left wing leader, Wang Ching-wei, has not yet accepted the chairmanship of the rebel government, but continues to issue statements denouncing the alleged dictatorship of Gen. Chiang.

The Canton provincial governments are also being reorganized under the chairmanship of Sun Fo, former minister of railways in the Nanking government. He also has denounced Gen. Chiang's dictatorship, charging that Nanking has failed in its national reconstruction program.

Denounce Nanking Régime.

Other Canton leaders have denounced Nanking for its failure to settle diplomatic issues, including the question of extraterriteriality and the adjustment of the Chinese-Russian issues.

The Canton movement is taking on a decided left wing complexion, due to the arrival of the radical factions, which were previously expelled because of their connections with the communists.

Frank Donoghue Begins Job as City Fire Attorney

Attorney Frank Donoghue, brother of George T. Donoghue, superintendent of the south parks, took up the duties of city fire attorney yesterday, succeeding Attorney Scott M. Hogan. Attorney Donoghue was appointed by Corporation Counsel Busch.

OTHER BANKS IDENTIFY TRIO AS SWINDLERS

Representatives of three banks yesterday identified J. J. McGarvey, William Walker, and Ray Furr, who were arrested on Monday as the result of their attempt to swindle the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank. The prisoners will be charged with confidence game, forgery, and conspiracy to defraud, the complainants being the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, the Merchants Bank and Trust company, and the Stock Yards Trust and Savings bank.

It was said warrants will be issued on those charges this morning in advance of a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by Attorney Harold Levy for McGarvey. Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks said he will be prepared to prosecute immediately.

According to the Burns Detective agency the three men obtained $70,000 in Chicago and vicinity through bank swindles.

WILL TRANSFER CHARLES I. BODY TO VIENNA CRYPT

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 26.—(AP)—The Austrian government was reported in the Royalist press today to have granted Royalist leaders permission to transfer the body of Charles I., last emperor-king of Austria-Hungary, to the crypt of his forefathers in the Capucins church at Vienna.

Authority was extended to Count Polzer Hoditz, Royalist leader of Austria, to do this act of "piety, justice and honor," it was said, with the understanding that the ceremony would be executed without pomp and that no provocation would be offered to the Republicans or Socialists.

Count Polzer Hoditz and Count Apponyi, Hungarian Royalist chief, were said to have reached an agreement whereby the latter would go to the Madeira islands in the fall to bring back the remains. Charles I. died at Funchal, Madeira, on April 1, 1922, after being banished from his own country and refused haven by most of Europe.

EXPERTS SPLIT OVER BRIDGES FOR WATERWAY

U.S. Board Gets Opinions in Chicago Hearing.

Sharply divided views upon the extent to which the Chicago river shall be used for lakes to the gulf waterway navigation were presented by conflicting interests yesterday at a public hearing held by a bridge clearances board of the war department in the council chambers at the city hall.

COL. W. G. CAPLES.

Recommendations made to the board ranged from the one extreme of keeping the river and the Chicago drainage canal open to the largest lake going vessels all the way to Joliet, to the other extreme of closing the river and canal except to the lightest barges and diverging the waterway traffic through the Calumet region by way of the Sag channel.

Board of Army Officers.

The board which conducted the hearing is engaged in a survey of bridges on all waterways connected with Lakes Michigan and Superior. Its report will determine the specification requirements of the war department on bridges built in the future. Members of the board are Col. W. G. Caples of Chicago, chairman; Maj. H. M. Trippe of Milwaukee, and Maj. R. L. Bullard Jr. of Duluth.

Col. W. C. Weeks, resident army engineer in Chicago, told the board that the present policy of his office is that masted lake vessels should be allowed to pass as far as the Brandon pool at Joliet. Industries establishing plants along the drainage canal should be made accessible directly to the lake, he said.

Urges Fixed River Bridges.

The opposite point of view was taken by Alonso J. Hammond, former city bridge engineer, who urged fixed bridges on the Chicago river. Lake vessels, he said, should be confined to a passageway to a harbor in Lake Calumet where they would exchange cargoes with the inland waterway barges. Ald. W. A. Rowan [10th], chairman of the city council harbors committee, sustained Mr. Hammond's viewpoint.

"The logical terminus of the waterway is in the Calumet region," declared Rowan. "Any kind of heavy navigation through Chicago's downtown district is a thing of the past because of the open bridge nuisance. While the Chicago river presents almost unsurmountable difficulties, the Calumet area is virgin territory where it will be infinitely cheaper to develop industries and accommodate shipping."

Putnam Makes Suggestion.

Rufus W. Putnam, former army engineer now connected with a Chicago shipping company, suggested that the waterway barge fleets be broken up at Joliet. Most of the bulk freight, he said, will go to the Calumet region while the package freight will come up the Chicago river. A package freight terminal should be established no closer to the loop than Ashland avenue, he said.

Col. Caples announced at the close of the hearing that a special hearing will be given on June 25 to the railroads to discuss the bridge problem as it affects them. Meanwhile the board will conduct hearings at Milwaukee, Duluth and other cities. Its report will be filed in Washington in about a month.

CRUISE to the heart of Old French-Canada. We take you by rail to Toronto, Queen City of Canada, where your foreign adventure begins. You set sail on a luxurious steamer, one of the world's largest fresh water fleet. You will visit, en route, Montreal—the metropolis, and the fortress city of Quebec, Gibraltar of North America.

You will cruise among the Thousand Islands—set like a thousand jewels in azure blue waters, experience the thrills of shooting the great St. Lawrence Rapids. Near Quebec you will pay your respects at the miracle shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupré and hear the thunder of Montmorency Falls, higher than Niagara.

Beyond Quebec the high Laurentians follow the St. Lawrence and you cruise in the shadow of these ancient mountains. The steamer puts in at fashionable Murray Bay, and quaint and lovely Tadoussac, Canada's oldest settlement. The glory of the Saguenay River, seen at sunset and again at dawn, is a spectacle to impress the most widely travelled. The wild grandeur of Trinity Bay, guarded by the tremendous capes, Trinity and Eternity—the ship's siren reverberating like giant laughter among the eternal hills—gives you a touch of the loneliness, austerity and beauty of the silent places.

A spirit of gaiety prevails for the entire journey, and there is not a dull moment on ship or shore. You dance every evening to the music of a lively orchestra. Delicious meals satisfy ravenous appetites. You will vote this the best vacation ever.

Remember, every expense on this enjoyable cruise has been foreseen and included in the figure quoted above, as well as stop-overs at important hotels en route. A courteous escort relieves you of every travel worry.

Critic Tells Story Behind Frank Novels

Describes Colette and Her Stories of France.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

THIRTY-ONE years ago a book was published in Paris called "Claudine à L'Ecole" (Claudine at School"), which, according to contemporary critics, "horrified readers with its arraignment of students and teachers in a rural school, and enchanted them with its humorously appealing chronicle of adolescence." It brought instant fame to "Colette Willy" who turned out to be a young actress named Colette and her husband whose last name was Willy. "Claudine at School" was followed by three more volumes of Claudine's adventures. "Claudine à Paris" was the immediate successor to "Claudine at School." Claudine was seventeen, going on eighteen, in the first volume of her own adventures.

COLETTE.

The Claudine series brought fame to Colette as a writer but that did not interfere with her life on the stage. Arnold Bennett calls Colette "The best woman novelist in France" and her admirers are legion. She has but lately been translated into English, however. She was a little too outspoken, a little too Gallicly frank for our readers and fathers. There have lately been many Colette volumes made available in English. The latest one is the translation of "Claudine à Paris," which is called "Young Lady of Paris" [Dial]. It is a mixture of the utmost sophistication and delightful naivete.

Claudine knows the facts of life from school girl conversation and omnivorous reading, but her experiences have been completely vicarious. She knows all about love — and nothing about it. She is the daughter of an almost bibled scholar who thinks she is much younger than her years. Her only companions when she first goes to Paris are a Fresnois servant who has the frankest theories about the sun, and a white cat which has found a mate with the aid of the old servant.

Claudine's observations about the cat and its varying degrees of approachableness are interlarded, as the book progresses with her equally frank observations about her "nephew," the very effeminate grandson of her father's sister, discovered when she and her father call on his sister, her father's only reluctant and Claudine with him that her bored loneliness is desperate. The two young creatures cotton to one another like two girls or two boys, confidences which they both suppress for their effect upon the other. And then the boy's father appears.

The Claudine books are, even in this day when anything is written about and with utter frankness, as shocking and delighting to American readers as they were in 1900 and 1901 to French readers, and they offer equally surprise and delight because they are explicitly, unreservedly frank. They are written in the first person and the child girl [and later the young woman] who tells the stories talks as if she were talking to herself. They are the records of candor. They are said to have that quality because they are autobiographical. Everything Colette has written has had a great deal of autobiography in it, those who know say.

There is no doubt about Colette's popularity in France and her unquestioned literary position. She is a chevalier of Legion of Honor, and there has been a campaign to add her to the French academy in which there has never been a woman. Arnold Bennett is only one of a host of critics and writers who give her enthusiastic praise. She is a legend in Paris. She no longer plays in the theater and she goes about in society very little. When I was in Paris two years ago I was determined to see her. My determination filtered through days of not being able to find anybody who knew her and being told by her translator that she herself had never seen Colette. I finally was given a card to her, with instructions to call at seven o'clock on Thursday and to fortify myself against the possibility of Colette's forgetting entirely that she had promised to see me and either being away or refusing me at the door.

Like the report of Mark Twain's death, the rumor about Colette and her inaccessibility must have been greatly exaggerated, because she received us with charming graciousness and really seemed delighted at our arrival. I had heard that she didn't speak a word of English and so I had taken a bi-lingual friend with me. Colette had also bulwarked herself against my probable lack of conversational French and she had provided as interpreter Mme. Moreno, one of the most famous French actresses of her day.

Colette really needed no interpreter, for she has that vivid dramatic quality of face and voice that makes itself understood in the language of eyes and gesture. She looks a little like Bernhardt. She has that same quality of tensity and drama and that disarming perennial charm. Her eyes are like great cat's eyes in formation, though not in expression. There is nothing of the languor of the cat in them. She makes up her eyes very heavily, and she wears her hair in a great fluffy aureole. She answered my question about coming to America with the assurance that she certainly would as soon as any one of the fourteen universities which had already asked for and been given an autographed photograph of her liked her looks well enough to invite her. No one who ever talked to her could forget Colette.

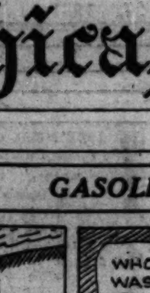
Mount Vernon Replica Opened at French Fair

Notables of 2 Countries Are Present.

PARIS, May 26.—(AP)—America's most intimate monument on the banks of the Seine was thronged today by French and American leaders of Parisian society when a reproduction of Mount Vernon was officially inaugurated as the American pavilion at the French international colonial and overseas exposition at Vincennes.



ANDRE TARDIEU.
[Thompson Photo.]

American visitors found the home of George Washington faithfully reproduced, and a simmering heat added to the illusion of a Virginian atmosphere. Many anachronisms were noticeable, a redskins' band, and ice water, but these did not make Mount Vernon any less American.

Even the French speakers caught the spirit of the occasion and delivered their talks in English, including Andre Tardieu, minister of agriculture, and Paul Reynard, minister of colonies. Only Marshal Lyautey, commissioner general of the exposition, spoke in French.

American Ambassador Walter E. Edge emphasized America's avoidance of imperial expansion.

"Although not a colonial power in the accepted sense of the word," he said, "my country, because of its colonial origin, presents to mankind a concrete example of the full flowering of intelligent and successful overseas development. Although, through the exigencies of our international relations, we have been from time to time delegated with certain responsibilities, we have made every possible effort to lend our assistance without actually assuming permanent power and control."

Gen. John J. Pershing told feelingly of his emotion at viewing this reconstitution of Washington's home here in France. Marshal Lyautey emphasized the significance of the former commander of the American forces in France being present at this occasion.

M. Reynaud, after noting the presence of Gen. Pershing "in Washington's home, in the very room where Washington received Lafayette," said that the reconstitution of Mount Vernon at Vincennes, "expresses that which is most delicate and intimate in American public sentiment." If the United States had not been represented, he said, the present exposition would have been "decapitated."

U. S. Mayors Arrive Late.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 26.—A bit weary, the 21 American mayors arrived in Paris at midnight tonight, just eight hours late for the inauguration of the American building at the French colonial exposition.

Conversation was still buzzing today regarding the clarion statement of Mayor George L. Baker of Portland, Ore., leader of the delegation, in a speech at Dinard, that whatever the mayors may do in France "is nobody's business back in America."

"Tremendous discussion has arisen in the United States over our conduct," Mayor Baker declared. "We are on French soil and we will conduct ourselves as we see fit and proper. They can discuss us in America as much as they choose, but what we do here is nobody's business."

British Royal Family Celebrates Birthday Anniversary of Queen

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 26.—The sixty-fourth birthday of Queen Mary was celebrated at a quiet family luncheon at Sandringham today. The only one present who was not a member of the royal family was the archbishop of Canterbury. The queen received gifts, including four from her grandchildren.

Almost every house in the little village of Sandringham was decorated with flags and messages of greeting. Parish bells were rung out in honor of the occasion.

A royal salute of 21 guns was fired at Hyde Park and all government buildings flew flags. Ships at all British bases hoisted the white ensign at noon.

THE STAGE

GREGORY RATOFF, comedian, master of ceremonies and impresario of "Oh, Promise Me," has settled down to the task of staging a revue for a summer run in Chicago. The Harris theater will probably be the scene of this enterprise, and the date of the première has been fixed for June 28. According to an old tradition for Chicago musical shows, the engagement will be preceded by a tryout week at the Davidson theater, Milwaukee.

Composition of the score has been assigned to Ted Fiorito; and Gus Kahn, who was one of the authors of "Whoopee," has been commissioned as lyric writer. Mr. Ratoff departed for New York yesterday to find a few sketch writers and complete the cast. He already has engaged Gina Malo, who made her hit in "Sons o' Guns"; Hope Emerson, the brawny comedienne who played the leader of the Spartan women in "Lysistrata"; Wini Shaw, who was the "torch song" lady in Ed Wynn's "Simple Simon," and Richard Craig Jr. Furthermore, Ratoff himself will appear as master of the revels.

As a crusader for a theatrical renaissance in this city, Mr. Ratoff announces that contracts with members of his cast will be drawn up f. o. b. Chicago. In other words, he intends to disregard the prevailing custom of hiring help in New York under agreement to pay railroad fares back to New York when the show's life is ended. Whether or not he can come to an understanding on this point with the Actors' Equity association remains to be seen.

The title of the show stands at present as "Let's Go." But this label may be regarded as temporary. When the show is staged here, it will probably be called "Ratoff's Revue."

The run of "That's Gratitude" at the Blackstone theater will end Saturday night, June 6. The company will then disband. The play's career began Sept. 11, and it has been a consistent box office favorite through the entire season. . . . "Stepping Sisters," now at the Cort theater under the management of Tracy C. Drake, will probably be moved back to the Blackstone after the departure of "That's Gratitude."

Half a dozen shows will end their Broadway careers next Saturday night. The list of closings includes: "As You Desire Me," "An American Tragedy" [revival], "Pinafore" [revival], "Death Takes a Holiday" [return engagement], "The Silent Witness," and "Brass Ankle." There is also "The Rap," which will be withdrawn tomorrow night to journey to Chicago for a Saturday night opening at the Studebaker. "The Silent Witness" is scheduled for a reopening in New York next August, and a subsequent tour of the subscription audience circuit which is represented here by the Dramatic league.

Good morning!

KIND: Kind that makes for empty seats in movie theaters.

QUALITY: Decidedly ordinary.

ACTING: Too good for the story, excepting the work and delivery of a collaradic Mr. Mandell Scott, which could hardly have been worse, it seemed to me.

DIRECTION: Doesn't make the grade.

PHOTOGRAPHY, SOUND, SETS, ETC.: All right.

STORY: Trite, amateurish and full of technical holes. Concerns a pair of newly weds who go to New York to make good and find Manhattan full of ravening wolves who eat nice yitte boys and diris.

REMARK: Yawn your way through this one if you want to; but I've warned you.

P. S.: A new episode in the Bobby Jones golf series is also on the screen at Woods' this week. It's called "Chip Shots" and IT is worth your while.

See you tomorrow!

The occasion was his seventieth birthday. The luncheon was held at the North Shore hotel. Mr. Dyche was lauded by the speakers, one of whom, Frank L. Oates, a trustee, pointed out the assets of the university had risen from virtually nothing to millions under Mr. Dyche's guidance. President Scott, Mayor Bartlett, and Mrs. James A. Patten also spoke.

Dedicate Monument to Chivalrous Men Who Died on Titanic

Washington, D. C., May 26.—[Special.]—With President and Mrs. Hoover among the guests a granite memorial to those who lost their lives when the Titanic collided with an iceberg and sank in 1912 was unveiled on the banks of the Potomac today.

The monument, which was designed by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, bears the inscription: "To the brave men who perished in the wreck of the Titanic, April 15, 1912. They gave their lives that women and children might be saved."

Secretary of State Stimson presided at the ceremony, introducing Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, who tendered the statue to the people of the United States and Representative Robert Luce of Massachusetts, principal speaker who dwelt on the chivalry manifested by the men on the ill-fated ship, of whom only 20 per cent were saved.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 26.—[Special.]—The fall that Will Rogers sustained last Sunday while playing polo at the Uplifters ranch at Santa Monica today developed into a bad injury; but Will would not heed the hysterical orders of his studio bosses at the Fox lot to go and find a sawbones for an immediate operation.

A grandniece of the Spanish novelist, Blasco Ibanez, is a newcomer with a contract who is to get bits on the Paramount lot. Her name for picture purposes is Ruth Hall. Her real name is Ruth Ibanez.

The most popular motion picture in three months to show on Hollywood boulevard, the film center's own chilly popularity test, is the kid picture, "Skippy." And the most popular actor, to judge from the plaudits that come somewhat enviously from the film lots, is the youngster who played Skippy, Jackie Cooper. Some of the boys and girls who are sons of screen executives and daughters of scenario writers unknowingly built up a fortune for the Cooper family by their enthusiasm after seeing the picture at neighborhood theaters.

The ten year old himself received only about $900 during the time he was making "Skippy" at Paramount, but now that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is about to take over his contract from Hal Roach, who loaned Cooper to Paramount, the child actor is due to receive $1,000 a week in the future. M-G-M is giving Cooper's parents a new contract to replace the old one by which Roach lent the boy to make "Skippy" for Paramount and "Young Donovan's Kid" for Radio Pictures, with Richard Dix.

Marie Dressler today canceled her forthcoming trip to Europe to stay at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot and play the star rôle in "Emma," which is an original story by Frances Marion. Charles "Chuck" Reisner, ex-pugilist, to direct.

Ex-Prime Minister Theunis of Belgium has been making the rounds of the studio lots as a visitor.

Elda Vokel, one of the actresses the Fox company is bringing to Hollywood from the New York stage, used to be an extra on the Fox lot, and couldn't make enough to keep her comfortably. But her part in New York in "She Lived Next to the Fire House" brings her back as a featured actress.

Johnny Mack Brown, whom Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer recently decided it could not use any more, is now replacing Col. Tim McCoy in the big rôle in Universal's featured serial, "Battling Buffalo Bill." A minor part in this picture is to be played by Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian athletic star, who was so broke in Los Angeles two months ago that he was applying for a ditch digging job.

Salary cuts have been put into effect in the Paramount studio here, but Jack Warner, general manager of the Warner Brothers studio, gladdened the portion of quaking Hollywood which is trying to cling to employment at the First National and Warner studios by stating there will be no salary reductions there. Warner said that the reductions at his studio will be reductions in personnel. Three hundred and fifty have already been fired.

Musical Art Council Will Present Program Today

Mrs. Vernon B. Herbst is chairman of the luncheon and program to be given by the Musical Art council today at the Blackstone hotel. A feature of the program will be musical illustrations of "La Boheme" under the direction of Isaac Van Grove, conductor of the Chicago Civic Opera and the Cincinnati Grand Opera companies. Mrs. Robert Nathan, president, and Mrs. Julius Stone, vice president, are members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Dr. Fishbein Praises Hourly Nursing Plan to Cut Illness Costs

The lowering of the costs of medical and hospital care must come by better organization of service, by distribution of overhead, and by more scientific planning, Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Journal, told the Hourly Nursing service yesterday. He addressed a luncheon meeting of the organization at the Palmer house.

"The hourly nursing service seems to be an attempt through scientific organization and planning to distribute the services of a competent person in such a way that all of the time will be occupied in specialistic service and none wasted on the kind of service that a housemaid, companion, or member of the family may render," said Dr. Fishbein. "A nurse who rocks in a rocking chair at the bedside six hours a day may be an ornamental feature in a sick room, but the service that is being wasted represents an economic loss that should be controlled.

"The purchase of the service of one nurse for twenty-four hours or of two nurses for twelve hours each represents a drain on the purse which few people of the middle class are capable of enduring long," Dr. Fishbein continued. "It is in response to this situation that hourly nursing has developed as a means of concentrating the actual technic of nursing service administered to one patient into a brief period, thereby lowering the cost without interfering greatly with what the patient can expect to receive from nursing service. Although introduced some years ago this service has grown, but not nearly so rapidly as its merits warrant."

More than 150 club women attended the luncheon. Among those at the speakers' table were Mrs. Ernest E. Irons, Mrs. Arthur Spiegel, Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald fund, which gave a temporary grant to the service, and Mrs. Frederic W. Upham.

WOTTA LIFE! WOTTA LIFE!

Many Wives Wither on Kissless Diet; Husbands Take Note

BY DORIS BLAKE.

I don't know what's the matter with you men. When you can keep a woman happy with a few kisses, why be so darned stingy with them? I hear so many complaints about the matter of fact way in which wives are treated that sometimes I wonder if the government shouldn't establish a training school for husbands, with highest honors given to graduates with the most amorous distinction. [Don't ask me who the pupils would do their practicing on.]

Anyway, something ought to be done to wake husbands out of this emotional lethargy of theirs. Great Scott, if a parting a. m. kiss [a real one, I mean, not a peck and run one] is going to make the breakfast dish-washing easier, why not give it? If one on the evening hour of return is going to make up, in a way, for the housewife's dutiful day, why be so tight?

Some women can no more get along without kisses than some of you men can without smokes. Some manage to adjust themselves to the loveless diet, but they're not the cheer leaders around the menage, as a consequence.

Yes, I know that sometimes affectionate husbands are rebuffed by coolish wives. But for one of this kind there are a hundred wives who could do with a little more affectionate assurance that their domestic duties and the girl, herself, are not unappreciated. How better—and how easier—can you pay off the good girl?

If you only knew it, you men could get away with a lot more than you're getting away with, now, if you "babied" that girl of yours a little more. Women are pretty gullible and they'll keep on believing in their men so long as said men reassure them often that they are the best ever [with amorous trimmings]. Not that I'm suggesting you're up to something. I only use the idea to prove the advantages of keeping friend wife in a pleased state.

Seriously, though, isn't it just a habit you fall into of slipping off to work and returning home again without ever a hug and a kiss for the affection-hungry half of your matrimonial bargain?

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Send Flowers.

"Dear Miss Blake: Have gone with a girl three weeks, her birthday is soon. What would be an appropriate gift? Ren."

Flowers, nothing else.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Plaid silk crêpe was used for this dress, which is an unusually pretty one. Beneath the bolero jacket the dress is held in place by simple shoulder straps, and the grouped plaits at the front give gracefully when in motion. One of the thin woven jersey tweeds, with white pique collar and cuffs and a leather belt would be lovely; or for the very warm days one of the tub silks, shantung, gingham, and linen are selective materials.

The pattern, 3106, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Widow's Peak Adds Smartness to New, Off-the-Face Hats

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A while back the question came up about the origin of the "widow's peak," that fascinating dip in the hair line right in the center of the forehead, and which is said to be a luck charm against eternal spinsterhood.

A correspondent, Marie L., tells us that it is taken from the shape of the widow's cap, worn indoors in the 18th century and later. The popular cap of Mary, Queen of Scots, was a typical example. And only about thirty-five years ago was the habit abandoned of slipping the hair to achieve a widow's peak.

Some of the season's hats, along with current hair arrangement, indicate a revival of the widow's peak effect. At the Colony club in New York the other day, I saw a hat and hair line that were a fascinating reminder of those ladies done in oils and hanging in our best art galleries. One of Mary Pickford's latest street costume photographs shows this widow's dip in the forehead's center, with hair brushed back and off the rest of the brow.

A note in hair dressing that may interest you is that you can now have your hair done to serve two distinctly different occasions. That is, you don't have to wear it one way only after it has been waved. You can have it done so that it serves for hat wear and for formal gown. So many of the new hats with wide hair display call for special hair arrangement.

You can, for instance, have the hair parted on the right side, as Norma Shearer is doing, so there is more hair on the left with these left wide ends curled or fluffed and the hat leaving them uncovered. The hair on the other side is dressed flat to the head with one finger wave falling at the ear, and the ends finished in an upturned roll curl under and back at the ear lobe. The hat covers this side.

If the bob is long, the evening transformation is made by rolling the ends into a small knot at the back. With this hair arrangement Miss Shearer wears one of those skull fitting evening caps shaped in front exactly like the widow's peak.

Eleanor Boardman's coiffure, called the "whimsy coiffure," shows an exposed forehead with hair flat on the top of the head, and only a slight indication of a wave low on each side of the face. Miss Boardman puts up this simple front, meanwhile letting the back hair break out into a mass of soft, fluffy, loose curls.

"What makes cookies soft? Will you please print a recipe for soft cookies?" writes Miss N. J.

The softness of cookies depends upon certain ingredients that the dough contains, on the way the ingredients are combined, on the shape and thickness of the cokoy, on the amount of liquid in the dough, and on the baking temperature.

Cookies that contain molasses, honey and fruits—ingredients that contain considerable levulose—are more moist and consequently are softer than cookies that contain only ordinary granulated sugar. Levulose is a kind of sugar that draws moisture to itself, or, as the chemist terms it, a hydroscopic substance. The manner in which dough is combined has a great influence on the resulting softness or crispness. If it is combined like cake it will be more moist than if it is combined like muffin dough. In combining like cake I mean the method that calls for the creaming of the butter and sugar with the flour added to either the butter and sugar mixture or alternately with the liquid.

Cookies that are rolled thin are much more crisp than those that are dropped or rolled and cut thick. Those baked at a high temperature [from 400 to 425 degrees Fahrenheit] are softer than those that are baked in a medium oven at a temperature of 375 degrees Fahrenheit. And the proportion of the liquid that is added also has much to do with the softness. The less flour that is used the softer the cooky.

The recipe given below should produce soft cookies if the directions are followed to the letter.

PLAIN SUGAR COOKIES.

1 cup fat, half butter and half lard
1 1-2 cups granulated sugar
3 cups bread flour
1 egg [medium size]
1 cup buttermilk
½ tsp. soda
½ tsp. vanilla
½ tsp. lemon extract
2 tsp. baking powder

Cream the butter until plastic and gradually add the sugar in four or five portions, creaming thoroughly after each addition. In warm weather it is advisable to stand the mixing bowl in cold water so that the butter does not become oily. When the butter and sugar are well creamed the mass should be light colored and fluffy in texture. Combine the lard with the flour just as you would for pie crust. Combine the butter and sugar mixture with the lard-flour mixture and mix with a fork until the combination is uniform. Chill this fat, flour and sugar mass thoroughly in the refrigerator.

When this is accomplished and cool it is convenient to bake the cookies beat the egg until thick and creamy. Add the soda to the sour milk and beat with the same beater you used for the egg. Then combine egg and milk and beat again. Slowly add the liquid to the chilled mixture, being sure to combine evenly. Drop the dough in small balls about as large as a walnut on the baking sheet. Bake in a hot oven [400 degrees Fahrenheit] to a light golden color. Or a little less buttermilk may be used and the dough may be rolled out to a thickness of ¼ inch and cut into rounds about three inches in diameter. These cookies should not spread very much.

Yield: 6 or 7 dozen cookies, depending on size.

Many Attend Society Event at Aquarium

BY THALIA

SOCIETY, invited by Mrs. John G. Shedd, Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, for a private inspection of the John G. Shedd aquarium on evening, admired the beauties of the aquarium building and gazed with interest at the vast collection of piscatorial specimens housed therein.

Together with Mrs. Shedd and Mrs. Reed were Mr. Schweppe, Stanley Field, and Ernest R. Graham. Following the tour around the spacious marble halls, lined with tanks containing a prodigious variety of fish, ranging from the colorful angel fish, serpents, and sharks of western tropical waters, to the lake perch and sunfish to be found in local waters, the company was served supper from a huge buffet table centered with a fabulous fountain surrounded by hyacinths, tropical lilies, large shells, and coral plants.

Among those present at the festive affair were Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, the latter in an appropriately aquamarine shade of gown and a green straw brimmed hat; Mr. and Mrs. John V. Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William J. Calhoun, Mrs. William C. Pullman, Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Welling, Mrs. Heward Van Doren Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Borland, Mrs. Henry A. Blair and her daughter, Miss Anita Blair; Mrs. John T. McCutcheon, Mrs. Stanley Field, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Walter Gray, Miss J. Browne, George M. Moffett and his daughter, Mrs. Lytton Hinsdale, Mrs. Walter Borden, Mrs. A. A. Carpenter, Mrs. Leverett Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Sisson Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, Mrs. J. M. Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Uri Grannis, Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Hasler, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morton, Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Wood, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Lathrop Mack.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

MRS. JOHN HUNTER M'DOWELL.
[J. D. Tuleff Photo.]

Announcement is made of the marriage on May 16 of Miss Katherine Branigar, daughter of Mrs. Wilbur W. Branigar of Evanston, to John Hunter McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. McDowell of Memphis, Tenn.

Bride-Elect to Be Wed on June 16.

The marriage of Miss Katharine Starkweather, daughter of Mrs. Charles M. Starkweather of Madison, Wis., to Dr. Rodney Starkweather, son of Mrs. Rose H. Starkweather of Evanston, will take place at 10 o'clock the morning of June 16 at the Grace Episcopal church in New York City. The Rev. Felix Kloman is to read the service, and a small reception at the Cosmopolitan club for the immediate families and relatives will follow. Miss Doris Starkweather is to be maid of honor for her future sister-in-law, and Robert Cobb Stockton of Evanston will be Dr. Starkweather's best man. Edgar A. Hill of Lincoln, Gordon Crocker of Philadelphia, and John Nichaus Jr. of Peking are to be ushers. After their marriage Dr. Starkweather and his bride are to live in Philadelphia for the next year while the former completes his work for a master degree at the University of Pennsylvania.

The Misses Michelis are to give a dancing party on Sunday, June 7, at their place out Millburn way. The barns that were burned down some time ago have been rebuilt, and so the party will be in the nature of a barn warming.

Garden Party Saturday.

One of the things in the Lake Forest garden show to be held Saturday and Sunday in the service building of Villa Turicum that I, for one, am going to make a point to look for is little Miss Jane Winston's entry in the class for "arrangement of flowers in a bottle." Miss Jane, Mr. Farwell Winston, has a perfectly marvelous collection of bottles, and whether she has borrowed a number from his vast array or whether she is using a bottle of her very own, her creation should be an interesting one. Mrs. Byron Harvey, Mrs. Donald B. Douglas, Mrs. Laurence Armour, Mrs. Leverett Thompson, and Mrs. Henry Isham are among those who are entering the dinner table class, always one of the popular ones in the show.

One of the innovations this year is a class for centerpieces for special occasions such as Christmas, birthdays, and the like. One entry is to be a dessert table. Mrs. Albert B. Dick Jr. and Mrs. Hale Holden Jr. are in charge of the flower market that will be held at the show instead of in Lake Forest square as it is every Saturday morning. They will have flowers and adorable little potted plants at low prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull Jr. of the Lake Shore drive are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Samuel Insull III., at St. Luke's hospital yesterday morning. The infant is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull and Mrs. Charles I. Pierce, Mrs. Insull having been Adelaide Pierce before her marriage several summers ago.

Visitors and Sundry Other Events.

Visitors briefly—Mrs. Hendricks H. Hannah [Adelaide Chatfield-Taylor] and her two daughters are coming on from Boston to spend the month of June with the Robert G. McGanns in Lake Forest. . . . Mrs. Alice Rodiger Russell of Lake Forest has gone to Hillsboro to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. . . . Among the assortment of things that home dressmakers find useful, there will be on sale at the White Elephant's monthly home dressmakers' sale tomorrow an "exceptionally fine lot of clothes from the home of one of Chicago's most prominent families" [Samuel Chase, good salesman, please]. Shopping source might be obvious, but . . .

Mr. Charles Edward Brown and family were to sail from Italy yesterday, Mrs. Brown having gone over to "collect" her daughter after her winter's schooling. They had a nice trip down to Naples, and will hustle back to Chicago after they land on June 8 to be here in time for the baby's first birthday on the 9th. Mr. Brown and the household will be ensconced in Lake Forest by then.

Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick departed yesterday to sail in a few days for a summer in Europe. She is to be in Paris for a while before going with Mrs. Jacob Baur to the Chateau Garoupe at Antibes, which they are to share again this summer as they did last. Miss Rosemary is to make some visits in London before joining them.

Miss Alice Barler was reflected president at the annual meeting of the Chicago Wells College club. Mrs. Donald Cotton is vice president; Mrs. James Carry, treasurer, and Mrs. Fred Starbuck, secretary. Miss Barler and Mrs. Starbuck are to attend the commencement at Wells on June 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Rowley are being congratulated on the birth of their second son on May 22 at Alice home in Lake Forest. Mrs. Rowley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. L. Curtis, and the baby is to be named Curtis Witbeck [Witbeck was Mrs. Curtis' maiden name]. The baby's grandparents are moving out to their Lake Forest place in June.

Many Parties for Miss Bertha Alling.

Parties for Miss Bertha Alling before her marriage to Charles H. Brown on June 6 include Miss Ruth Holloway's luncheon and handkerchief shower at the Skokie Country club today, Mrs. Wilbur C. Smith's luncheon and stocking shower at the Casino tomorrow, Miss Charlotte Robertson's dinner-dance at the Saddle and Cycle on Saturday evening, Mrs. Henry K. Chapin Jr.'s luncheon at the Lake Shore Athletic club next Monday, Mr. and Mrs. James Hadley's dinner at the Drake a week from tomorrow evening, and the buffet supper Miss Alling's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Wagenen Alling, are to give following the wedding rehearsal at their Lake Forest residence the night before the wedding. Mrs. Ralph C. Otis gave a tea and bathroom shower on Monday afternoon, and yesterday Miss Harriet Clifford gave a luncheon and kitchen shower.

Mrs. Hadley is to be matron of honor and Miss Roberston maid of honor. Mrs. Dunster Lasley and Miss Ruth Baker, cousins of the bride-to-be, will be bridesmaids, and Kathleen Watson is to be flower girl. Walter P. Fraker of Duluth, Minn., will be best man, and the ushers will include Charles D. Fraker of Minneapolis, Paul A. Jenkins, Mr. Hadley, A. R. Peterson of Kenilworth, William N. Wyant of Evanston, and Kingsley Colton.

Like Chicago, Paris Considers Its Reputation

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 26.—M. Clément Vautel, the well known columnist of Le Journal, often uses as a theme the reputation of the French people, and of Paris in particular, among foreigners. In general, he is not at all pleased with the situation as he sees it.

The latest case of the traducing of French character he finds in the posters of a London theater which announce: "A real French show—Une Nuit Excitante." Naturally, I am taking his word for the facts.

Here again, in the substance of M. Vautel's comment, is the old legend of the immoral French. It refuses to die. What on earth, to start with, is une nuit excitante? [The words are French but the collocation is nonsense.] Why present it, whatever it is, as a characteristic specimen of French dramatic art? Obviously it is meant to entice the public with the implication that what they are going to hear is bound to be spicy because it is "guaranteed made in France."

Examining a list of contemporary Parisian theatrical successes, M. Vautel finds that the species to which "Une Nuit Excitante" presumably belongs is not represented. "Topaze is a political and financial comedy—the two adjectives are now inseparable," the writer finds. "Le Sexe Faible" is very free in tone but with a satirical and even moralising intention; other titles might be cited to prove that the French stage does not deserve its reputation for mass-production lewdness.

"Our most modern authors might be said even to be too disposed to depict love for us in a mournful and discouraging aspect. There is nothing frivolous or exciting about them. And the shows where a lot of girls wave their legs around in the air do not succeed—except, perhaps, at the Holborn theater."

Though these may be the cold facts, M. Vautel sees no prospect of killing the legend of the French as the manufacturers of polissonneries. It is too solidly "cemented." Besides, says he, the French have never made a serious effort to spread the truth.

"We incline rather to confirm this legend, one which is so slanderous for the most industrious and the best behaved city in the world and for France, which has certainly remained among all the nations the most attached to the ideals of family and of respectability."

Apparently the reputation that a country, people, or city, has abroad must be, for the mass of mankind, either in black or in white—all virtue or all vice. Any person of sense knows how false this is, no matter what may be the subject, but few people have much sense or else exercise it on a very limited range of objects.

That being the case, would not people of taste and intelligence prefer to be known as gay, even licentious, than as sour and hypocritical? Is this not the lesser of the two evils? Would M. Vautel rejoice if he succeeded, and if, in place of the legend he protests against, another legend took its place—that Paris was as much a scene of mad gayety as Copenhagen, Geneva, or Omaha?

Certainly, Paris is not the world's capital of vice, as people in the sticks and in London still appear to believe. But what dazzling revelation is to be made about the "real" Paris? That at least 99 per cent of its citizens are reasonably sober, punch clocks and lead a normal family life?

M. Vautel, I hope, has noted carefully that the silly poster of which he complains was exhibited in England, and I hope he makes a distinction between Britishers and Americans. I do not doubt that millions of my compatriots, whenever they think of France, have a rather weird image of it, but I maintain that in the year of 1931 a good portion of our public is less naive than the English.

Report Toscanini May Not Conduct Bayreuth Festival

PARIS, May 26.—(AP)—Emil Cooper, conductor of the Chicago Civic opera, said today that the wife of Arturo Toscanini, director of the New York Philharmonic orchestra, told him in a telephone conversation from Milan last night that Sig. Toscanini might not conduct the Bayreuth music festival next month.

After he was connected with the Toscanini residence, Mr. Cooper said, he asked to speak to the conductor. There was several minutes wait and his wife answered: "My husband wants to thank you for the treatment you suggested for his arm. It has done him much good. He wishes to apologize for not coming to the telephone himself, but he is engaged."

WHY TAKE PILLS?

There's no need to drug yourself with laxatives when constipation can be overcome by eating a delicious cereal. Mr. F. C. Aminsen, Kennyhole, Washington, writes:

"I suffered with chronic constipation for many years and was compelled to use pills every night, but since I got your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN it is worth a fortune. I would not be without it. I was an deathly sick of taking pills every night. Now it is so different. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works so naturally and is pleasant to take."

Just eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily. Relief is guaranteed. It is the natural, safe way.

Delicious with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood. In the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THE CLICK OF THE GATE

By Alice Campbell

SYNOPSIS.

Clare, fifteen year old daughter of Iris de Bertincourt, disappears mysteriously. She and her mother lived in a remote section of Paris. Clare attended a school play one evening and was brought home by friends. Her mother heard the car stop in front of the house and Clare's friends bidding her good night, but when she opened the door Clare had vanished.

Iris has been separated for years from her husband, Marcel de Bertincourt, a man of great charm, but no moral sense. They are cousins and the possible heirs of their tyrannical Aunt Victoire, the Comtesse de Castelmarrou.

Iris planned to divorce her husband and marry Maj. Alan Charnwood. Charnwood, about to depart for Africa, has postponed his trip to help Iris.

Iris moves to her aunt's home. When she arrives she learns that her husband is already domiciled there. He seems to have changed in character, and has taken charge of the search for Clare. He has been seeing Clare, unknown to her mother, for some time past, and knows more of the child's life and her friends than Iris.

Alan is refused admittance at the home of the comtesse. Iris sees him secretly and tells him that on account of her aunt's financial assistance she cannot offend her. They plan to meet at Helen Roderick's, the American woman for whom Iris has been working. Alan meets Marcel at Helen's and learns that they are friends unknown to Iris. He recalls having seen Marcel at Le Touquet, gambling heavily, and hobnobbing with a coarse looking couple. Alan runs across an old friend, Tommy Rostetter, a journalist, and asks his help. They drop in a café, where Alan sees the woman who was one of De Bertincourt's companions in Le Touquet. They go to Tommy's apartment. Tommy shows Alan an apartment opposite, formerly Marcel's but now occupied by Suzanne Marly, an actress. As he is leaving, Alan sees Marcel entering Miss Marly's home. Helen tells Alan that she had dinner with Marcel the night Clare disappeared. Alan receives a wire giving him an extra fortnight's leave in Paris.

Iris receives a letter stating that Clare is being held for ransom. Her aunt offers to pay the sum asked if Marcel and Iris will become reconciled.

INSTALLMENT XXXIII.

FEAR OF A MISSTEP.

As Charnwood's arm gathered Iris to him a British spinster pushed her way into the lounge, took a shocked survey of its occupants, and pointedly withdrew, her depature coinciding with the entrance of a West Indian family who swarmed noisily over the room.

"This won't do," muttered Charnwood between his teeth. "Let me get you some brandy, and we'll find a quiet spot elsewhere."

However, she had rallied from her brief collapse, and shook her head firmly.

"Follow me in a taxi to Helen's. I'd rather the chauffeur didn't see us together. I'll explain later."

He obeyed her suggestion and in a quarter of an hour, fired with excitement, joined her in Miss Roderick's salon where, before he could utter a word, she thrust two sheets of lined paper before him.

"I have only a little time, but I must know what you think of this. Quick—they may be searching for me now. I slipped out while the two of them were conferring together."

His first reaction on reading the neatly printed lines was that some one with a distorted idea of humor was playing a joke. Then he woke to the realization that the letter was meant to be taken seriously, that Clare was actually alive, waiting to be rescued. Ransom was a definite thing which could be dealt with. He delayed comment till he had translated the paragraph on the second page, headed "Instructions":

"Here we show the route M. de Bertincourt is to take. He must leave the Porte d'Orleans on Friday evening at ten o'clock sharp, keep to the main road in the direction of Rambouillet, and within the forest, at the point marked X, turn right. Thence he must proceed to point Y, and, leaving the car, go on foot to the bridle path leading into the woods. Along this path he will find a fallen birch, and using the top of the tree as a guide he will find his way through the undergrowth to a ditch, where, about eighteen paces to the right, is a small cavern in the side, hidden by creepers. In this cavern he must place the banknotes, wrapped in a parcel. After this he must return at once, by the same road.

"The spot selected is a lonely one. However, if M. de Bertincourt should see any one he is to walk on quietly till the coast is clear. If he attempts to bring a companion or to have the place watched by the police we shall know."

Barely had he taken in the meaning of the last words when Iris held out Clare's medal and the lock of hair for him to see. At this visible proof he felt his skin prickle, for the first time realising that the girl was in truth a prisoner. What her state of mind must be he shuddered to think, but before he could make any remark Iris' fingers closed tightly on his arm.

"Alan, listen! Tante Victoire declared at once she would pay the ransom, but since then she had been thinking it over and wants to do something to trap these criminals. She's talked Marcel round, and while he's as terrified as I am of running any risk, he's fallen in with her idea—perhaps to please her. I don't know. They both declare these threats are meant only to scare us, but I—O, how can one tell whether that is so or not?"

He saw plainly the chasm which yawned between the present moment and Clare's recovery, also that Iris was badly worried over the possibility of a misstep.

"You are right—they probably won't do anything, but one can't be sure." He himself had a strong distaste to being bulldozed into any course of action, yet he could not help knowing that occasionally a kidnaped victim was mistreated or even put out of the way. The criminals themselves were aware of this and probably knew they could rely on that fact to insure obedience. His mind was busy with the question of the scoundrels' identity as he went on. "Yes, it's difficult to treat an affair of this kind in cold blood, but I think your aunt will see that as well as we do. For one thing, it seems pretty obvious that whoever is doing this had intimate knowledge of Clare's movements, therefore it may be some one close at hand."

"Exactly!" she cried eagerly. "Why, who knows but what it may be one of the servants in the house?"

"Is there any one you suspect?" he asked sharply.

She hesitated. "Not definitely. Ursule, who had the greatest opportunity, is out of the question, and the only others who might have overheard Clare's plans are Charles, the footman; Annette, a housemaid, and the chauffeur, all of whom are recent acquisitions. The chauffeur seems the most likely. That is why I didn't want him to know I was communicating with you. He drove Clare and Ursule to Madame Weber's, you know."

"What is this man like?"

"Superior-looking—might almost pass for a gentleman—about thirty-five. Wears English clothes, and speaks English. He comes from Jersey and has worked in London."

Charnwood was examining the envelope. "Here's one proof that the authors of this know more than they could have learned through the newspapers," he exclaimed suddenly. "This is addressed to the Rue de Babylone instead of to your own house."

"But that isn't all," she lowered her voice. "What should you say if I told you Tante Victoire had just sold a large block of shares with the result that she had rather more than three million francs lying idle at the bank?"

"How do you know this?" he cried, startled. "You are sure?"

"She mentioned it herself. It seems a strange coincidence, to say the least."

There was a singing in his ears. Tommy's almost forgotten hints rushed before him together with the realization that events had come about exactly as his friend had said they might. Nothing had happened till it was assumed he, Charnwood, was on his way to Africa, then at once, like a thunderclap, this letter had arrived! He scarcely heard Iris' trembling voice as she said earnestly:

"Right or wrong, I mean to keep possession of this paper till the last possible moment. Without it my aunt can make no move. After all, Clare's safety is all that matters. If they won't see the danger, I must do what I can to prevent them doing mischief!"

Queer thoughts raced through his head. Suppose it was the comtesse who was responsible. If so, her desire to inform the police was a blind, intended to divert suspicion. The danger in such a case was imaginary, but he could not tell Iris this. Besides it was a bit fantastic. He did not really believe it. . . .

He was roused by a new note in Iris' voice, diffident, apologetic.

"You recall what I said the other day about what we had to expect from Tante Victoire? Well, it has turned out just as I warned you—only worse."

His face hardened, his eyes searched hers. "She's demanding a return, I suppose?"

"She calls the money a gift, but she has exacted a promise from Marcel and me. We could neither of us refuse."

"Then you have got to live together again?"

She nodded; her head sunk low. In the silence which ensued nothing was heard save the hooting of motor horns up and down the quai below.

Instead of being crushed by this blow, Charnwood felt a tingling elation like a call to arms.

"And your husband? What does he think of it?"

She gave a weary shrug. "He must dislike it as much as I do. Like me, he puts Clare before everything personal. I think he is trying to hide his real feelings out of kindness to me."

He fancied she was touched by her husband's consideration. Once more, he told himself, de Bertincourt had scored. . . .

"You could have refused."

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Baby Carriage Needed.

"We would appreciate it if one of your kind readers would give a discarded baby buggy to a family very much in need of it. The man has had no work for over a year and the oldest baby is only fourteen months old. A large buggy would be welcome, as the fourteen months old child is barely able to walk. C. M."

If your young son or daughter has outgrown his carriage won't you give it to this family? The poor mother will be heavily burdened with the care of two such tiny children and a carriage would be an immense help to her.

Health for Young Mother Now Made Easily Obtainable

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday's article ended with the advice, "Don't let any one—old fashioned, ignorant, superstitious or overly economical—dissuade you from obtaining the best advice on taking care of yourself during pregnancy."

If you can afford it put yourself immediately under the care of a good doctor who will give you the advice and attention you need during that time. If you are in modest circumstances, if you are really poor, if the unemployment situation has affected your income, none of those is a reason for either you or your baby to suffer from lack of care or advice.

In the first place, there is fine and simple reading matter obtainable free or at small cost. Some of this reading matter is in the form of booklets prepared by the federal and also the state governments. These booklets contain detailed directions for diet and exercise and other care, as well as explanations that are enlightening to expectant mothers.

A list of these booklets and how to obtain them will be sent by this department on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Also in our "Sex Education" booklet there are references to leaflets, or short books which tell about the beginning of human life.

Besides informing herself in this way a woman should take advantage of the many means at her command for obtaining medical advice at little or no cost. Sometimes this service is for pre-natal care only. Sometimes it is for the lying-in period. Then there are clinics for post-natal care—that is, of course, of the mother and baby after birth. Still other hospital arrangements cover both the pre-natal period and the confinement. The cost of these services varies.

Suggestions for the expectant mother's help in obtaining this medical advice will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Moment Will Live Forever.

I was late in getting home from school one day and was in a hurry. Nearing my station, I hurriedly began to pick up my belongings, among them my lunch box.

The train came to a sudden stop and I lurched forward. My lunch box fell open and orange peels, bread crusts, crumpled papers, and many crumbs went spilling all over the aisle. I shall never live long enough to forget that terrible moment.

Gray, Blue Favored Color Combination

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—I, for one, have heard too much about heavy wool keeping you cooler in summer than sheer cotton. And that goes for the superior refreshing powers of hot tea over cool drinks when the thermometer sky rockets, too! I have noticed, by the way, that the advocates of both tea and woolen are usually French or English, and you can't blame them, for their summer so often "falls on a Thursday."

In America, however, or in Biarritz or San Juan or Cannes, where Parisiennes have taken to pursuing the sun, one is apt to get "all het up" over sports, and so a sports outfit in cotton with Paris chic, like the Schiaparelli ensemble sketched today is greeted with hearty cheers.

Schiaparelli makes it in cotton serge, irregularly striped in gray and royal blue, which combination is a favorite with style leaders here now. And so as to please both "hot and cold" warm weather fans, she gives it hand knitted, wide ribbed trimmings of royal blue wool.

Unpressed plaits flare the skirt from the knees in front, while the back is plain. It has a snug fitting hip yoke of the blue knitted wool. The collarless cardigan jacket has knitted wool pockets and scarf. The sleeveless inside blouse of the striped cotton has a square yoke of the knitted wool, also.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Farmers in Cook county have established a new cooperative buying organization which in two months' time has transacted $12,000 worth of business, the goal that was set by the Cook County Farm bureau as a probable total for the entire 1931 business of the new organization.

The cooperative is known as the Cook County Gardeners' Supply company. Its purposes are to supply quality insecticides, seeds and small truck farming implements to its members and to other farmers. Nonmembers, however, do not share in rebates expected to be built up through profits in selling the commodities.

According to O. G. Barrett, farm adviser of the county farm bureau, one of the most satisfying realizations of the new supply agency is its ability to advise suitable insecticides and methods of application. As a result, farmers have ascertained the identity of certain pests on their young plantings and in some cases have been relieved of anxiety when it has been shown that some insects inflict no damage on plants whereas others may destroy prospective crops and profits.

"There is no feeling of downheartedness apparent," says Mr. Barrett. "It is true that some prices are not as high as they have been, but this has seemed to bring an attitude tending towards businesslike production and the truck farmers are evidencing a feeling of satisfaction that they have an industry that will endure."

Deny Foreign Countries Are Delaying Fair Plans

Officials of the 1933 Century of Progress yesterday denied reports that certain foreign powers are withholding their acceptances to participate until action is taken on the appropriation bill which would finance the United States government's exhibit. Explanation was made that several countries had not had time to complete plans for their exhibits since the international bureau on conventions gave approval to continental participation last January.

Gen. Butler Is Guest of Rotary Club at Memorial Meeting

Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler of the United States Marine corps, yesterday was the guest at a Memorial day meeting of the Rotary club of Chicago at the Hotel Sherman. He urged "proper respect for the men who wore the uniforms of our country and the dutiful observance of Memorial day."

A minor accident marked the arrival of the general at the Northwestern station. Col. M. M. Keck, officer greeting Butler, stumbled and fell down a flight of stairs, carrying the general's bags after him. Col. Keck suffered slight bruises and, after brushing his formerly immaculate uniform, announced himself ready to proceed. The bags were given to a porter.

Gen. Butler said that he is on his way to Washington following a visit to Salem, Ore., where he conferred with police officials there regarding a reorganization of the local police force.

Don't be deceived

by outward resemblance to Kotex

Surface resemblance to Kotex may cloak careless manufacture . . . therein lies the danger in accepting substitutes

THE great value of Kotex . . . to women with high standards . . . is its absolute cleanliness. It's so much more than surface-clean. Kotex is made clean . . . by modern, sanitary methods, which eliminate any possibility of careless handling. Kotex is really, hygienically, clean.

Unfortunately, this care in making cannot be shown in any outward way. So thoughtless shoppers may be deceived, when offered a substitute that looks like Kotex. This resemblance proves nothing. It's easy to make a pad that looks like Kotex. You want much more—your health requires the hygienic safety of Kotex.

So, when offered a substitute, demand more than surface likeness to Kotex. Ask how this substitute was made . . . where . . . by whom. Ask who guarantees its hygienic safety . . . its health protection.

Hospitals use Kotex

Then why should you take chances? You might save a few pennies . . . but the risk is not worth while. You know Kotex is safe. Hospitals use it—they bought over 10,000,000 pads last year—what stronger proof of Kotex superiority could you have?

Kotex protects your comfort in every way, as well as your health. It is made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding, a wonderful substance that absorbs moisture away from the surface, leaving it soft and delicate. Kotex is adjustable. Shaped to fit. Treated to deodorize.

Kotex Company, Chicago.

IN HOSPITALS . . .

1—The Kotex absorbent is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.

2—Kotex is soft . . . Not merely an apparent softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

Brings new ideals of sanitary comfort! Woven to fit by an entirely new patented process. Firm yet light; will not curl; perfect-fitting.

F. C. HOLLISTER CRITICALLY HURT BY AUTOMOBILE

Struck by Neighbor's Car Near His Home.

Franklin C. Hollister, 45 years old, advertising printer and publisher of hospital literature, was critically injured last night when struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Chris Rasmussen, 34 years old, 561 Roscoe street, wife of a contractor. The accident occurred when Mr. Hollister stepped from a friend's car at Sheridan road and Roscoe street.

Mr. Hollister was taken to the John J. Murphy hospital by Mrs. Rasmussen and a Lincoln park police officer. It was found to be suffering from multiple contusions of the scalp and shock. Despite the advice of Dr. Arthur McAuley, he insisted on returning to his home, 533 Roscoe street.

Falls Unconscious.

When he reached the porch of his home Mr. Hollister fell to the floor unconscious. His brother, William, with whom he was living, called Dr. Robert Mengies, who found Mr. Hollister's condition so serious that it was impossible to remove him again to the hospital. At a late hour last night he had not regained consciousness.

Mr. Hollister had been living with his brother since the murder of his wife, Bessie, in 1926. Richard G. Hall, who committed the crime, confessed to be one of the most brutal in Chicago's history, was hanged. For many years Mr. Hollister has been prominent in religious work.

Auto Kills Child.

Justine Fabrini, 7 years old, 1117 Taylor street, was struck by a hit-and-run motorist and fatally injured last night as she ran out into the street in front of her home to retrieve a ball. She died later at the Mother Cabrini hospital.

Fred C. Haas, 65 years old, 2504 Lytton place, died yesterday in the Lytton hospital of injuries received today when he was run over by an automobile while at work in a garage at 3041 Milwaukee avenue. The car was being driven in reverse by William Harden, 3704 North Whipple street, a mechanic.

ROBBERS HELD TO JURY; BONDS SET AT $275,000

Hearings were held to the grand jury on bonds totaling $275,000 for Matthew D. Hartigan, in police court yesterday after 46 victims had appeared as witnesses against the men. They are Paul Jozaklewicz, 22, of 6206 North Laramie avenue, and Wilson Stockfield, 24 years old, of 4015 North Albany avenue.

Men Act to Make Chicago Sausage Minded

Efforts to become thoroughly sausage and sausage-minded if a plan inaugurated last night is successful. The program was arranged at a meeting of 2,000 butchers, wholesalers, sausage manufacturers and packers at the Stock Yards. They plan a 20 weeks campaign of advertising. The purpose is to promote sausage eating. Commissioner Bundesen was present at the meeting and he praised the packers for their cooperation in enforcing the sanitary code.

$40,000 BONDS.

Two men, 21 years old, and Carl Ross, were held to the grand jury in bonds of $20,000 each by Municipal Judge Harrison in the Felony court yesterday. They were arrested last week by Sheriff's detectives and confessed to 100 drug stores.

WIFE KILLS SELF AS MATE SPEEDS TO HER BY PLANE

Mrs. Ellbogen, 37 years old, 4725 Drexel boulevard, leaped to death yesterday from the 12th floor of an apartment building at 5000 Cornell avenue while her husband, Albert Ellbogen, president of a wholesale jewelry concern at 55 East Washington street, was racing home in an airplane from Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Ellbogen had suffered a nervous breakdown some time ago and her condition had become more serious since her husband's departure for Kansas City on a business trip. Relatives notified him of the change and he boarded an airplane yesterday morning to hasten to her side. The plane arrived a few hours too late.

Mrs. Ellbogen, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Phyllis Frieler, had gone to call on Mrs. L. Albert Raum, who resides at 5000 Cornell avenue. While the women were chatting, Mrs. Ellbogen excused herself for a moment, went into a bedroom where she opened a window, climbed out on a fire escape and leaped. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide while despondent. Mrs. Ellbogen was the mother of two children, Marion, 11 years old, and David, 9.

PINNED BENEATH 2,000 POUND ROCK; RESCUED ALIVE

Lowell, Mass., May 26.—(AP)—Two companies of firemen, four squads of police and a derrick from the water department were pressed into service today to release Roger Deering, caught beneath a bowlder weighing 2,000 to 3,000 pounds. Deering, who is 27, was digging out the huge rock in his back yard when it slipped, pinning him beneath, but not crushing him.

Firemen, policemen and water department employés, working to free him, toiled in constant fear that they might release the support that kept the stone from crushing Deering. Meanwhile he aided the rescue workers, directing their efforts.

MAIL OUT PLEA FOR "ANTI-GAG" DOCTORS' TICKET

Go to 4,300 Medical Society Members.

Campaign literature prepared by the "Anti-Gag Rule" party, recently formed by members of the Chicago Medical society as a protest against the ticket nominated by the society council, went into the mails yesterday. addressed to 4,300 members of the society. The annual election of the society will take place on June 16.

The literature contained the names of those nominated "by petition" to the Anti-Gag Rule ticket and was signed by Dr. Thomas P. Foley, Dr. James H. Hutton and Dr. Charles B. Reed. The ticket includes Dr. Herman L. Kretschmer for president, Dr. Charles H. Phifer for secretary, and Dr. John H. Evans, Dr. Charles E. Humiston, Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, Dr. G. Henry Mundt, and Dr. Thomas J. Williams for councillors at large. The candidates for alternates are Dr. C. A. Albrecht, Dr. Julius H. Hess, Dr. E. W. Mosley, Dr. John S. Nagel, and Dr. F. H. Pirnat.

Tell Purpose of Ticket.

The literature declares the Anti-Gag Rule ticket to be "for the conservation of ideals and interests of the medical profession."

"This ticket has been nominated because of unwarranted violation of rules and regulations observed unbrokenly since the foundation of the Chicago Medical society," the statement says. "Never before has the right to nomination in the council been denied to a member of the society. The chairman of the council, accepting dictation from the corporation bloc, ruled that only one candidate could be named as the official council nominee.

Attack on "Gag Rule."

"The first beneficiary of this gag rule was none other than the man who had supervised the constitutional revision, Dr. Edward H. Ochsner. This wanton and flagrant perversion of a fundamental law and custom which has been in force since the organization of the society necessitates the unusual, the expensive and troublesome plan of nominating the ticket by petition.

"Every member of the Medical society should know that this intolerable situation has resulted from pernicious activities of employés, agents or spokesmen of the Standard Oil and of insurance companies and other advocates of the corporate practice of medicine who aim to control the policies and personnel of the society."

FINDS GAS CANS IN DANCE HALL BURNED BY GANG

Paul E. Bertram, chief deputy state fire marshal, made an inspection yesterday of the ruins of the Fox dance hall, on Pistakee bay, in McHenry county, which was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. He found five empty five gallon cans which had contained gasoline and two one gallon cans, all inside the ruins of the building.

Sheriff Lester Edinger informed him he believed the fire was due to business rivalry and he was seeking the incendiary competitors of Charles Weison, who owned the Fox dance hall. The men who burned it kidnaped Thomas Aylward, caretaker, blindfolded him, and drove him to River road and Irving Park boulevard, where he was released.

JOINT COMMITTEE TO DECIDE ON PLAN FOR COUNTY HOSPITAL

After a five hour hearing to decide whether or not the medical staff of the county hospital should be reorganized, Peter M. Kelly, chairman of the hospital committee of the county board, which is conducting the hearing, adjourned the session yesterday, announcing that he would appoint a committee of seven to bring different medical groups to agree on one plan. The result of this attempt will be placed before the county board.

The membership of this committee, Mr. Kelly said, would be made up of two from the Chicago Medical society, which favors a reorganization; two from the local medical schools, and two from the hospital staff, with himself as the chairman.

Dr. Frank Billings, Dr. Ellis K. Kerr, and Dr. Edward Ochsner were among those who spoke for the Chicago Medical society, which maintains that the board should adopt a policy that will allow the expansion of medical student study and practice in the hospital.

STEEPLEJACK, 79, DEAD; VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

New York, May 26.—(AP)—Robert Merrill, a six-footer who in his 79 years climbed flagpoles before sitting on them became a fad, leaped in parachutes before there were airplanes, and at other odd moments harpooned whales and descended to the bottom of the sea, died of pneumonia today in a Coney Island hospital.

While painting the flagpole of the Hotel St. Regis, a job so difficult that many young steeplejacks have turned it down, Merrill on Saturday complained of a pain in his back.

"No one would believe that a man nearly 80 could be a steeplejack, but I've got to live," he would explain.

He was born on a ranch near Tucson, Ariz., his father, a New Bedford whaler, taking up ranching when his crew abandoned ship in San Francisco to join the gold rush back in '49. Soon he was sailing the seas. He got his first job as a steeplejack on a San Francisco church. His parachute jumping, which came some time later, was done at county fairs.

About thirty years ago, while working on the Eiffel tower in Paris, he met the late James Gordon Bennett, who introduced him to the late Cleveland Moffatt, then about to become editor of the New York Herald. Moffatt, he said, later dramatized his exploits in a book.

DENTISTS REJECT ROSENWALD FUND CLINIC PROJECT

A plan for the Chicago Dental society to establish a low cost dental clinic in conjunction with the Julius Rosenwald foundation was rejected last night at a special meeting of the dentists in the auditorium of the Medical and Dental Arts building, 185 North Wabash avenue.

The decision to reject the proposed plan was reached after more than three hours of heated debate, punctuated with charges of attempts to subsidize the dental profession and of domination by capitalism, socialism, and trade unionism.

An effort was made to reject the clinic proposal in its entirety, but this was unsuccessful because the special meeting had been called only to vote on the plan reported by the society's committee on public service and economics.

Opposed to Clinic Plan.

As a result this committee now must develop a new plan for presentation to the society, but the sentiment apparent at last night's meeting indicated that a majority of the dentists are opposed to the establishment of any sort of low cost clinic not entirely controlled by the society.

Under the plan rejected last night, the proposed clinic would be sponsored at its start by the Rosenwald fund and would be controlled by a lay board of trustees with a board of six members of the dental society acting only in an advisory capacity. The trustees would establish the fees, salaries and such, while the advisory board would only supervise the selection of the personnel and direct the professional details of the clinic.

"Peril to Private Dentist."

Dr. Gail Hambledon, one of the directors of the society, who led in the opposition, asserted that the private dentist would not be able to compete with a low cost clinic which had the approval of the dental society and advertised its services, while the private dentist was prohibited by his code of ethics from using the same method. He said the plan savored of an attempt of capitalism to get control of the dental profession and standardize it.

Dr. Arthur D. Black, dean of the Northwestern university college of dentistry, and Dr. Herbert E. Phillips, chairman of the fact finding committee named by the American Dental association to study the subject of clinics, argued that the establishment of such clinics is inevitable and contended that the dental society should lead the way and direct the work as a humanitarian measure.

SWEEPSTAKES FRAUDS DRAW FEDERAL FIRE

Million a Year Lost on Fake Tickets.

The sale of fake sweepstakes tickets on horse races run in this country and in England and on the major golf events is costing gullible Americans anxious to get rich quick more than $1,000,000 a year, according to Chicago racing officials.

JOHN SCHANK.

The distribution of the fake tickets has become so widespread that federal, state and postal authorities have started a drive to stamp it out.

Arrests were made in Buffalo yesterday of persons in possession of tickets which bore the inscription "$1,000 Windsor, Ont., Trades and Labor Council Fourth Charity Sweepstakes" on a race scheduled to be run at the Windsor track on July 3.

Withhold Race Dates.

More arrests, it is reported, may be made in Chicago and other cities soon for the sale of fake sweepstake tickets has become such a menace in Chicago that race tracks are finding it necessary to withhold the dates on which their big stake races are run.

Arlington Park, the Chicago track operated by a group of Chicago millionaires as a sporting venture, has not named the date for the running of the Arlington Classic, which will be the richest 3 year old race run in the world this year, "because we don't want a lot of tickets on fake sweepstakes sold on it," an official of the Arlington Jockey club said last night.

So many letters from people who had bought tickets on fake Kentucky Derby sweepstakes were sent to the Churchill Downs race track at Louisville that Col. Matt J. Winn, president of the American Turf association, appealed to the postal authorities to halt the transfer of the tickets in the mails.

Gold Cup Date Secret.

Officials of the Hawthorne track have refused to name the date for the running of the Hawthorne Gold Cup. John Schank, president of Hawthorne, said the date has been withheld to thwart the operators of fake sweepstakes.

"Lately Chicago has been flooded with sweepstakes tickets on the running of the English Derby at Epsom next June. Some of these tickets are inscribed "Army and Navy Veterans of Canada $1,000,000 Subscription fund, the Derby at Epsom." Others are inscribed "Irish Free State Hospitals Sweepstakes." Most of them were sold at one and two dollars a ticket.

"Ninety-nine per cent of the tickets are fakes," a federal official working on the sweepstakes frauds, said last night. "Many were printed in Chicago. Persons who have bought them have purchased just so many scraps of paper."

There may be a few genuine sweepstakes tickets held in Chicago on the running of the English Derby, the federal official pointed out. "But such tickets were bought in England or in Canada," he continued.

Warns of Golf Pools.

"Each year a gang of betting thieves in England mails thousands of circulars inviting people in America to bet on British open golf and tennis championships," the Englishman wrote. "Thousands of dollars have been cabled to a bank for these bogus bets. They abscond before the finals are played and they never pay the winners. Last year this gang of thieves robbed Americans of more than $50,000 which had been bet on Bobby Jones to win the British open golf tournament."

WILSON TRIES TO FINISH JOB WITH HIS FISTS

Spiking of Grimm Arouses Hack.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., May 26.—Hack Wilson this afternoon emerged from his semi-retirement in the darkest recesses of the dugout to give much color to an afternoon that otherwise was somewhat colorless, even though our Cubs whittled out a double victory over the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 2, in the first game, and 9 to 6 in the sundown feature.

HACK WILSON.

Hack didn't get in the lineup. His appearance was for the purpose of challenging the entire Cincinnati personnel to fisticuffs. It was not the first time that Mr. Wilson has offered to whip the entire Cincinnati team and it will be recalled that he holds actual decisions over several Red athletes, past and present.

Hack Charges to Rescue.

Hack's grand entrance today was in the third inning of the second game. Charley Grimm was spiked by Eddie Roush and Grimm charged that Eddie did it on purpose. Eddie asked Grimm to repeat the charge, saying it would win him a bust on the nose. Since his benching Hack had been the most obscure figure in the history of dugouts. But he was near enough to hear what Eddie said about busting Charley.

Out charged Hack, with every athlete in the park and all three umpires in hot pursuit. The calmer heads could not head Hack before he addressed the following remarks to the dark skinned Cincinnati outfielder:

"It is not my purpose to pick on broken down old men," said Hack with more or less dignity. "But I urge you to pick five of your teammates for your side and I will thrash the whole delegation."

Roush Led Away.

Fortunately Roush was not as foolhardy as Ray Kolp, Pete Donohue, and the Chicago milkman and was willing to be led away by the umpires, but was warned by his fellows to stay out of all depots in which there is any chance of meeting up with Wilson.

But getting back to what the Cubs did in their regular sport. The two victories enabled the Cubs to gain two full games on the Braves, whom they now trail in the league standing by only a half game. They maintained their range with the Giants and gained a half game on the Cardinals.

Seven Straight from Reds.

The Cubs now have won seven games out of seven played with the Reds, which is pretty nice when you consider that the Cubs' victory total is 16 games. Bob Smith registered his third victory of the season in the first game and Root grabbed off his No. 4 as a relief performer for Baecht in the second game.

The main batting was done by Stephenson, Hornsby, and Jurges. Stevie had two triples and two singles for his day's showing. Hornsby had two doubles and a single. Rogers scored five runs, two in the first game and three in the second. Jurges had two singles, a double and two sacrifices.

The teams will play one game tomorrow. Malone will pitch against Lucas.

FIRST GAME

Much as we like to display enthusiasm in the great national pastime, frankness prompts us to remark that the first meeting of the afternoon was just another ball game, made ordinary by inexcusable lapses on the part of the Reds. This is not to detract from the glory of the Cubs' victory, for they would have won by a close score even though the Reds had played wide awake baseball.

All the Cubs' runs except the one in the ninth were made after two were out. The first three Cub runs, the ones they needed to accomplish victory, were scored in the fourth and sixth innings because Earl Grace drew passes to keep rallies alive. If the Reds could have retired the young Cub catcher instead of habitually walking him, those first three runs would not have scored. Moreover, Earl walked for the third successive time to start the eighth and later scored.

Watch Pop Fly Drop for Hit.

It was to the credit of Grace that he was able to draw passes in the early crucial spots, but the futility of the Reds was emphasized throughout.

The break of the game, however, was much more distressing to the Cincy customers than the aforementioned careless pitching. With men on first and second and two out in the sixth, when the Cubs were trailing, 2 to 1, Heathcote, Cuccinello and Roettger permitted Grimm's pop fly to drop among them. This enabled Grace to score from second and Jurges to race clear in from first. It wasn't much of a ball game after that.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

LETTER FROM A FAN.

DEAR WAKE: For years I have been a White Sox fan of the breed which sticks to our team, win or lose. Therefore the present situation in which our team is showing some promise while the usually chesty Cub followers are busy explaining or knocking just about suits me. But I'm beginning to doubt very much whether those north side fans are good sports.

When the Cubs are up on top, fine and dandy. Let them slump or let any individual, like Hack Wilson, fall off in batting and they're in for a fine panning and perhaps a few lemons thrown out on the playing field. I don't think that helps a team. They get all the riding they need when away from home. I think the boys play better when they know the home crowd is for them all the time, whether winning or losing.

I don't see many north side games. Even if I did I wouldn't know whether Hornsby is a good manager or McCarthy was a better one. Hornsby has not had long enough yet to prove either contention. So far as personal playing is concerned, he's certainly doing his share.

If those fellows in Cub uniforms wore White Sox uniforms we'd treat them better. I'd like to hear what some of those lemon throwers have to say about their attitude. It's a state of mind we south siders cannot understand. Meantime, we are doing very well, thank you, and Donie Bush is guiding a team which may get somewhere in the future.

DRIVER, MECHANIC DIE IN TEST FOR 500 MILE RACE

Indianapolis, Ind., May 26.—[Special.]—Joe Caccia, 32 years old, Bryn Mawr, Pa., a racing driver, and his mechanician, Clarence Grover, 23 years old, Haverford, Pa., were killed today in the sixth accident which has marked the preliminaries to the Memorial day 500 mile automobile race at the Speedway.

The men were trying out a special rear drive car which Caccia built here early this year especially for the race. They had made several spins around the two and a half mile track when apparently the drive shaft broke and threw the car out of control. Caccia made the first south turn successfully, but although wheel tracks showed he had applied his brakes for 150 feet, the car climbed up the southeast turn and toppled over the embankment,

GOLF IN CHICAGO IS SUBJECT FOR EVOLUTION STUDY

District Association Has Played Big Part.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Any day now some smart college professor is likely to see how the development of golf in and around Chicago provides material for a thesis on evolution. Since the turn of the century, the game has grown and changed until now it has become big business, involving investments of millions.

Tournaments are run off like clockwork, whereas in the past competition for the ordinary player consisted in an occasional bet that he would sink a four foot putt or break 100. Thousands of golfers now have their play analyzed by a committee which allots them handicaps with all the precision of a master clocker rating race horses.

Peabody Forms Association.

Golf in the Chicago district began to assume its present form in 1913 when Francis S. Peabody, who was then president of the Hinsdale Country club, got the idea of forming what is known now as the Chicago District Golf association. Peabody at the time was a member of five golf clubs and was in a position to compare the workings of the different organizations.

He invited representatives of about a dozen clubs to a dinner at Hinsdale and talked over plans for an organization which would make the game more interesting by conducting tournaments for players of every grade. He also hoped to improve the conditions under which the caddies worked.

Evans Wins C. D. G. A. Opener.

The following spring his idea blossomed into the Chicago District Golf association, with a membership composed of Beverly, Calumet, Chicago, Edgewater, Evanston, Exmoor, Glen Oak, Glen View, Hinsdale, Homewood, Idlewild, Lake Shore, La Grange, Old Elm, Onwentsia, Park Ridge, Ravisloe, Skokie, Westward Ho, Evanston, Wheaton, Windsor, and Winnetka.

The first C. D. G. A. amateur tournament was held that summer at Ravisloe, Chick Evans being victorious. A team was organized for competition at other golf centers and the first caddy tournament brought a new interest for the boys who carry the bags.

Now approximately 30,000 golfers are members of the 65 clubs affiliated with the C. D. G. A., and the organization is planning 18 tournaments for this season.

The association will supervise the qualifying round of the national open, will put on its own Chicago district meet, and has perfected plans for conducting a representative Illinois state amateur tournament, something which has never been done in the past.

Sweep All Flashes His Derby Speed to Win at Homewood

BY FRENCH LANE.

There's no question about Twenty Grand being a great race horse. Neither is there any doubt about his having beaten plenty of class when he scored his record smashing victory in the Kentucky Derby.

C. V. WHITNEY.

The running of the Olympia Fields handicap at Washington Park yesterday brought the proof, for Sweep All, which had trailed Twenty Grand home in the Derby, performed so brilliantly that he made a runaway of the race. He was the winner by five lengths.

He ran the same sort of a race he did in the Derby. He was out with the leaders throughout the early stages. He had his field—including the good handicap horse Bargello from Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's stable—smothered soon after the drive down the stretch started.

There was no Twenty Grand to pick him up in the late stages. The three other starters tried it, but they made no headway.

Sweep All ran his mile in 1:38 3-5. He stepped the first three-quarters in 1:11 4-5, the speediest journey that has been taken over the Washington Park strip this season.

Sweep All had plenty of backers. He paid slightly better than 6 to 5, but won like a 1 to 2 shot. Nostaw was second and Maya third, but too far back for the crowd to know they were even in the race. Bargello was so soundly beaten he wound up last.

Two long shots scored during the afternoon. They were Flying, a 2 year old owned by William Zeigler Jr. of New York, and Gold Step, quite a star at the Aurora meeting.

Flying, a daughter of Star Master and Falconry, surely lived up to her name. With old Jimmy Smith in the saddle to steady her she bounced right out in front and nobody even caught her, although Anita Ormont came mighty near doing it in the final strides. But Flying won and paid $116.18 to win, $60.90 to place, and $34.84 to show.

Thirty minutes later came Gold Step's unexpected triumph. He paid $41.12 to win and got the decision by a length from Chimney Sweep the favorite. There was plenty of rough riding. Chiavetta on Tombereau did a lot of it. Gold Step, ridden by J. McCoy, was swerving in and out as he came down the stretch. Cunningham, on No More, was also doing some cowboy stuff. Chimney Sweep was the sufferer and was probably the best horse, but didn't seem to to be able to escape any of the pushing and crowding.

One of those popular Bradley victories came in the second race when Burgoo carried the Green and White Bradley jacket to victory. Burgoo had been stoutly backed, but paid 4 to 1, and the old rebel cheer went up when the son of North Star III.-Breakfast Bell got the decision. First time this year in Chicago the Bradley followers had a chance to celebrate. Old Jimmy Smith rode a great race.

A half dozen western candidates for the American Derby are coming together in the Windy City purse at a mile this afternoon. Kentucky's newest three year old sensation, Scotland's Glory, will get a test against Pittsburgher, Burning Up, Sunny Lassie, The Mongol and Chief John. Jim Moody, who trains Pittsburgher, told me his big horse would win in a canter. But Jim told me a couple of days before the running of the Kentucky Derby that Pittsburgher would do the same thing in that race. He didn't.

The Pacific coast two year old, Nevada Queen, also will see action this afternoon in the Blue Bells purse for two year old fillies. Far westerners here for the Washington Park meeting say she will be front in by ten lengths before they've gone a furlong. Johnny Schorr, who trains Edward B. McLean's At Sunrise, says Nevada Queen won't know what's going on when At Sunrise dashes past her in the stretch. Kay Spence is sure he has a couple of pretty good fillies in the race in Deenie and Sans Coin. Folks around Joe Leiter's barn say Princess Ivra, winner of the Hinata stakes at Lexington, can't lose the heat. That's what makes horse racing. Looks like anything but a soft spot for Nevada Queen to make her Chicago debut.

OWNERS MEET TODAY TO ELECT A. L. PRESIDENT

Cleveland, O., May 26.—(AP)—American league club owners will meet in Cleveland tomorrow to elect a new president, probably William Harridge, and to ferret out all the complaints that have been leveled against the circuit's umpires this season.

There wasn't much doubt tonight that Harridge, secretary of the league and a silent power in its workings for almost a quarter of a century, would be named to succeed the late president, Ernest S. Barnard, although the general opinion was that he would be named only to serve in that capacity until the regular league meeting in December. Such an election would give Harridge plenty of room and time to prove his fitness and ability for the post.

UHLE'S LUCK IS SOX BAD LUCK; TIGERS WIN, 4 TO 2

Detroit Pitcher Pounds Homer with One On.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The luck of some people is the misfortune of others. George Uhle, more or less seasoned as a major league campaigner, had all of the former yesterday. Naturally, the White Sox enjoyed only the latter. Hence they were defeated, 4 to 2, in the opener against Detroit's Tigers. Along with his luck Uhle also carried a big bat which he used to slam a ball out of the park while a mate was on base, thus supplying the difference in the run totals of the two teams.

Fickle lady luck's consistent patronage of the veteran Uhle was evident in all except two of the nine innings. In seven of them, because of hits, Tiger errors or something else, the home team had men on two of the bases, but from all these possibilities only two runs were obtained. Some of this meager production was caused by three double plays behind the Tiger pitcher. And in one instance, the ninth, the Sox themselves aided him by their own blundering.

Base Running No Help.

The 42 year old Red Faber started for the Sox but was absent long before a bad piece of base running by one of his pals brought on the conclusion. The survivor of the rapidly dwindling breed of spitball pitchers went along for a while as if the warm weather had rejuvenated his arm, but the show ended for him suddenly in the fourth when, after one run had already scored, Uhle uncorked his knockout home run. After this Braxton pitched and the Tigers accomplished nothing except a run in the ninth.

The two ex-Tigers, Blue and Fothergill, were the cause of a Sox run in the opening inning. Blue's contribution was a looping single to right. Watwood sacrificed and Fonseca grounded out by way of short. Then Fothergil lined safely into center. Bob got ambitious over his hit and decided he'd attempt to stretch it into a double. He was out, but Umpire Campbell had to reverse the decision when McManus dropped the throw from Doljack. The error didn't help, because Simons was unable to produce.

Uhle Hits Homer.

Faber managed the situation fairly well for three innings but that was as far as he could go. Doljack popped open the fourth by lining to left for two bases and Owen's bunt put him on third. Cissell dashed back into left field for a brilliant catch of Akers' popup, but before he could turn and throw the ball back to the plate Doljack scored. Then Hayworth

Yanks Halt A's Winning Streak, 6-2

Philadelphia, Pa., May 26.—[Special.]—The Athletics' winning streak of 17 straight stopped here today, Vernon Gomez, young southpaw of the New York Yankees beating the champions, 6 to 2.

Today's setback was the first defeat since May 5. Gomez allowed 7 hits, holding the champions to a lone run until the ninth inning when Al Simmons drove the ball over the left center pavilion for his ninth homer of the season. Simmons continued his streak to 24 consecutive games. Earl Combs ran his record of hitting to 25 straight games.

Eddie Rommell, the A's starting pitcher, was relieved after two innings, yielding three runs. He was charged with the defeat. Babe Ruth hit his seventh home run of the season off McDonald in the sixth. Score:

FINE FEATHERS MAKE FINE RACE FANS IN FLORIDA

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 26.—Possibly he was misquoted, a handy prerogative of the best people who have a tendency to pop off with tactless remarks, but the record of Joseph E. Widener's address before the state legislature of Florida on behalf of the parimutuel bill, which finally passed, is not likely to endear him or his kind to the sort of people who go in overalls with plaster on their shoes, but vote at the polls nevertheless.

In defending the sport of horse racing as something fine and admirable, Mr. Widener produced a photograph of the crowd which attended the running of the Florida Derby in Miami last winter and, passing it around among the members of the legislative committee, called their attention to the wealthy appearance of all present. It was a very refined element, indeed, said he, and a credit to any community, and he then said: "You will see that there is not a poorly dressed person in the crowd."

Poor Folks Will Like That.

That ought to be just dandy with the poorly dressed element, who have always swung a fairly big vote in all countries, and put Mr. Widener in solid as the people's choice. But, at least, Mr. Widener must be given credit for the courage of his opinions. Poorly dressed people are not his sort of people. They haven't the money to attend horse races and bet on them; they can't support a resort of the type of Miami, Fla.; and, except to work for wages clearing the bad lands and building houses, a line which has been projected several years in advance of the demand in Florida, they have little business in such a country.

But, reading Mr. Widener's remarks over again and marveling at the man's candor or his insularity, I am reminded that rags are royal raiment when worn for virtue's sake. The very picture which Mr. Widener passed around among the members of the legislative committee in Tallahassee I have not seen, but I have seen in the favorite journals of horse racing at various times many photographs of well dressed, smiling groups in expensive flannels and Panamas, from which any city detective with a fairly extensive acquaintance among the better known miscreants could pick at least three or four confidence men, wire tappers, master bootleggers and possibly a couple of kidnapers and murderers. I cannot see how Mr. Widener himself, as smart and successful as he is, can help knowing that is so.

Draw a Pretty Picture.

The horse track people, such as the owners of both Whitney stables, Mr. Widener, himself, William Woodward, and so on, all very rich and undeniably honest and refined, are fond of representing racing as the most choosey professional sport in the country.

Mr. Widener would have been quite right if he had told the Florida legislature that the horse people didn't want any of the local, working class population around their horse track at Miami because racing was a sport for people who had, one way or another, acquired plenty of money, and that the other kind, when they took to betting and, of course, losing, only caused trouble. But the point that because the people in the picture were well dressed and therefore generally desirable, considered with the fact that most racketeers command good tailors, was not too well put.

The Commoner, Mr. Bryan, used to preach of Sundays in the public park at Miami, and it is just as well for the horse people that he was not present at Tallahassee to take the floor in defense of those who wear their glory inside. None of us in this country are many generations away from overalls and shoes with plaster on them.

Another interesting remark of Mr. Widener's had to do with the adoption of the modified mutuel system in Miami last winter. His horse track was compelled to substitute the modified mutuels for the New York oral system of betting at the last moment before the start of the winter racing season, and this substitution required them to obtain a layout and pay a royalty of more than $100,000 to the ingenious parties who had devised the system.

When Mr. Widener was asked to say who ordered him to put in the modified mutuels, which he frankly described as a camouflaged mutuel system, he said it was the sheriff of Miami who had sent him the word. This is very interesting. I have always thought that if I were a politician of a certain type the job I would most prefer would be that of sheriff of Miami, Fla.

ARLETT'S 4 HITS HELP PHILLIES BEAT ROBINS, 8-4

Brooklyn Errors, Elliott's Pitching Also Aid.

New York, May 26.—[Special.]—Buzz Arlett of the Phillies was too much for the Brooklyn Robins today. His hitting, three doubles and a single, plus good pitching by Jumbo Jim Elliott and some sour fielding by the Robins gave the Phillies an easy 8 to 4 verdict.

Two Brooklyn second basemen, Finn and Thompson, each made an error. These misplays were good for five unearned runs and it would have taken better pitching than Shaute, Day, Heimach, and Quinn had to offer to win. Score:

GIANTS WIN TWO.

New York, N. Y., May 26.—[Special.]—The New York Giants defeated the Boston Braves in a double header here today before 20,000. Carl Hubbell beat the Braves in the first, 3 to 0, and Bill Walker took them in the second, 4 to 0.

Hubbell allowed but two hits, and except for Wes Schulmerich he would have had a no hit game. Wes made the two hits—both singles. Only 29 men faced Hubbell. Singler by Critz, Allen, and Lindstrom scored two in the third inning. Jackson hit a homer in the seventh. Tom Zachary was the losing pitcher.

Red Sox Beat Senators and Jones, 6 to 4

Boston, Mass., May 26.—[Special.]—Al Van Camp, Urban Pickering, Jack Rothrock and Earl Webb divided the 10 Boston Red Sox hits among themselves this afternoon and defeated the Washington Senators, 6 to 4. In doing so they handed Sad Sam Jones of Washington his first set back of the season, the veteran right hander having previously won four games without a defeat.

The Sox at one time had a 4 to 1 lead, but by the eighth inning the Senators had tied the score, leaving the deciding Sox runs to be counted in the last half of the eighth through a pass to Van Camp and consecutive doubles by Webb and Pickering. Score:

RED WOODWORTH SHUFFLES BOATS FOR GRAND SLAM

Athlete Enters His Fleet in 8 Events of Regatta.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

If Red Woodworth, Northwestern football star who won the Albany-New York Hudson river outboard motor boat marathon recently, has his way, he'll sweep all the the outboard events in THE TRIBUNE races Saturday and Sunday.

PAT PEABODY.

Woodworth has entered the marathon from Milwaukee to Chicago which will be run Saturday morning. Then he also has entered seven outboard races at Navy pier Sunday afternoon. Woodworth owns several motors and boats, or he could not plan a grand slam.

Hans and Fritz on the List.

Red will have plenty of competition, however. The Hans and Fritz combination from Milwaukee, for instance. Hans and Fritz is the name of the boat Fred Mikkelson and Roy Hansen have entered. The two boys always race together and have piled up a number of championships.

In 1930 they won the class F Wisconsin state championship and the midwest championship. They also finished first in classes E and F in the eastern states championships and first in class E in the national races. They were second in class F. They are favorites to win THE TRIBUNE marathon.

R. P. Lott, operations manager for the National Air Transport Co., has entered Class D and E outboard races and the race for the McDonald trophy, emblematic of the amateur championship of the central west.

Cosmopolitan Entry.

S. A. Wagner, of the radio department at the United States Veterans hospital, Hines, Ill., also is an enthusiastic racer and will compete Sunday. The entry list probably is the most cosmopolitan of any sport event ever held. Millionaires and school boys, merchants and bankers have sent in their entry blanks and will compete for the gold and diamond medals which will be awarded for the first three finishers in each of the 14 speed races at the pier.

The outboard entry list is large. But judging from the number of inboard runabout entries the regatta Sunday will have the largest field in any set of races held in this country in the last five years.

Pat Peabody, son of Stuyvesant Peabody, millionaire turf owner, also has entered the inboard races.

Deadline Today.

Today is the last for entries. The regular blank will not be printed after today's paper. Entries postmarked today, however, will be accepted if received tomorrow.

The speed races at Navy pier, approximately a four hour program, will start at 1 o'clock. Each race is five miles, twice around the 2½ mile course north of the pier. One exception is the McDonald trophy race for the amateur championship. This will be contested in two heats over the five mile distance.

50 to Patrol Shore.

Laurance F. Northrup, chairman of the shore patrol, has selected his force of fifty which will patrol on Saturday and Sunday. The patrol committee follows:

Harold Hellman	Babette F. McCall
James Boyce	Clara Spore
Herman Horn	Nell E. Weckler
Frank Sullivan	Josephine Northrup
Frank Hellman	Bernice Northrup
Harper Marston	Genevieve Nolan
Harry Christensen	Josephine Alplanalp
J. E. Wagner	Catherine Callahan
Jack Halperin	Anna Reuter
Leo W. Hanson	Mrs. William Brady
Charles Piper	Helen Wichman
Herman Gutheman	Mable Renahan
Arthur Sullivan	Ann Hawkins
Ray Guthier	Hazel Redmond
Harold Stoll	Edna Corrigan
Charles Harrington	Lucille Moot
Earl Miller	John Northrup
Robert Sullivan	M. W. Ottershagen
Jean Krause	Charles Montgomery
William F. Kasze	Paul Brown
William A. Ryan	Andrew Fosse

Cubs Win Two from Reds; Wilson Goes on Warpath

by the Reds in the first inning on singles by Roettger, Hendrick and Cuccinello. The Red advantage prevailed until the fourth, when Hornsby led off with the first of his two doubles. Stephenson and Cuyler were retired, but Grace walked. Jurges then singled to right center to drive in Hornsby with the tying run. Grimm supplied the third out.

The Reds came back in their end of the fourth and resumed their one run edge. Cuccinello singled and went to second while Grimm was getting an error on Sigafoos' grounder. The runners moved up on Durocher's sacrifice and Cuccinello scored on Sukeforth's long fly to Stephenson.

And here's the way the Cubs put over those two runs in the sixth that decided the outcome: After Stephenson and Cuyler had flied out, Grace walked and went to second while Jurges was beating out a bunt for his second hit. Grimm then sent up a high fly which came down back of second base because the players could not make up their minds about the proper person for the catch. It probably was Cuccinello's ball. As previously described, Grace and Jurges ran home while the ball was in the air, a pleasing bit of speed for Chicago followers to behold.

More Runs in Eighth, Ninth.

The Cubs made a run in the seventh on Hornsby's second double and Stephenson's triple. In the eighth they counted twice on Grace's third walk, a sacrifice by Jurges, and successive singles by Smith, Moore, and English. A walk to Cuyler, a sacrifice by Grace, and an error by Hendrick in the ninth enabled Cuyler to score the Cubs' seventh and last run.

SECOND GAME

The second game was most boisterous at the outset, as witness the fact that at the end of the second inning the Cubs had five runs and the Reds, as a result of a four run outburst in the second inning, were trailing by the minimum margin.

The Cubs got a pair of runs in the first inning on a single by English, an error by Cuccinello and singles by Stephenson and Hartnett. They came back for three more runs in the second inning. Hits by Grimm, Stephenson and Cuyler, intermingled with sacrifices by Baecht and Moore and a walk to Hornsby did the business.

The four runs made by the Reds in their second were the result of four singles and two walks allowed by our loquacious Mr. Baecht.

Neither team scored in the third, though this was the inning the athletes assembled en masse on the field for fighting purposes.

In the fourth, however, the Cubs added a run when Cuyler walked, stole second, went to third on Jurges' out and scored when Blair doubled to left. In their end of the fourth the Reds tied the count and brought about the banishment of the noisy Mr. Baecht. It started with a hit by Durocher and a walk to Asby. Root then went in and the runners moved forward on Ogden's sacrifice. Heathcote fouled to Hartnett, but Sigafoos singled, scoring Durocher and Asby.

Hornsby Breaks Tie.

The Cubs went into the lead again in the fifth when Hornsby scored his third run on Stephenson's third hit of the game and his second triple of the afternoon. Cuyler struck out to end the session. The Cubs put over their eighth run in the sixth on Hartnett's double, a sacrifice by Jurges and a wild pitch.

A single by Hartnett and a wild throw by the pitcher and a double by Jurges gave the Cubs another run in the eighth.

RIGHT.

This shows the finish of a correctly executed wood stroke. Most of the weight is now carried on the left foot, the club has swung around to an approximately horizontal position over the left shoulder, and the body is perfectly balanced.

WRONG.

The beginner has tipped himself awkwardly off balance and the club has assumed a faulty position. This was caused by throwing his shoulders violently into the start of the down swing instead of beginning with a smooth pull of the hands.

Amedio Haiz, Morton hurler, whose pitching arm has been the main factor in Morton's drive toward the title, again starred in yesterday's game. He held Proviso to five hits and struck out ten batters until the fifth inning when he was removed.

Vejeck started the Morton scoring in the first inning when he hit a home run, driving in Krusie, who had tripled.

Western Union Telegraph.

Will you please give me your opinion of Western Union stock. Do you consider the 5s of 1960 a sound investment? Enclosed please find stamped envelope for reply—J. L. S.

Western Union Telegraph company was incorporated in 1851. It operates more than 80 per cent of the land telegraph service in the United States. Through cables and connections it operates communication services to all parts of the world. Other operations include ticker service, messenger service, burglar and fire alarm systems, etc. In July, 1929, it disposed of its assets in the maritime provinces of Canada to Canadian National Telegraph.

Earnings showed marked stability through 1929 but declined sharply in 1930. Reflecting the general reduction in business activity gross operating revenue for 1930 was $130,831,858, against $145,667,196 for 1929.

Net income for 1930 was $9,247,032, or $9.03 per share, against $15,474,893, or $15.12 per share for 1929. Net income for 1928 was $15,467,659, for 1927 $15,020,453 and for 1926 $15,059,049.

Bond interest has been covered by wide margins. Interest was earned 2.83 times in 1930, 5.29 times in 1929 and 5.29 times in 1928.

To provide additional outlets the company has completed negotiations with several chains of gasoline stations whereby the stations will act as Western Union Telegraph company offices.

On expiration of the lease under which the company rented the cable lines of American Telegraph and Cable company its assets were purchased in 1930 for $2,030,000 cash.

Net income for the first quarter of 1931, partly estimated, was $1,378,877, or $1.22 per share on 1,045,586 capital shares. For the like period of 1930 net income was $1,808,751, or $1.77 per share on 1,023,812 shares.

On Dec. 31, 1930, current assets were $39,684,970, and current liabilities were $17,984,648. Cash and marketable securities were $13,320,068. Working capital was $21,700,322, against $8,480,907 the year before.

During 1930 plant improvements totaled $19,344,000. This was financed by an issue of $35,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds.

The 5 per cent bonds, due Dec. 1, 1951, and the 5s due March 1, 1960, are sound.

Florida Power and Light.

I am thinking of buying a Florida Power and Light company 5 per cent bond, due 1954, but I want to get your opinion as to its safety—G. B. W.

Bonds of this issue are considered suitable for a business man's surplus funds.

NEW TREASURY FINANCING DUE ON 1ST OF JUNE

BY O. A. MATHER.

Preliminary notice that the United States government will make another large public offering of securities on June 1 was issued yesterday by the federal reserve banks. The notice went out to banks, trust companies, dealers, and brokers in securities in order to let them arrange to make subscriptions.

While the amount and form of the new offering will not be made known definitely until the formal offering is made by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, the expectation in La Salle street is that the financing is likely to total around $650,000,000, and to be divided into long and short term issue. The new financing will be in addition to the offering of $80,000,000 treasury bills on which bids were asked yesterday. These bills will be sold on a discount basis, will be dated June 1, and will mature in 91 days.

May Utilize Opportunity.

The current abnormal ease in money rates, which results in even the longer term government bonds selling at prices to yield not much over 3 per cent, is basis for the belief that Secretary Mellon will utilize the present favorable opportunity to refund part of the government's maturing obligations in securities of longer maturity. At the same time there is a strong demand for short term obligations and these can probably be floated at interest rates between 1 and 1¼ per cent.

The government has two issues of treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing on June 15. These total about $750,000,000, consisting of about $400,000,000 of 2¾ per cent certificates and around $350,000,000 of 1¾ per cent certificates. The first of these issues was for one year maturity and the second was for six months.

In line with the decline in interest rates the treasury announced that it will require banks which are depositaries for government funds to pay only one-half of 1 per cent in the treasury's daily balances, beginning June 1, instead of 1 per cent now required.

CUT OIL PRICES AGAIN

Further efforts to check oil production in the new flush fields in east Texas were made yesterday by reducing crude oil prices again. The Humble Oil and Refining company inaugurated the movement by slashing prices 10 cents a barrel and the Texas Corporation and the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company company followed suit. The new prices range from 25 cents a barrel for crude oil below 35 gravity to 97 cents for 40 gravity and above.

In announcing the price reductions, President W. S. Farish of the Humble Oil company charged that orders prohibiting production by the Texas authorities have been "obstructed and made ineffective" by Texas officials. It also was charged that the east Texas field is producing almost twice as much oil as permitted under the proration allotment, with the result that there is much distress oil that is being sold below posted prices for mid-continent crude oil.

Output Increases.

Crude oil production for the country as a whole turned upward last week following the sharp decline in the preceding week. The daily gross output totaled 2,437,150 barrels, an increase of 10,350 barrels a day over the previous week, according to the American Petroleum institute. The east Texas field showed an upturn of 41,300 barrels a day and other Texas fields showed lesser increases. All told these increases more than nullified a decrease of 31,350 barrels a day in Oklahoma and small declines in several other fields.

Refiners last week operated at 68.4 per cent of capacity, compared with 69.3 per cent in the previous week, but gasoline in storage totaled 45,449,000 barrels, a decline of 216,000 barrels.

Curtiss-Wright Reports $1,088,124 Quarterly Loss

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 26. — The Curtiss-Wright corporation reported today a net loss of $1,088,124 for the March quarter, compared with a net loss of $1,830,921 for the corresponding three months of last year.

A statement issued by the company said that operations during the first quarter were handicapped as a result of the strike in the plant of Wright Aeronautical corporation in Paterson, N. J., which occurred in December last year and deliveries were also delayed in the case of both the Wright and the Curtiss companies on account of plant consolidation activities that should soon begin to show effect in operating results.

N. Y. Central Assets Total $1,809,785,232 in March

Statement of New York Central as at March 31, filed with the New York state public service commission, shows total assets of $1,809,785,232, against $1,798,603,593 a year previous, and profit and loss surplus of $278,765,944, against $292,124,269. Current assets were $93,162,655 and current liabilities, $80,582,568 compared with $114,545,809 and $94,824,013, respectively, on March 31, 1930.

Realtors O. K. Tax Congress, Credit System

Baltimore, Md., May 26.—(AP)—Proposals for a national tax congress and a new long term credit system to finance home buyers over periods of from 15 to 18 years were approved today by the directors of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The proposals, presented by the executive secretary, Herbert U. Nelson of Chicago, will be placed before the association's membership at the annual convention, opening tomorrow, it was announced.

Nelson urged that the association ask President Hoover to establish the tax congress, in which federal, state and municipal governments would be represented, "to collect information and devise proposals for rationalizing the whole tax system and adjusting it more equitably, according to ability to pay."

Long Term Proposal.

The long term credit system suggested "should look to complete ownership through installment payments on principal, not to a mere 50 per cent equity, with a load of fixed charges for the home buyer to carry as long as he lives, which is what home ownership at present in actual practice means," said Nelson.

"A central institution could, and should, be developed by building and loan associations and mortgage companies and banks which would issue its bonds and obligations against their mortgages, thus releasing capital for further loans.

"Its possible scope is indicated by the fact the that the most recent estimate of first mortgages outstanding on urban real estate totals over 25 billion dollars.

"Try and Get It," He Says.

"The president put the entire propaganda force of the government back of a call for home building and wider home ownership," the realtors' secretary said.

"Leading bankers uniformly protest that their institutions stand back of the movement to stimulate construction, if well conceived, as a field for sound long term investment and the best present opening for renewed prosperity, and yet, when it comes to the actual loan—well 'Try and get it.'

"All this does not mean hypocrisy. It means a gap in our existing financial structure."

Combination Investment, Insurance Plan Offered

A combination investment plan, known as the Grizzard Trusteed Investment, designed for estate building through the medium of investment trust and insurance, will be offered today by General Distributors, Inc., of Illinois, subsidiary of General Securities Corporation of America. Two trusts have been chosen to fulfill the investment phase of the program. These are North American Trust Shares, a distributive type trust, and Cumulative Trust Shares, which accumulates capital to a maximum degree. The insurance feature prevails throughout the life of the investment.

N. Y. EXCHANGE TO SMOKE OUT SHORT SELLERS

Seeks to Uncover Bear Raiders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 26.—Apparently in an effort to discover the identity of any short sellers of large blocks of stock and determine whether there has been an attempt to demoralize the market in any stocks, the committee on business conduct of the stock exchange has directed members to file daily reports on borrowings of stock.

The first report, showing the condition as of the close of business yesterday, must be filed by noon on Thursday or Friday, depending upon the distance of the firm from New York.

The inquiry took Wall street by surprise. Not since the violent crash in the autumn of 1929, the first phase of the 1929-'31 bear market, has the exchange circulated such a questionnaire. The current questionnaire is only the third one of that character in stock exchange history. It was first used in 1917.

Require Information.

The questionnaire which has been sent to members follows:

"All members are directed to furnish the following information in regard to stocks listed on the New York Stock exchange, not including odd lots or borrowed or on which there has been a failure to deliver:

"1. A list of all stocks borrowed, from whom, and for whose account.

"2. A list of all stocks loaned and to whom.

"3. Intra-office borrowings and for whose account.

"4. A list of all stock which you have failed to deliver and for whose account."

Members not more than one day's distance by mail from New York must file this information as of May 25 not later than noon on Thursday; other members not later than noon Friday. Subsequent reports of the changes caused by each day's trading must be furnished from day to day until further notice.

What Article Provides.

Article xvii. of the stock exchange constitution provides that "purchases or sales of securities or offers to purchase or sell securities made for the purpose of upsetting the equilibrium of the market and bringing about a condition of demoralization in which prices will not fairly reflect market values are forbidden, and any member who makes or assists in making any such purchases or sales or offers to purchase or sell, with knowledge of the purpose thereof, or who, with such knowledge, shall be a party to or assist in carrying out any plan or scheme for the making of such purchases or sales or offers to purchase or sell, shall be deemed to be guilty of an act inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade."

The penalty for violation of the section may be suspension or expulsion from the exchange.

Bears Borrow Stocks.

The borrowing demand for stocks to meet short or bear sales was large after the close of the market today, indicating little change in the aggregate extent of the bear interest. A total of 24 stocks loaned at premiums, indicating that borrowers were willing to pay for the privilege of borrowing. Ordinarily, a borrower of stocks gets interest on the money which he deposits with the lender rather than paying the lender a premium.

At the close of the market today U. S. Steel common was lending at a premium of 1-16, which means that borrowers were willing to pay 1-16 of a dollar per share per day, in addition to foregoing the interest on the money they deposit with the lenders.

Unfavorable Crop News Lifts Prices of Wheat

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A decided change in the crop comments from the winter wheat belt and dust and drought talk from the Canadian northwest were responsible for a larger trade in wheat futures and a sharp advance in prices yesterday. R. O. Cromwell, the Lamson Bros. & Co. crop observer, who has returned from a trip over Kansas, expressed the belief that the yield there would not exceed that of 158,000,000 bu harvested in 1930, although recent trade estimates have been for around 200,000,000 bu. Unfavorable comment also came from parts of Nebraska, Colorado and Montana and the trade as a whole showed a little more disposition to take the buying side.

Messages from the three Canadian provinces claimed the worst dust storms in years and it was conservatively estimated that about 9,000,000 acres out of the prospective total of 22,000,000 acres in the west needed rain immediately for the new spring wheat crop. Soil blowing was reported over a large area and no relief from the dry weather was in sight, the forecast being for generally fair, with fresh to strong winds in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Showers were in prospect for the Dakotas, but had little effect as a market influence.

Less Pressure on Wheat.

Prospects that the glowing outlook for the new winter wheat crop would have to be revised downward, with general apprehension that the Canadian crop would secure a poor start, brought about a change in sentiment in some quarters and there was materially less pressure on the market than for some time past. Shorts covered freely and there was also commission house and local buying which ran prices up 1⅞@2c from the finish on Monday. Selling against offers checked the advance, but the close was about the top, with net gains of 1⅛@1⅜c, with July, 60⅛@60¼c; September, 59⅝@59¾c, and December, 62⅞@63c.

Evening up operations continue in the May wheat futures, with the old style closing ¼c higher at 82½c, while the new was unchanged at 85c. It is almost impossible to trade in job lots in the latter, according to brokers, which hampers the operations of cash handlers who would like to make a delivery in contract grain in carlots.

Foreign Markets Stronger.

Foreign wheat markets showed relative strength, with Winnipeg closing 1⅝c higher as compared with Saturday, the July being 80½c, while Liverpool was ⅝@1d lower, with July 63½c. The lack of export demand had a tendency to restrict buying of futures at Winnipeg, although that market sent in sensational reports regarding the outlook for the new wheat crop.

Short covering was on in corn in sympathy with the strength in wheat and a strong technical position was disclosed on the way up. September and December sold at a new low for the season at the opening, but there was no material pressure, and an advance was easily attained, prices at the top showing 1¼@1⅝c over the early low, with the finish at net gains of ⅛@1⅜c, with July leading. May closed at 55⅝c; July, 56¼@56⅝c; September, 53⅝@53¾c, and December, 47¾@47½c.

Favorable to Corn.

Weather conditions over the corn belt were favorable for the completion of planting, while in parts of Iowa cultivation of the new crop was under way. Shipping demand remains slow and country offerings are small.

Trade in oats was somewhat larger than of late, with commission houses and locals fair buyers on the strength in other grains, and the close was ⅛@⅜c higher, with May leading. The latter finished at 27⅞c, with July and September, 26⅞c, and December, 29¼@29⅜c.

A liberal percentage of the South Dakota rye acreage will be out for the hay this season unless there is a material advance in the price between now and the end of June, according to reports from Sioux Falls, S. D., to Jackson Brothers. It is figured prevailing prices mean 13@15c per bu to farmers, or hardly sufficient to pay harvesting charges. Strength in wheat led to buying of futures with the close 1¼@1⅜c higher, July finishing at 39⅝c; September, 39½c, and December, 42½c.

Auburn Shipments to Date Ahead of Those for Year '29

R. H. Faulkner, president of the Auburn Automobile Co., said yesterday that shipments of Auburn cars so far this year exceeded by ten cars Auburn's shipments for the entire year of 1929, the peak year of the automobile industry. He added that Auburn shipments already this year, 22,759 cars, exceed the entire year of 1930 by 9,066 cars.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 26.—They got after the shorts with a sharp stick down on the stock exchange again today and the scare induced enough covering to boost the better grade shares to somewhat better price levels. The gains were mainly fractional, but in some instances ranged as high as 2 and 3 points. United States Steel common, American Can, General Electric, Woolworth, Westinghouse, Consolidated Gas, Standard Oil of New Jersey and shares of that caliber were among the chief beneficiaries of the covering operations.

After the first hour or so, when sales hit a fairly brisk pace in immediate reaction to the exchange's questionnaire broadcast to all members of record asking them to give details of their short accounts, the buying was of a leisurely nature, with nobody apparently in any great hurry to take in his lines against future developments. The rally began to peter out by the middle of the afternoon and the final hour found enough fresh selling—some of it probably by way of fresh short accounts—to cut down substantially the earlier showing of many of the more active issues.

Also, as might have been expected in a market so terribly confused, there were many issues, some of them of prominence, which could not seem to get started at all. Many, in fact, took

THE CENTRAL PUBLIC SERVICE SYSTEM, operating in 24 States, serves practically every type of American industry

Hardly an industry can be named that does not somewhere depend on the Central Public Service System for either of the System's two principal commodities, electricity or gas.

Michigan's mines and motors—the Pacific Northwest's lumber, ships and fisheries—Wisconsin's dairies—tobacco in the Carolinas—the infinite industrial variety of Illinois and Indiana—the expanding manufactures of Alabama and Georgia—

In 24 States, in 684 communities, the System serves both industries and the domestic needs of the industries' workers.

These widespread, widely diversified operations fortify the Central Public Service System against regional fluctuations in prosperity, against reversals peculiar to any individual industry or group of industries. They permit it to draw strength from the more fortunate sections of the country, or segments of industry.

They impart an even greater stability to a business which already has the important advantage of meeting the unvarying needs of everyday human life.

Among the principal points served by the Central Public Service System are a number of leading cities, 21 with populations over 50,000. Included are: Seattle, Wash.; Portland, Ore.; Atlanta, Ga.; Rockford, Ill.; Roanoke, Va.; Mobile, Ala.; Charleston, S. C.; Manila, P. I.; Port Arthur, Texas.

The securities of this major unit of the public utility industry are held by over 65,000 stockholders, of whom 28% are customer-owners. They represent invested capital of more than $323,000,000.

You are invited to write for an attractive 32-page book, entitled "Progress, Power and the Utilities." This book tells interestingly, in text, charts and pictures, the whole story of the organization, growth and outlook of the Central Public Service System. Address your inquiry to: Central Public Service Corporation, 224 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

INSULL SHARES RESIST CHICAGO STOCK SELLING

Muster Effective Support for Com'wealth Edison.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The Insull shares displayed stubborn resistence to the heavy shooting which was directed against them on the Chicago exchange yesterday. Effective support was mustered for Commonwealth Edison, which was the focal point of attack, and the issue held its ground tenaciously. Later it pushed forward to close the day with a small net gain.

The source of the liquidation in Edison was a matter of conjecture with report ascribing the selling to a bear group which was said to be attempting to break the issue below 230 in an effort to unsettle other lower priced Insull shares. On the previous day the selling converged in Middle West Utilities and Insull Utility, but the pressure against these stocks eased yesterday and after temporary weakness in the morning were able to recover their losses and finish with small net gains.

Turnover Is Heavy.

The turnover in Edison amounted to 10,200 shares, an exceptionally large volume for the stock, which is usually traded in small lots. Public Service no par was also slightly more active, breaking down to 22¾ on sales of a few hundred shares then rallying to close unchanged from previous price.

While the utility shares received most of the attention the trend among other stocks showed little divergence. Early weakness was followed by a firming up, with the closing list irregular. A majority of the changes were on the down side.

Stockholders of the Vesta Battery company at a special meeting yesterday approved the proposed merger with the Consolidated Battery company under the terms previously announced.

Will Form New Company.

A new firm to be known as the Vesta Consolidated Battery company will be formed to take over the assets, good will, and patents of both companies. Capitalization will consist of 20,000 shares of $100 par value cumulative preferred stock and 25,000 of no par common stock. The preferred will be convertible into common on a share for share basis for three years.

Each company will get preferred stock in the new concern equivalent to the book value of the assets turned over and four shares of common for each share of preferred received. Consolidated Battery will furnish $75,000 new working capital, in return for which it will receive one preferred share and twelve common shares for each $100 invested. Vesta will retain its accounts receivable and will assume accounts payable and other obligations.

STOCK TREND IS IRREGULAR; OLD TIMERS UP A BIT

Ingersoll Rand Down.

Ingersoll Rand, for an example, dropped nearly ten points on a few sales, setting a price more than 100 points under the high for the year. Louisville and Nashville was offered down 5 points to the lowest level in years on a single sale. Eastman Kodak sold to 128¼, the lowest it has been in four years, but later rallied a bit. Other weak sisters of the list included Pan-American Petroleum, off 3½ points; National Bellas Hess preferred, down 4½; American Chain, off 3; Lambert, 4¾, and Worthington Pump, 3 points.

Auburn Auto kept up its reputation as an erratic performer by diving 14 points to 171 as compared with its February high of 259½. Other motors were unable to benefit much from the selling tendencies displayed by the main body of stocks. General Motors gained new low ground for the year and the rest of the group gave up from a fraction to more than a point. Hupp and Mack Truck sold to new lows. Chrysler and Studebaker came within a fraction of their former lows, but each rallied somewhat in the later dealings. The motors began to "lose out" with the speculative element late last week in reports that sales had begun to feel the seasonal decline and the selling movement in them seems to be gaining momentum.

Rails Are So-So.

Railroad shares had their ups and downs. They rallied after an early selling spell, but found the going too heavy and the close found most of them among the "also rans." Union Pacific sold under 150 for the first time in five years. Central Railroad of New Jersey ran a little sideshow of its own by shooting up 18 points on a single sale. The cause of its sudden burst of popularity remained a big secret.

Utilities were only lukewarm as a group, but American Telephone, Brooklyn Union Gas and one or two others kept the home fires burning. Telephone's strength was undoubtedly due to covering over that question-mark business. People's Gas broke through the 200 mark, leaving the market for the first time in years without a single stock selling above that level, but later thought better of the deal and gave itself a boot-step back to the blue velvet. The closing sale of the Chicago big one was recorded at 202½, representing a net gain of a half point on the day.

REALIZING IN BUTTER

Butter and egg futures scored a sharp advance at the opening on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, but selling pressure soon turned toward the close and the best prices failed to hold. Butter was up ¼c at the close and eggs ended the day unchanged. The heavy buying at the opening of butter and eggs resulted from the weekly storage report, which showed 2,400,000 lbs of butter in last week and 128,000 cases of eggs in, compared to the same week a year ago. However, realizing and new selling on the advance and soon overcame the support. The markets were fairly firm at the close. The steady advance in the September butter and egg deliveries in the last two weeks has carried prices up 3½c per car lot on butter and $4.20 per car lot on eggs. Sales: Butter, 50 cars; eggs, 9 cars; potatoes, 2 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 1 car; eggs, 9 cars. Prices follow:

COLORADO NEEDS RAIN

Numerous reports from dry farming area in Colorado indicate considerable damage has occurred as result of dry weather to wheat planted on stubble ground," wires F. F. Rowe from Denver, Colo., to J. E. Bennett & Co. "Wheat planted on summer fallow appears to be doing well, although rain is badly needed. In irrigated districts crops is excellent condition. Prevailing opinion is that Colorado will raise an average crop."

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, May 26.—(AP)—Cotton goods closed quiet today, with an easier tone due to the weak cotton markets. Some production of dull lustre rayon crepes was being provided for. Burlap markets continued firmer on a report of further improvement in Calcutta. Wool goods were reported dull. Silk showed little change for the day. Silk merchandise production remained quite high.

AUSTRALIAN STATE PREMIERS DISCUSS DETAILS OF 4% LOAN

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

MELBOURNE, May 26.—The conference of Australian state premiers discussed today the details of the proposed 4 per cent conversion loan agreed upon yesterday to rescue the commonwealth from its financial troubles.

In the conversion of commonwealth and state securities held in Australia an adjustment will be made to save 2½ per cent on the interest bill. The interest on the new securities will be free from the present commonwealth surtax of 7½ per cent and any new commonwealth or state taxation, but will be subject to other existing commonwealth and state taxation.

The loan will run forty years with a government option to redeem all or part in ten years. An additional income tax will be imposed on all securities not converted into the new loan.

The conference also discussed a reduction of interest rates on loans of local authorities and semi-government bodies. Interest rates on bank deposits of all kinds and on bank loans, overdrafts and advances are to be reduced.

Bank representatives indicated today that on approval of the general plan credit facilities should be provided for industry, resulting in greater employment.

Sales of tallow totaling 250,000 pounds at 3¼c, the lowest level in years, was largely discounted. Crude oil was nominal at all points. Closing bleachable oil prices: Spot nominal, July, 6.50c; September, 6.62c; December, 6.30c; January, 6.30c. Prime summer yellow contracts were neglected with closing prices as follows: Spot, 6.30c; July, 6.30c; September, 6.45c; December, 6.20c; January, 6.20c.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat traders who have been extremely bearish and working to depress values were given a shock yesterday by an unexpected turn in the crop reports from the southwest, particularly Kansas and parts of Texas panhandle, where crop prospects for winter wheat have been considered perfect. It brought an awakening reminder that there has seldom been a year when some damage has not occurred to the southwestern wheat crop, particularly Kansas. Latest reports suggest a more mixed crop situation in the southwest, although there is to be a big crop, unless conditions grow materially worse than at present.

—o—

Corn met support from traders who were heavy sellers of distant futures a few days ago and who found pressure from sellers greatly reduced and the market in a position to respond to favorable news. It was said at the last that should wheat prices advance for a few days it would have a material effect on all grains.

—o—

Private reports from Winnipeg indicate that unless there is a quick change in the moisture situation higher prices are to be expected on wheat. It was said that in some instances the elevators may not open for business this season unless there is a change for the better in the next few days.

GRIZZARD TRUSTEED INVESTMENT WITH MULTIFOLD PROTECTION

A Composite Investment in America's Best Known and Largest Corporations

Coupled with Constant Protection

A Two-fold Application of the "Law of Averages"

THE FOUR fundamental principles of a balanced investment program are (1) Safety of Principal (2) Certainty of Income (3) Marketability (4) Promise of Enhancement. Any single security, no matter how wisely chosen, usually, over an extended period, is found to be lacking in one or more of these factors. It has been demonstrated, however, that these qualities can best be obtained by the application of the "Law of Averages"—the principle of insurance, practiced by the insurance companies with precision for hundreds of years.

To illustrate—an insurance company cannot limit its protection to one person, with safety—that person might die. But it can and does insure a group of selected persons with safety, profit and protection to all concerned. Likewise, an investor cannot afford to depend upon the outcome of a single security, but should apply the "Law of Averages" by spreading his investment over a group, ordinarily referred to as Diversification.

Since the Grizzard Trusteed Investment with Multifold Protection was designed for the investor and not the speculator, it was obligatory that the investment medium embody sound economic principles. Furthermore, it was desired that its stability and possibilities be interwoven with the stability and progress of America itself. This could best be realized through participation in the country's basic industries.

Such an ideal combination finds modern expression in the principle of the fixed investment trust. An exhaustive research resulted in the selection and adoption of the two representative types of fixed trusts—Distributive—"North American Trust Shares," the largest fixed investment trust in the world, and Cumulative—"Cumulative Trust Shares," the first and only fixed trust which accumulates capital to a maximum degree.

The portfolios of these two fixed Trusts consist of a broadly diversified list of common stocks of the great corporations operating and controlling the leading industries of our country. These companies account for a substantial portion of the wealth of the United States and they control over 1,500 subsidiaries, the operations of whith extend to most parts of the civilized world and represent practically every important line of business on earth.

The stocks comprising these Trusts are deposited with two of the largest trust companies in America—The Guaranty Trust Company of New York and The Bank of America N. A. acting as Trustees. Certificates are issued against the deposited stocks. A purchase of these certificates, therefore, gives you an undivided participating ownership in all of the deposited stocks—a multiple investment with a single purchase—and presents to the large and small investor alike a logical and economically sound mechanical means of enjoying the benefits of expert trustee service, together with safety and profit which may be expected to result from a long term holding of a group of high grade common stocks.

However, in an investment of this nature, where accumulations are anticipated, it is obvious that the element of time must play its part. Since time is the essence of enhancement, this too, has been provided for.

Under normal circumstances—one can be expected to live out the time necessary to realize the enhancement, but again the "Law of Averages" forecasts that all will not complete the journey. Here, "Multifold Protection" enters the picture, to provide additional cash and income to one's family or Estate, should one not be given the time to realize the expected increase in the value of the investment.

This special form of protection is a most surprising product of actuarial science—"A remarkable result from a new calculation." It is adjusted in its benefits to give most when most is needed—offering more protection in one contract than ever before available. One of the old line companies states that it is "Unquestionably, the Most Remarkable Development in Life Insurance since the beginning of Life Insurance itself." And it requires only a portion of the income from the investment to maintain it.

The Intelligent Investment

Here, in one blanket investment—comprising safety through wide diversification, liquidity in ready marketability and an expectation of enhancement in the range of basic businesses represented, and last but not least, Multifold Protection—is your opportunity for intelligent investment.

The Trusts represented by this investment are fixed, but the plan of purchase is flexible.

Individuals, Firms, Corporations, Trust Companies, Estates, Societies—anyone contemplating an investment, should send for the descriptive folder G682.

COTTON SEEKS NEW LOWS

Cotton prices were again down to new low levels with the finish around the bottom yesterday. Liquidation and bear pressure, due to the weakness and decline in stocks met a little opposition in buying by spot interests and Liverpool rallies were due to short covering, but the market weakened as soon as it ceased. Action of the market of late has been disappointing to holders as lowering of values has failed to bring in new speculative buying. At the finish futures in Chicago were off 10@13 points, New Orleans 10@14, New York 8@13 points. Spots in New York lost 10 points to 5.45c, New Orleans was off 15 points to 5.40c, Galveston 5.50c, and Houston, 5.45c. Liverpool was sharply lower compared with last Friday's close. A private estimate of acreage is for a reduction of 11 per cent. Heavy rains were reported in eastern Oklahoma and central Arkansas.

Thomson & McKinnon said at the close that with the low prices and extensive liquidation cotton was in a position to respond immediately to constructive news. Prices follow:

With the exception of the meager supply of sheep and lambs which sold to slightly better advantage, all live stock markets sank to new low levels on yesterday's session. The hog average dropped to $6.10, lowest since February, 1912.

Cattle receipts were moderate, but the available supply was augmented by stock carried over from the previous session and added to the depression. Lambs sold at steady to 25c higher prices.

The lowest prices in 20 years failed to stimulate the demand for cattle yesterday and additional uneven reductions were made. Many went into the afternoon rounds on sharply lower bids and some were carried over unsold again. The trade is urging the country to hold back supplies.

The extremely low level of the hog market has been a handicap to the cattle market lately. Top hogs at some of the low points in the west slipped below the $6.00 line for the first time in about 20 years. The top price of steers at Chicago stepped at $7.85, against $9.00 a week ago today. The bulk sold at $6.25@7.00. Cows and heifers showed additional losses. Calves were scarce and steady.

September Hogs $7.10.

Hogs averaging 260@310 lbs., were sold for delivery during the first half of next September at $7.10 on the futures market yesterday. The last sale of similar contracts was made at $7.80. Light weights for the first half of next month were bid $6.35. September light were offered at $7.65. Mediums for September were offered at $7.70 and bid $7.00.

On the "to arrive" market hogs averaging 170@210 lbs., carried bids of $6.40 for today's delivery, while 210@260 lbs., averages were bid $6.30 and 260@310 lb., averages were bid $6.20.

The price slashing tactics of buyers yesterday reduced hog quotations fully 15@25c soon after the opening, with selling in mid-session and later lowest of the day in spite of the broader outlet toward the close. Small packers and city butchers bought with more freedom after the new low basis had been established, but larger houses insisted on more decline. The extreme top declined 15c at $6.65, while the average showed 20c loss at $6.10.

A week ago today top hogs sold at $7.10, and the average last Wednesday was $6.65. Seven weeks ago top hogs sold at $8.35 and the average at that time was $7.75. The size of supplies yesterday suggested liquidation on the part of producers. Eleven markets handled 87,000 hogs against 41,000 the previous Tuesday, 78,000 two weeks ago and 65,000 three weeks ago. Only two Tuesdays have been credited with larger totals since middle of February.

Sheep Receipts Small.

Sheep receipts continued small yesterday and with the outlet for lambs a little broader on the wholesale market, anything with quality met good demand at steady to 25c higher prices. Others, particularly unfinished light weights, were about steady.

Strong weight shorn lambs reached $8.60, while closely sorted native springers were sold at $10.25@10.50, the culls going at $7.50 and below. Aged sheep and yearlings showed little change, although there was some inquiry for breeding stock.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 7,000 cattle, 17,000 hogs and 9,000 sheep, against 7,423 cattle, 13,036 hogs and 7,280 sheep, the previous Wednesday and 5,261 cattle, 17,239 hogs and 13,119 sheep, a year ago.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, May 26.—(AP)—New low records for the season were established in the raw sugar market today, spots declined 1-32 of a cent to the basis of 3.12c under more liberal offerings and a rather indifferent demand. Of the sales reported, 1,000 bags of Porto Rican sold at 3.14c; 117,000 bags of Philippines at 3.13c, and 9,000 bags of Philippines at 3.12c.

Following the decline in spots and under increased outside liquidation and hedge selling, futures were easier, with all positions at new low records for the season with the market finally 1 to 3 points net lower. Approximate sales, 42,500 tons. Price follow:

IF RAILROADS WANT RATE INCREASE THEY MUST ASK, I. C. C. HINTS

Washington, D. C., May 26.—(AP)—No general investigation of the financial condition of railroads is planned by the interstate commerce commission on its own initiative. This was made known today in an announcement by the commission, which meant, officials indicated, that if railroads want increased freight rates they must first make a definite proposal.

The announcement was issued after informal conferences with Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, on the study being conducted by eastern carriers looking toward a rate readjustment. The announcement said:

"The interstate commerce commission today in response to procedural questions informally presented to it by Daniel Willard, in behalf of eastern railroad executives, informed him that the commission will not at this time institute a general investigation into the general railroad situation on its own motion."

Commissioner McManamy, then chairman, wrote the executives that since their petition did not make any "suggestions deemed by you to be feasible to relieve the revenue situation of western railroads or legally necessary in the premises" the commission could do nothing.

The letter added that "should such requests be presented they will be given earnest and prompt consideration."

Busy Gathering Data.

New York, May 26.—(AP)—Plans of the eastern railway presidents to seek an increase in freight rates have progressed to the point where subcommittees of traffic executives and accountants have been appointed and are busy gathering data in preparation of the petition which is to be made to the interstate commerce commission, it was learned today.

A meeting of the committee of seven railroad presidents appointed to draw up the petition will be held when sufficient data has been assembled for their consideration. John J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company, is chairman of the committee, and its next meeting will be held at his call.
